Resolved, That the Chairman of this meeting appoint fifty delegates to represent us in said Convention.

Resolved, That our confidence in the principles of the Democratic party as embodied in the Baltimore and Cincinnati platforms continues unabated, and that we heartily approve and cordially endorse President Buch-anan's administration.

Resolved. That we are in favor of an economical administration of the General and State Governments, and hold all tariffs and taxations for protection unconstitutional, and that the public revenue of the United States ought to be applied to its constitutional objects, and not expended in extravagant schemes of internal improvements, enriching one portion of the Union at the expense of the other.

Resolved, That we fully approve of the administration of the Government of the State by his Excellency, Thos. Bragg, and that he is entitled to the gratitude of the ole of the State for the faithful manner in which he people of the State for the has discharged the duties of his office,

ROBT W. GOLDSTON. Chairman.

W. P. MARTIN, | Secretaries. S. E. JOHNSON,

garded as a mesalliance, dissolved the engagement. This was about the time of the first excitement respecting the California gold. Young X. determined to make his own way in the world, left his paternal home, and set off for the far Pacific. Arrived at St. Louis, he addressed a letter to his lady-love, assuring her of his fidelity and of his intention to return home at some future day, and claim her as his own. Meanwhile, Miss Y, had also left the place of her former abode, and the letter never reached her. Of course he never received any reply. He wrote no more letters home, and the first and last news that his family received of him was the news of his illpess and almost certain death, among the mines. Time rolled on and the elder X. died. His estate was divided among his children, without reference to the one who had long been given up as dead. Some years had passed, when our informant was surprised by the sudden apparition, in his office, of the long absent X., who had just arrived in Mobile, on his return to his former home.

His first inquiry was for Miss Y., but his friend, from whom we have the narrative, had long lost sight of ber, and could only give him the sad news of his father's death and of other changes wrought by time.

Like a knight of the olden time returned from Pales tine, the hero of our story sought far and wide for the lady of his love, but could find no clue by which to trace her. Finally he gave up the search in despair; he did not pine away, however, as a celibate, or commit any other absardite hat like a celibate, or commit any other absurdity, but like a sensible man, he found a new love and married. After a brief year of happiness, his wife died, and X. was again left alone in the world. Our friend is not informed as to the details of what has fol-

Some few are known to be citizens of the memies of the government, and openly engaged in atthe pence and quietude of society. Many of them have been shown by Gov. Walker to be hired mercenaries sent out by the abolition societies of the East; and all working in concert to accomplish in Kausas what the working in concert to accomplish in Kansas what the Supreme Court and public sentiment have decided Con-gress has no power to do; that is, to prohibit slavery in the Territory of Kansas; and more than that, to pre-vent the people of the Territory from exercising the pri-vilege of deciding that question for themselves in their own way; to do which they have gotten up military or ganizations of a rebellious character, have committed the most revolting outrages against persons and property, threatening to deluge the land in blood, alienating one section of the Union from the other, and endangering Mr. Green ga the existence of free government. Such are the char-acters, such are the objects and dangerous results of the opponents of the Lecompton constitution. But without gard to these insurrectionary movements, the regular gal convention of Kansas, in pursuance of law, assembled and adopted the constitution now before the committee, which is thoroughly republican in form. Out of descrence to those who might be opposed to African slavery, and to avoid all pretexts of complaint on the part of opponents, the convention submitted the question of slavery or no slavery to a direct vote of the bona fide inhabitants of the Territory. That election was ordered for the 21st December, 1857, when it was accordingly held and resulted as follows:

Constitution without slavery 569

the sanction of law. No real or valid exception can be taken to any other part of the constitution. On this number. subject President Buchanan has well said in his message: From o fact the general provisions of our recent State constitutions, after an experience of eighty years, are so similar and so excellent that it would be difficult to go far wrong at the present day in framing a new constitution." The constitution conforms precisely to what Governor Walker said would meet his most cordial approval, and that he should devote his whole time in addresses every day to the people in the Territory to insure its adoption.

The committee further say that they do not approve the ordinance accompanying the constitution, and report against its acceptance; but they do not regard it as any part of the constitution, if the State be admitted into the Union as recommended. In conclusion, they express the opinion that when a constitution of a newly formed State created out of our own territory is presented to Congress for admission into the Union it is no part of the duty or privilege of Congress either to approve or disapprove the constitution itself, and its various provisions, or any of them, but simply to see whether it be the legal constitution of the new State, whether it be republican in form, whether the boundaries proposed be admissible, and whether the number of inh bitants is sufficient to justify independent State organization. Believing that the paper presented is the legal constitution of Kansas, that it is republican in its form, that the boundaries proposed by it are admissible; and, conceding the sufficiency of its population the committee recommend the admission of Kansas into the Union upon the constitution presented, and report a bill accordingly.

bill as follows : The Whereas, the people of the Territory of Kansas with the act of Congress approved on the 30th May, A. D. 1854, entitled "An act to organize the Territory of Kansas and Nebraska," did form for themselves a constitution and State government, republican in form; and the said convention has, in their name and behalf, asked the Congress of the United States to admit the Territory into the Union as a State, on an equal footing with the other States :

The attachment was mutual, but, as torial limits or jurisdiction of any State or Territory, usual, true love ran upon a snag; the parents of the lovers objected to the match, and the young lady, too proud to enter a family in which the union would be rewithin said State, or to affect the authority of the government of the United States to make any regulations respecting such Indians, their lands, property or other rights, by treaty, law or otherwise, which it would have

THE RED PETTICOATS.-To a gust of wind which swept down Chestaut street Friday afternoon, says a Philadelphia exchange, we are indebted for the discovery of a new freak of fashion. 'The red woolen petticoats recently introduced by Victoria have already found their way into this city, and will most likely become the rage during the season. From a momentary glimpse of the article, we suppose them to be made of some line material like Salisbury flannel, though, possibly, they may be cashmere. Around the bottom run broad stripes in bright colors, giving a decidedly picturesque appearance to the ladies, as they gracefully step over the gutters. The new skirt is worn immediately next the dress. The ladies will therefore, dispense with white ones, and those gothic continuations which have, of late, been so highly in vogue.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN :- We would call your attention to the advertisement of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative which appears in the columns of our present

From our long acquaintance with the proprietor, and with numerous individuals who have used his preparation with perfect success for the last two years, we feel no hesitation in recommending the article as superior to any other preparation now in use for the same purpose, viz : for restoring gray hair to its original color, a sure and perfect cure for baldness, and a never-failing preventive for the falling of the hair.

It is decidedly the best and most popular in use for beau tifying, preserving, restoring and strengthening the hair, relieving diseases of the skin, and removing scurff, dandruff, and all eruptions and feverish heat from the scalp.
