What will be the Effect?
This question has been asked of us both at Baltimore and since our return home, in connection with the action of the National Democracy at Baltimore.

We are not endowed with the gift of prophecy—we cannot look into the future—we cannot do more than reason from facts before us. This any one can do, and the speculations of men of equal intelligence are about of equal value if they have paid the same attention to the subject under consideration.

That this is a trying time for the Democracy of the country, no man can deny. That this trial has been brought upon it by the same causes which have before at sundry times threatened its integrity and worked its defeat, is equally evident. The chief of these causes has been the substitution of men for principles. The devotion of partisans to a particular individual, at the expense of the party or in preference to it, has worked its legitimate result. The Democracy instead of being a Democracy, has been sought to be converted into a despotism. Hence resistance and separation.

Although a mere Convention has been disintegrated—although organization has been, for the time, weakened, yet the Democratic principle of State equality has been vindicated and will reassert its supremacy. To preserve that equality in the party will be one and not the least important of the effects of the independent movement of the national Democracy at Baltimore. The purification of the party will be another. Mere management will no longer suffice, and men will know that much hereafter.

What will be the immediate effects upon this canvass? In answer we are free to acknowledge that success would have been more certain with a united Convention and unanimous nomination—that is too evident to be denied; but failing that, through the unconquered spirit of the friends of Judge Douglas the Convention did the best they could under the circumstances—they nominated good and true men—they flung to the breeze the banner of true national democracy. They trust, under Providence, to the good sense and patriotism of the people of the whole country for a ratification of their nominations at the polls in November next. It may be that the evil effects of an infernal and overhearing spirit may yet yield the leaders of the Douglas movement to reflect, and the people to demand a united movement in favor of national principles. But one way or another, the effect of doing right—acting up to conscientious conviction can never be ultimately doubtful. With their convictions of right, the majority of the delegates from North Carolina could have pursued no other course.

We believe the whole South ought to concentrate upon Breckinridge and Lane. As soon as their doing so is fully understood they will command the co-operation of the whole conservative portion of the North, and with an honest and determined effort success can be and will be achieved before the people. If we waver and despond we are lost, if we concentrate and work like men we will succeed.

Our State Ticket.
We are more than pleased to notice that the Democrats in the several Counties have already brought out or are bringing out their strongest men for the Legislature. Of this our own County is an instance. Our Candidate for the Senate, Eli W. Hall, Esq., is an eloquent and effective speaker, and a deservedly popular gentleman. Judge S. J. Person, one of the candidates for the House of Commons has few superiors as a political debater, while his position and character must command respect in any body to which he may be elected. Mr. Shaw, the other candidate for the Commons, is a gentleman of liberal education and clear sense, a practical farmer and will make a good Representative.

Such we believe to be the character of most of the tickets put up by the Democrats in the different Counties throughout the State.

Of our worthy and popular candidate for Governor, Hon. John W. Ellis, we need hardly speak—it is an irresponsible and able administration of the affairs of the State does not commend him to the suffrages and support of his fellow citizens, we do not really know anything that ought to commend a man. We have been brought into contact with him upon matters relating to the internal improvements of the State, and we know the deep interest he has manifested in the success of these works, as well as in protecting the interests of the State therein. We know the earnest study he has bestowed upon that and upon other branches of his official duty. It will not do to displace a man like John W. Ellis, to make room for a mere hobby, for as such and no more must we regard Mr. Pool in his present attitude. This hobby of an osore has been shown up sufficiently by us to convince any reasoning man that it is a hobby and nothing more—a dangerous and distracting

Col. Shawbury.
We are requested to state that Col. Lettie W. Ham-ploy, one of the acting Secretaries of the National Convention, has been unobtainably detained in Washington, for the purpose of preparing the journals of the Convention for publication. As these journals extend over the sessions from the first meeting in Charleston to the final adjournment at Institute Hall, in Baltimore, it may require several days for the proper arrangement and preparation.

LARGE HAIL STORM.—A gentleman residing in the neighborhood of Burgaw, 22 miles from town, picked up near the above place on Tuesday the 15th inst., a ball stone which measured 2 1/2 inches in diameter. Considerable hail fell in that neighborhood on the above day, and the crops were materially damaged. This may very well account for the extreme cool weather we experienced last week.

FOR BRECKINRIDGE AND LANE.—HON. ROBERT A.
Pryor, of Virginia, a strong antagonist of the administration, and therefore supposed to be a partisan of Judge Douglas, has come out for Breckinridge and Lane.
The Richmond Enquirer, representing a different wing of the Virginia Democracy, comes out with the same names at its mast-head.
See advertisement of Wilmington Institute, in to-day's paper.

At a meeting of the citizens of Kenansville and vicinity, held on Tuesday, the 19th instant, for the purpose of selecting a successor to the Rev. James M. Sprunt, as Principal of the Grove Academy, Samuel W. Clemon, Esquire, formerly of Granville county, and now Principal of the Academy at Wilmington, was unanimously chosen to take charge of the Academy from the commencement of the ensuing session.

Trustees were also elected, and Major O. R. Kenan and W. A. Allen, Esq., appointed a committee to prepare a draft of such amendments to the original Act, dated November, 1789, incorporating said Academy, as may now be deemed necessary.
A number of other resolutions relating to the Academy were adopted, among which were the following: Resolved, That the Rev. James M. Sprunt, who has had charge of the Grove Academy for the last sixteen years, has determined to tender his resignation as Principal of said Academy, at the close of the present session; therefore,
1. Resolved, That we, a portion of the citizens of Ken-ansville and vicinity, highly appreciating his exalted worth and ability as a teacher, and in view of the universal satisfaction he has given to the community in the discharge of his duties, do hereby express our deep regret at his intended resignation.
2. Resolved, That we fondly and confidently hope that influence upon the community, as a citizen, which has heretofore been so happily displayed in his association with us.
3. Resolved, That we tender to the Rev. James M. Sprunt the warmest expression of our regard and friendship, with our fervent wishes that his future life, in whatever station he may be placed, may prove as pleasant and happy as his past has been useful and beneficial to the community in which he has so long resided.
4. Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the editors of the Wilmington Journal and Advertiser, with a request that the same be published in their respective papers.

DREADED HAIL-STORM.—One of the most terrible hail storms that has ever been witnessed in this section of the country passed over the Southern portion of Mecklenburg on the 19th inst. It extended through the neighborhoods of Steel Creek, Sharon, Providence, &c., and we are not informed how much further. Two clouds arose, one in the east, the other in the southwest, rolling and curling in frightful shapes until they met, a little to the south of Charlotte; the wind giving the rain and hailstones a whirling motion. We learn that many of the stones measured eight inches in circumference, and in some places covered the ground to the depth of several inches. The storm made a clean sweep of growing crops along its path, literally stripping the cotton stalks and beating into the earth corn, wheat, oats, &c., and peeling the bark from fruit trees; in fact, destroying, at one fell swoop, the hopes of the farmers for the current year. It is especially distressing to the poorer class of persons who are almost entirely dependent upon their little crops for a living; a successful re-planting being very doubtful, unless we have very good seasons and a late fall. We trust that not many are in this condition. The feelings of one gentleman found relief in tears as he described to us the destruction of his crop and his prospects. But the same hand that guides the storm, feeds the young eagles upon the clefts of the rock, and sendeth bread to the ravens when they cry to him, and he will do right.

P. S.—We are informed by a private letter from Clark's Creek, Catawba county, that the same storm visited that section. It swept away everything in its track—Cotton, Corn, Wheat, Oats, and Orchards—stripping the forests, shattering window glass, penetrating the roofs of houses, and leaving utter destruction in its train. We hear of its ravages as far down as Che-raw, S. C.—Charlotte Democrat, 26th inst.

no longer perform their functions—worn out as it were by the action of the brain, generated often by active mental strife and excitement, nature marks the decay with a growth of gray or white hair. Here Hemmett's Hair Restorative comes in, and its application restores the vitality of the scalp to their original health—Troy Budget.

PENALTY FOR BETTING ON ELECTIONS.
It is enacted by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, that it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that any person who shall bet or wager money or other thing of value upon any election held in this State, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the Court.
(Enacted on the 11th day of December, 1858.)

J. J. Hooper, Esq., editor of the Daily Mail, an opinion paper at Montgomery, Alabama, and Hon.
Hamphrey Marshall, ex-member of Congress from Kentucky, are out for Breckinridge and Lane. The cream of the Southern opposition are coming over.

DIVORCE IN SOUTH CAROLINA.—In a late debate in the House of Representatives, at Washington, on the proposition to pass a bill for granting divorces, in certain cases, in the District of Columbia, Mr. Keitt, of South Carolina, opposing the bill, said incidentally, that divorces are most demoralizing, and that the least relation would introduce all sorts of improprieties. South Carolina, he said, had never granted a single divorce, and he trusted she never would. Open the door, and there would be many frivolous excuses for divorces.
He did not want this Government to interfere with the subject.

Mr. Burnett said he was as much opposed as the gentleman from South Carolina was to throwing open a wide door to parties dissatisfied with the marriage connection, and to enable them for slight causes to sever the tie. The causes for divorce were specified set forth in the bill in the preparation of which he had followed the legislation of the States where the marriage relation is the most strictly guarded.

Mr. Keitt objected to divorces for any cause.
How Congress Elects the President and Vice President.
It may be useful, just about this time, to re-produce the statement which the approach of a Presidential election makes opportune every four years. It is thus succinctly given by a writer in the New York Daily Times:

The House of Representatives has nothing whatever to do with the election of a Vice President, nor the Senate with the election of a President. The powers of each body are distinct and entirely independent of the other.
If no President be chosen by the electors, the House of Representatives may choose the President, their choice being restricted to the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three on the list of those voted for President.

If no vice-President be chosen by the electors, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President from the two highest numbers on the list of those voted for Vice-President.

If the House fails to elect a President before the 4th of March next following, then the Vice-President, whether elected by the electors or by the Senate, shall act as President.
The rule or manner of voting which the Senate chooses a Vice-President, is exactly the reverse of that which governs the House in choosing a President—each being the reverse of the general principle or basis upon which the respective bodies are organized. The House, representing the people, and ordinarily voting per capita, vote for President by States, the representation from each State having one vote, and a majority of all the States being necessary to a choice. The Senate representing the States—in theory, at least, and in the manner of electing Senators—vote for President, per capita, each Senator being entitled to a vote, and a majority of all the Senators being necessary to a choice.

A YANKEE'S DAMAGES.—A railroad accident took place awhile ago in Maine, upon which occasion the attorney of the road visited the scene of disaster to satisfy the claims of the injured parties. After paying for black eyes, bloody noses, and cracked crowns all round, at the appraisal of the injured, he supposed his business over, when he was saluted by a tall Yankee, with feet like snow shoes, a bellicewred hat, and a blue coat over his arm, and—
"Well, Squire, what are you going to allow me?"
"You?" said the attorney, "where are you hurt?"
"Oh, nowhere to speak of, Squire, but I was most terribly scared, and I think that's worth about a dollar, the way you've been payin' 'em."
The dollar came of course.

There are two hundred visitors at the Montgomery (Va.) White Sulphur Springs.
