TUESDAY EVENIES, EDVERGED IS, 1868.

COMMITTEE MEETING. The Ward Committees of the Wilmington Dem eratic Association are requested to meet on Tuesday evening next, the 25th instant, at 7 o'clock, at the office of J. C. Smith & Co., Corner Market and N ster Streets, up stairs. A full attendance is carnestly de sired, as traciness of importance will be brought before the Committees. J. D. BELLAMY,

ALL ABOARD AND THE STEAM UP .- We think we are now prepared to do any amount of business in our line that the wants of the community may require. In addition to a very large assortment of new types and other materials, which we have lately reeaired, in order to complete our stock, we have in operation two power presses, operated by steam, having, within the last week, had set up and put in running order a very neat little steam engine, fully adequate to all the requirements of our business, present and prospective. We are pleased to find that the " bulgine" works to a charm, and runs things off beautifully. We can only say to all wanting anything done in our line, that we are prepared to do it, and to do it well-us well as it can be done anywhere -North or South.

We are not absolutely certain that we are the first in this State to apply steam to the service of the press, but we think we are. It is not often, we believe, that any of our State cotemporaries get ahead of us in these little matters.

By the way, the engine is placed in the cellar or basement, directly under the editor's chair, with a remote possibility of blowing him sky-high some of these quiet afternoons, although the dangers of its doing so are not sufficient to cause him to have his life insured, especially as he has neither wife nor children to get the insurance. We have our doubts whether the little steamer could blow us up if he tried, but we don't want him to try. It would be a desperate and suicidal act of the small engine, unbecoming his gravity and practical character, as a respectable and hard-working member of society. If he only minds his own business properly, we will keep his heart warmed up with an abundant supply of fuel, and give him good water to drink.

We had some idea of issuing a proclamation, sending a greeting to all to whom these presents may come, intimating our ardent desire to enroll a multitude of new names on our subscription list, to help pay for the little " joker " and fixtures, but the engine makers are sharper than the printers, and had their pay in hand. Still, the money has to be paid to somebuly, and we want the subscribers, and there are multitudes of people all the world over that want our paper and ought to have it, and will have it, if they only know what is good for them We set no limits to the number of new subscribers we want, for we are prepared to print any number, and to print them so rapidly that even into our Weekly we can get the very latest news up to date, and we intend that our Journal shall be essentially a news as well as a political paper.

P. S .- The Associate has taken strongly to engineering-he thinks and talks steam, and moves his arms like piston-rods. In fact, he has had steam up (in the boiler) since Thursday, but wishes it to be distinctly understood that said steam is the natural product of wood and water. He says he is going to be a remarkably " civii " engineer, and blow up nobody but the devil. Upon the whole, we think the little " institution " will work to a charm. It is only anxious to show itself, and wants plenty to do.

83- Samuel Swartwout, formerly collector of the port of New York, died in that city on the 21st, aged about seventy-four years. We recollect when Mr. Swartwout's name was in all men's mouths, when, in fact, it added a word to the language, and official defalcation was known as Swartwouting. In the times of undue expension, at the beginning of Mr. Van Buren's administration, Mr Swartwout participated in the all but universal mania for speculation; and, unforunately, used the funds of the government which came into his hands, for speculative purposes. 2 As all know the bubble burst, and a great many people burst with it, among the rest Mr. Swartwout, who forthwith-Swartwouted. The government got what it could, out of his securities—there was nothing to be made by holding a rod, in terrorem, over the defaulting collector, and, there being no special statutory provision, State or Federal, applicable to the case, it was doubtful whether anything could be done. even in case of his being brought to trial. Swartwout was allowed to return and remain at home, quietly and without molestation. His deficiency was between a million and a million and a half.

Such is fame, or at least notoriety. The world had begun to lose sight of this man, and even to forget the use of the words to which his escapade gave rise. Now, that he has finally Swartwouted from this world, he will be even more completely for gotter. He was a good but impulsive and inconsiderate as Harper for December is on our table. It appears to be more than an average number. The leading illustrated article is" Sunny-Side, the home of Washington Irving." The pictures are really good, as are also those illustrative of scenes in Nisaragua and Egypt. From a hurried glance it strikes us that the reading matter will be found on a par with the pictoral embellishments. For sale by Whitaker; 25 cents a number, $3 a year.

The seat of Hon. J. C. Allen, of Illinois, was contested last Session, by Mr. Archer, his Black Republican competitor. The House decided to send the election back, whereupon Mr. Archer expressed joy, and declared he would make the breach wider next time. The special election was held at the second secon next time. On the following day operations were resumed against the town with great vigor. The rebels, who it is said are much disheartened, had shandoned a large portion of the city, and had concentrated on the most central points. Complete disorder prevailed amongst them, and they had been even fighting among themselves. This is of course the Government account of afairs. It seems, however, that the rebellion was Among the opponents of the gracers in a neighboring State of New Humpshire during the re-cent campaign were a large number of pargymen, who, following the lead of Republicanism on Sundays, worthles, preach d black republicanism on Sundays, and electioneered for Fremant during the rest of the Gospel is reported to have boasted, in a speech before a Fremont ciub, that he had but five Buchanan men in his congregation. Foremest in his band of politicians was found Elder Pike, the man who under takes to represent the people in the first congressional district of that State, who went about "doing good," (for himself) by professing to preach Christ and him crucified on Sundays, and "Douglas and him down" the rest of the week. On one Sunday, a week or two ago, up in Sand-wich, the elder delivered himself of one of his harangues, which on no other day but Sunday would ever have been mistaken for a sermon, unless the peculiar man! twang might have led some one to suppose it such; and ofter he had concluded, the minis ter of the place arose and announced a Fremon meeting for the next evening as follows: "I would give notice that Brother Pike will lecture at this place to morrow evening subject anticipated." An honest democrat in the sing seats seeking this new display of political advertisement, thought that the gallery should not be behind the pulpit in its tactios, and at once arose and shouted out in a stentorian voice: "I would give notice that Charles Doc. Esq. of Dover, will lecture at this place on Tuesday even-

THE FAILURE OF THE LANCASTER (PA.) BANK .-The Ledger states that a larger amount of the notes of the Lancaster Bank are in circulation in Philadelphia than was at first supposed. Of the bank and its management the Ledger says:

The wildest kind of speculations have characterixed its course. After the fasion of Huntington, at New York, we understand, its master-spirits have fine houses, sets of horses and carriages to match, have built furnaces, owned milroads, worked gold mines, dealt in cond lands, and one at least resided in a fifty thousand down mussion, he' in his wife's name. 15 -e. with a mirer works of art to match. indicate the character of the movements and doings preceding this failure. These things have been known for some time, but how effectually to correct them. without loss, was the difficulty The first loss, years ago, would have been least; but, Micawber-like, it was hoped something " would turn up," and the insolvency pass unnoticed. The directors are certainly to blame-as directors are almost invariably to blame-first, for not knowing more of the true condition of the institutions with which they are connected; and, second, for not, on the first sign of irregularity and insolvency, of denouncing and exposing them. From the best information that we have. the Lancaster Bank is, in its capital, irretrievably insolvent, though the usual caution is made not to sacrifice the bills; and we hope, with some reason, as by its charter the stockholders are jointly liable in their individual capacity, for the amount of all the notes issued, in an amount not exceeding the par value of the stock owned and possessed by them respectively.

THE BRITISH MOVEMENT AGAINST PERSIA .- OUR readers have noticed, doubtless, that the British have declared war against the Shah of Persia. The pretence is that Herat has been guaranteed to Dost Mahommed by the East India Combany, though there is no certainty whether that province forms a part of Cabul or Persia. The war movement attracts the attention of the French press The Paris Patrie says. in plain terms, Regland should be no longer allowed to persevere in her East India spoliation. Le Nord, the Russian organ in Belgium, says she will not be allowed in the future. The same paher gives a full account of the present quarrel, in an official article. translated from the Persian. It had a still more disgraceful origin than the "enlistment difficulty" with tates, which, had not England submitted to be enubbed in the face of all Europe, might have led to a war.

It appears that a Mr. Murray, while British Charge d' Affaires at Teheran, not only had carried on improper relations with a Princess of the blood royal of Persia, who had previously lost her character on account of other reasons, although a married woman, but assumed the right of bullying the authorities for placing the lady in question under restraint. He thus became so insulent and insulting in the course of a few months, that finally the Shah demanded his recall; and this not having been complied with, he was ordered to withdraw, a la Crampton.

DEATH OF PAUL DELAROCHE. - The last steamer from England (says the New York Times) brought intelligence of the death of the greatest artist that France has yet produced, Paul Delaroche, whose various productions are familiar to the conposieurs of art in this country. He died at the comparatively early age of fifty-nine, and France, whose chief glory is in her artists, may well deplore his loss. He was the least " Frenchy " of any artist of his time, and his works are all distinguished by his rigid adherence to historical fidelity and the simplicity of nature. It is somewhat remarkable that the first productions by which he became known to the world were subjects taken from English history, such as the " Death of Queen Elizabeth," "Execution of Lady Jane Gray," " Stafford Going to the Block," &c. In these works there is nothing to indicate the nationality of the artist. The Hemicycle des Beitux Arts has been familiarized in this country by the superb engraving of it which has been extensively sold here, and the original study of this picture which has been exhibited by Goupil and Co. at their gallery in Broadway. This has been called, and perhaps justly, his chef d'auvre. His great picture of "Napoleon crossing the Alps," belongs to Mr. Woodbury Langdon, of this city, and his last great historical painting of " Marie Antoinette before the Revolutionary Tribunal" is now in this country. The original of the fan ous picture of " Napoleon at Fontambleau," which is, perhaps, his most remarkable production, was in this city a few years since. Take him all in all, De-laroche was the greatest historical painter of the present age, and the intelligence of his death will be regretted by every lover of act in America, as well as

A SILVER CHAMBER. - The Sultan of Turkey intends to have a good time. He is building a silver chamber. All the furniture and appurtenances of the bouloir to be composed entirely of solid silver. The round table in the midst is of admirable workmanship, the surface is of polished silver, engraved in rich arabesques, the legs of twisted pattern highly burnished. The sofas, chairs, and the piano are all of the same precious material. The bondoir is to be hung with cloth of gold, looped with silver cord. It seems that the Sultan has destined this unique specimen of oriental recklessness of expense to be his favorite retreat in the garden of the seraglio, whence every ray of daylight is always to be excluded, and where he intends to retire for the repose and solitude he cannot enjoy in the palece.

SHOCK OF AN EARTHQUAKE IN KENTUCKY .- The inhabitants of this city were aroused from their slumbers about 4 o'clock on Sunday last, by the somewhat appalling shock of an earthquake. The vibration, which was accompanied by a heavy wind, was very sensibly lelt in several adjoining towns, and lasted for a time variously estimated from ten seconds to one minute. This was the fourth shock that has been felt in this region during the last five or six weeks, and was the loudest and longest of the series. We only hope that the slight visitations we have had may not insagurate another such convulsion of nature as occurred in 1811, when the mighty waters of the Mississippi were stopped in their onward course, and their current made to reverse its flow.

Hickman Argus, Nov. 14. Speaking of the result of the late election, the Florida News says:

But to ourself, one of the most gratifying featuree in the victory is that it was won against the combined efforts and influence of all of those overgrown, pampared, and besotted newspaper establishments at the North, and at the head of which are Bennett, Webb, Greeley, Wred, Bryant, and Raymond. They thought themselves the great thenderers of our country, and aspired to lead and control the public friend in this country, which we are happy to ped-lish as an offset to Lady Noel Byron's aid-and-sym-pathy communication to Mrs. Bescher Stowr, which appeared in our paper of Saturday evening:

"The We are greatly rejected at the certainty of Mr.
Buchanan's election to the presidency; it will show that there are yet patriotism, common sense, and discrimination enough among a majority of your great and prosperous country to control its destinies. It is sad to think, but also, too true, that nothing would delight the monarchial countries of Europe so much as to see your country involved in civil strife. Why cannot each State attend to its own domestic affairs If they do not want slavery, as I understand the constitutions of the States, they can pass laws to abolish it. I opine, however, that slavery will not be abolished in our day; nor is it desirable it should be, if your southern states in consequence should become as demoralized and impoverished as the island of Jamaica, where England, in the plentitude of mistaken philanthropy, has experienced the lamentable spectacle and wretched condition of the blacks emancipated by her laws. I think it will work out its own regeneration, and that it is in the hand of Providence. There are more wretched white slaves in Ireland than there are among the whole race of Africans. English sympathy is very much out of place, since she lailed to enact laws to prevent the starvation of more than 20,000 human beings in one short year. There is a ballad, by Eliza Cook, that my dear sister used to sing, with such point, and is such an admirable rebuke to the Dechess of Sutherland, and such other false zealots, that I send to you a verse of it, that surely her Groce must have felt if she ever read or heard the lines of her gifted country woman:

We are busy in helping the far-away slave; We must cherish the Pele, for he's foreign and brave; Our alms-giving record is widely unrolled, To the East and the West we send mercy and gold : But methinks there are those in our own famous land Whose thin cheeks might be fattened by Charity's hand; And when John Bull is dealing his generous snares, Let him trouble his head with his own affairs.

Do not fail to send me the earliest information of il - result of the election "

Oldest Negro Yet.

We have at la got hold of a particularly old negro. There have been countless cases of tolerably advanced blacks, but the care below, which we copy from an exchange, is said to be perfectly authentic, and finishes the ist. She ought to be showed around

Some time ago I sent you an account of an old negro man, who died in Charleston at the advanced age of 115 years. Since then I have seen a statement of a negro woman, who died in Fauquier county, Va., aged 140. A friend, who was formerly an officer in the United States Army, related that when he was stationed at Pas Christian, in Louisiana, he was in the habit, with his brother officers, of visiting an aged egress who sold butter milk On one occasion the following conversation took place:

"Old woman, how old are you?" "I dunno, Massa,"

"How long have you lived about here?"

"O, long time, long time, massa." She then went on to relate circumstances in connection with the history of the country, which poved that she must have arrived at a very advanced age,

"Well, massa, I'se had nineteen children, and that gal, (pointing to an old woman) is the youngest, and I know she's ninety,"

The old woman was quite active when our informant saw ber last, and attend to the sale of her buttermilk bersell in preference to calling opon the 'g-l" whom she represented to be "too good for

A Model Mayor - The Louisiana Courier has the following not very flattering notice of the knownothing mayor of New Orleans: "The sleek and spruce little mock-dandy, who has, so unfortunately for himself, been elected mayor of this city, by force of brass knuckles and slung shots, is said to be terrified and crushed under the weight of condemnation which he, or the ruffians who pull the strings which move him, have brought upon his head. Men most disposed to palliate his conduct say that he ought not, in fairness, to be held responsible for his actions; that he is constitutionally limid, lacking both physical and mo al courage; that he is held in the balm of the hand of the organized band of ruffians and jail birds who elected him to office last spring, and that he dares not make an appointment, write a line, or say a word without their consent and approval. They say that his illegal warrants against the Courier and the Charity Hospital, his base and sneaking violation of Lieut. Fremaux's word to the Courier, and his undeniable connivance at the infamous Thuggeries of the 4th inst,, are forced upon him by the gang of blood suckers who raised him to power, and who permit him to five only for their own purposes. They say that he is in continual terror of his little life, and obeys the orders of his former bullies and present masters, by the irrematible force of his native cowardice and of his terrible bond of common criminality with them.'

THE BALM OF A THOUSAND F! OWERS!—Is a delightful compound, highly and delicately scented by its own ingredients, to be used in the toilet—imparting beauty, comf. rt and health to the skin. It will effectually remove tan, sunburn, &c., and it imparts a flexible, soft surface to the skin, preventing its shrinking and becoming spotted. For cleaning the teeth it has been considered far superior and far more medicinal than any compound yet known. It quickly renders them white as alabastor, prevents their decay and removes the tartar; prevents ulceration and strengthen the gums.

For shaving, this Balm gives a rich, penetrating lather and has no equal in rendering the beard soft, emolient and tender, so that, in removing it, it gives way at the alighest resistance to the rasor, without producing the least sensation, leaving a fresh, white and delicate countenance.

This highly perfumed Balm gives life to the hair; an unsurpassed gloss is imparted to it and it becomes beautifully curled and firm. It promotes its increase and nourishes its roots. It ensures with certainty a new growth of beautiful hair to those who, even for years, by sickness or otherwise, may have been deprived of it. It removes dand-uff, strengthens the cuticle and cleaness it, rendering the head lively and

NERVOUS DISEASES CONTROLLED AND CON-

QUEHED.

Of all the various ills that detract from the enjoyment of human life most of them may be named to a disordered condition of the nervous system. The horrors of Epilepsy, or Falling Sickness, arise in most cases from this cause. Our readers may remember, on several occasions before, we have alluded to the wonderful cures, or modifications of Fits, made by the Veretable Extract Epileptic Pills, invented and prepared by Dr. Seth H. Hance, of 108 Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md. We feel fully satisfied that the Pills have cured some of the most stubborn cases of Epilepsy as well as the milder forms of Fits, such as severe Cramps, Spanns, &c — We now record the fact, that persons will find these Pills equally efficacious in curing every form of nervous debility; no matter whether manifested in the acute and exercisting form of Neuralgia, Tie-Doloreux, or Nervous Handache, the misery of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, the sufferings of Rheumisery of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, the sufferings of Rhou-matism or yout, the melancholy hallucination of depressed spirits or hysteria, their effects will be equally happy and certain. Persons in the country can write to the inventor, and have the medicine forwarded to them by mail. The pri-ces are, one box, $3; two boxes $5; twelve boxes $74; and sent to any part of the country, free of postage. Direct your communications to SETH S.
