On Friday, between eleven and twelve o'clock John Brown was executed. Of the vast concourse present on the grounds few, if any, but would have given their own services, if called for, to see that the laws of a Southern State were executed against a violator of her soil and an enemy of her institutions. While this was evidently the feeling there was the utmost calumessevidently the feeling there was the utmost caluness—
The probability is that they will not vote for the "pluralithe probability is the pluralithe probability is the probability is the probability i as a matter of course. We never knew so determined or so united a feeling pervading the South, and never witnessed as little superficial excitement in its expression. these two parties upon an American candidate. People say little because they mean all they say-the People say little because they mean all they say—the time for mere talking is over. We think most people would like to see Wm. H. Seward nominated by the Northern Oppposition, which means the Black Republicans, for the reason that the issue would then be made licans, for the reason that the issue would then be made.

The Europa's Malls—The Europa's mails for the South left here this evening. Hewitt's Liverpool cotton circular says: "The demand during the week has been moderate, apiners being pretty well stocked for the present and inclined to await the arrival of the liberal supplies now at sea. Meantime holders are anxious sellers, and in order to make sales are compelled to make a slight concession, but sufficiently the says of the reason that the issue would then be made. so plainly that he who runs might read. There is a desire to get at the root of the matter at once. If things must come to a rupture let us know it, and the sooner the better. A different class of people are aroused on this subject now, from the professional fire-cuters of former times, who were willing to denounce others as untrue to the South and the rights of the States, but also ready, for expressing abolition sentiments. themselves, to take any crumb that might fall from the Federal platter, and to be very silent during the process of swallowing. Thinking men now begin to regard a dissolution as an approaching necessity, and a most painful necessity at that; for we take it that no man can recur to the high hopes that the Union once inspiredto the swelling pride that he once felt in the grandeur and progress of the United States-yea, that he fain would still feel-without turning with painful anxiety to the future, whether that future present to him a dissevered Union or a violated Constitution. It is thus that thinking men must look-they must wish to make one effort more—they must still hope that when the issue is distinctly made, the terrible alternative of disunion or dishonor may be avoided. Resolved as they are to choose disunion before dishonor, it could only be as the choice of evils. The country is last becoming two nations. The North and the South are drifting farther apart than Great Britain and the colonies did before the latter proclaimed taking the part of mutual love and confidence. And yet with the migratory babits of the American people they are more mixed and intermingled than any other nation. The young man from the far North may seek and often does seek his fortunes in the far South, and like Quitman, S. S. Prentiss and others, becomes perhaps, a representative man of the section of his adoption.-Time, residence, association, the ties of family, make him to all intents and purposes a Southern man. He and his family are on one side of the line-brothers, sisters, relatives on the other, perhaps. This is no fancy sketch, no isolated case. Let any man think if it is. Think of the long line of frontier between the slave-holding and nonslave-holding States-the family connections that have arisen, to be replaced, it may be, by family fends. Think of the effects of civil war between people equally brave and high spirited; for, although most abolitionists are cowards, the body of the Northern are not-history shows that.

There is then reason for pause when people come to look the alternatives calmly in the face, and there is something ominous in the present apparent lull, combined with so much settled resolution. People have looked the alternatives calmly in the face, have paused and have made up their minds.

We have run on with this train of reflection, farther than we intended. Let us turn to another matter-a Union Fair. It will be remembered that we suggested this last year. This year, we saw at Clinton, gentlemen from Cumberland, Robeson, Bladen, Ouslow, Duplin. and a good many from New Hanover, and all were anxious for the holding of a ground Union Fair at Wilmington, say next Fall. We understand that T. D. McDowell, Esq., advocated this movement at Robeson. He was looked for at Clinton-but did not get there .-We must develope agriculture in all our counties, to try and arrest the drain of labor and capital, which makes in a steady stream to Mississippi. The returns of cot ton in Duplin and Sampson, show what can be done .-The progress of these counties in every respect, is an ar gument in favour of Fairs and Agricultural Societies. New Hanover ought to bestir herself. Wilmington has a deep interest in the country. Her life depends upon the prosperity of agriculture in the counties. The forest must give out, and the products of agriculture, must take the place of the products of the forest, or our commerce must languish, and our prosperity fail. Let Wil-Fair. The fair there was quite successful, we understand

There were at the Sampson Fair several articles werthy of mention but not entitled to a premium under the rules of the Society. Among these there was a piano exhibited by Mr. Pirsson, of Wilmington-a very convenient and tastefully got up medicine chest, exhibited by Mr. Lippitt-some three sewing machines, which were the centres of so many fashionably dressed ladies that we could not see them. We learn that there were some very good machines from this place.

The remains of John Brown were carried through Philadelphia on Saturday, on their way to Essex county, New York, where they will be interred .-There was quite a crowd to await their arrival from imore. This crowd appears from the account of the Bulletin to have been mostly composed of negroes, with a very few whites mixed up.

The Great Eastern a Failure. The London Times of the 8th inst. says :- " The Great Eastern has, we are happy to say, returned in perfect safety from Holyhead, and rests for awhile at peace in the Southampton waters, and we are now in a condition to form some better opinion as to the capabilities of the great ship. We have undoubtedly a right to expect that the advantages which the Great Eastern holds out should be exceedingly great-indeed, beyond all comparison greater than those which can be derived from the largest vessels now affoat; for those advantages, whatever they may be, are bought with very considerable sacrifices. First, there is the difficulty about harbors. The size of the vessel excludes her, as we under stand, from New York, Boston and St. Lawrence, and ends her to Portland, a small town upwards of a hundred miles from Boston, three hundred and lorty from New York, and more than two hundred from Quebec. The celebrated barbor of Sydney, in Australia would be unable to receive ber, and she would not be able to approach Calcutta. Not only does this interfere with her choice of a port for permanent traffic, it also exposes her to danger, by rendering it impossible in case of injury, to find refuge in ports in which smaller vessels could lie securely. Then the size of the vessel increases the risk to the shareholders, by staking on a single cast a vessel which is a whole fleet in itself. Another sacrifice must be the great consumption of coal, and the very large number of the crew, which impose a ronage. very heavy expense before profit can be realized or loss avoided. " It seems established that, with her present power, the coal consumed by the Great Eastern cannot be calculated at less than three hundred tons a day. Such a vessel, if she makes a few voyages without being filled up, would severely drain the resources of her proprietors, and must, indeed, make every trip more or less a gambling enterprise. All these difficulties and drawbacks were, no doubt, carefully considered and clearly foreseen by the projectors of the Great Eastern, and they believed that the vessel possesed advantages quite sufficient to counterbalance them. They believed that they had constructed a vessel which would be able to carry fuel for a voyage, however long; would attain a speed never bemington go at least as far as Newbern, for a Union fore dreamt of, and would pass over a stormy ocean with an ease and a steadiness which would abolish the difference between sea and land traveling, and effectually deliver the fortunate inhabitants of this floating island from the inexpressible miseries of sea-sickness.

results entirely bear out these anticipations?" The Times then goes on to show that her great size does not afford immunity from sca-sickness, though it thinks it may diminish it some. It says the vessel seems to be defective in propelling power, and that the task demanded of the engines is beyond their strength. The speed of the ship is not greater than that attained by several vessels now affoat.

As far as it goes the views that it gives are true; but he who reads deeply in one class of writers only, gets views which are almost sure to be perverted, and which are not only narrow, but false.— Adjust your proposed amount of reading to your time and inclination—this is perfectly free to every man; but whether that amount be large or small, let it be varied in its kind, and widely varied. Maximo or Richmon Maschaws.—In accordance with notice, given in the papers of the day, a meeting called by the merchants of Richmond, who were interested in the importation of foreign goods direct to this port, assembled at the office of the Merchants, Insurance Company, restorday, and was organized by the appointment of Mr. Horace L. Kent as Chairman, and Mr. B. K. Pullen as Socretary.

3. Resolved, That a Committee of three be appointed to draft an agreement in accordance with the above resolutions, and procure the signature of every merchant in this city, engaged in the importation of foreign mer-chandise, and that said paper be deposited with the Secretary of the Board of Trade of this city.

After some discussion the preamble and resolutions were adopted with great unanimity.

The Chair appointed Messrs. George J. Sumner, Andrew L Ellett and John Purcell the committee under the third resolution.

Wm. G. Paine, Esq., offered the following: Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to make enquiries and report upon the propriety and of the world.-N. O. "Cresent" practicability of establishing a line of packets between Richmord and Liverpool.

This was adopted with equal unanimity; and the Chairman annnounced Messrs Wm. G. Paine, E. W. De Voss and Thomas McCance.

This meeting was well attended by the most substantial and active business men of Richmond, and although quite a number of gentlemen submitted remarks upon the resolutions before the votes were taken, yet there was nothing said for mere effect.

It was a meeting of earnest business men for the transaction of business vital to themselves, to Richmond and to the South. We have confidence in this movement. It is made by the right men, at the right time, and directed to the right point. The importers of dry goods, hardware, queensware, salt, &c., are now engaged with our shippers and exporters of tobacco, flour, &c., in comparing notes, and we have no doubt they will find that the present foreign business of Richmond is sufficiently large to justify the establishment of a line of monthly packets to Liverpool.

An adjourned meeting is to be held on next Saturday
