I have seen an attack made upon J. P. Jordan in the "E. City State" of the 15th June, which by implication attempts to deuy the statement of Mr. Jordan

I feel it a duty I owe Mr. Jordan to state, that I have read the letter of his to Johnson, and I endorse every word of that letter, and it is useless for Pool to deny the facts stated. Mr. Pool in my presence declared time and again, he would not if selected vote for any Western measure requiring an appropriation of public money, denounced Mr. Jordanin unmeasured terms for gestive. The Game of Brag.

This is a game that somehow has got to be considered all fair in politics ; so much so, indeed, that it is practised, or at least sanctioned by gentlemen who would shrink from anything of the kind in private life. Why this is so we will not stop to examine." It is enough to know that it is so, and that cases proving the fact are occurring every day. Now take our good county of New Hanover, for instance. Communications appear in campaign papers of the Opposition party, claiming a probable success for one or the other of the Opposition candidates for the Legislature. These communications appear in the Kingston Advocate or the Greensboro' " Little Ad." Of course the object of these bragging communications is to dispirit the Democrats and en courage the opposition. That Democrat or opposition ist either, must be a weak vessel indeed who will per mit himself to be so deceived. New Hanover is al right, and upright. She will elect her democratic Sena tor and Commoners, and give an old-fashioned majority for Ellis. This no one here doubts for a moment.

Of course the opposition is putting forth unusually strong efforts. They are straining every perve, and it behooves Democrats to follow their example in that respect at least. We will not imitate them in the bragging line. We will say candidly to our Democratic friends that if they would succeed, they must lay aside all little personal piques, all divisions, all heart-burnings, tickets in this and every other county.

The Fourth.

We learn that our friends at Kenansville, Duplin county, will celebrate the approaching anniversary of American Independence with decided spirit. John D. Stanford, Esq., will deliver an oration on the occasion. The Onslow Cavalry will be present as guests of the Duplin Riflemen. We trust they will have a pleasant time. Indeed, of that we have little doubt, if a good oration and a pleasant company can insure it.

We also learn that the day will be duly celebrated at Smithville, Brunswick county. An oration will be delivered by Charles Allen, Esq., of this town. There will also be a " big dinner," and other good things.

The fine steamer Flora McDonald will make an exsursion to Smithville on the morning of the 4th, leaving here at the early hour of 7 o'clock, so as to enable those going down to participate in the exercises and pleasures of the occasion. The Wilmington Light Infantry, as story of the first and last military exploit of Abe Lin invited guests of the Smithville Guards, will go down in the Flora, accompanied by their fine band, whose performances will add much to the pleasures of the trip .--The cool sea breeze will be delightful to those who have been cooped up at work during these hot days. The Flora will bring all back-who wish to come back-in the evening. Ample accommodations have been provided. See advertisement in another column.

A friend who has been remarkably accurate and successful in his estimates and speculations in advance of the three last Presidential elections, communicates for contest :

THE PRESIDENTIAL REPOTION.

We have rarely been disappointed in our predictions and calculations made within the past sixteen years, during the several canvasses for President and Vice President of the United States, as to the general result of the election and votes of States. We will venture now to predict the election of Breckinridge and Lane shall add, upon my own responsibility, that I have known by the Electoral College, without going into the House of Representatives, as is generally believed must be done, in order to arrive at a result.

For Breekinridge we give the following States : Votes. Mississippi, 3 Texas ...

	For Lincoln, the following	g states :
v	Maina	Illinoia

Maine,	lowa,
Rhode Island,	ī
Connecticut,	Total,

We are aware that two of the Northwestern and two of the New England States which we have given to Road West, with an appropriation of public money, and and come up like men for Gov. Ellis and their county | Lincoln, are now claimed as likely to go Democratic, viz : Rhode Island, Connecticut, Illinois and Iowa ; but admitting they have Democratic majorities, the contest between Douglas and Breckinridge will give those States to Lincoln.

The nature of the contest now going on, and which threatens the very existence of the Union and the permanency of our institutions, precludes the probability of any State throwing away its vote upon Bell and Everett.

It is not unlikely that Douglas will withdraw from the contest-indeed we think it very probable-but this will not add much to the vote for Breckinridge ; Missouri, in our opinion, being the only one of the four States conceded to Douglas that is likely to go for Breckipridge. The Squatter Democrats of the other three States being too much embittered against the seceding States, for their opposition to Douglas, to admit of their voting for his rival, Breckinridge. In fact we believe at this moment, that the Douglasites of the North would prefer the election of Lincoln to that of Breckinridge. CHARLESTON.

OLD ADE ON THE BATTLE FIELD .- The following coln is told by the Toledo Times :

At the time of the Black Hawk war " Abe " eolisted. The company mustered 80 mounted men. They started off in fine spirits to engage in the deadly fray. Arriving at a point on the prairies about 200 miles from the Indian lines, the party bivouacked for the night, picketed their horses, and slept on their arms. The method of picketing the horses was that in common use-fastening a huge rope some 80 feet in length to a stake firmly planted, and then using smaller lines of considerable length, one end attached to the animal's neck, and the other to the main rope. During the night the sentinel imagined he saw the Indians, and immediately discharged his old lusee. The camp was aroused in an instant, and each sprang to his saddle. "Old Abe" shot out in the darkness on his charger like lightning. short distance from the W. & W. R. R. From all we until the ropes "hove taut," when over he went, horse can learn, the deceased had become fatigued from walk- and himself, headlong. Mr. Jordan called upon us to give our reccollection of Pool's course in the canvass with Jordan in 1856.

We cheerfully certify that we heard Mr. Pool and Mr. Jordan upon several occasions. And we know the burden of Mr. Pool' speeches was to denounce Mr. Jordan for the Western Rail Road votes ; and for Alleghany County. Mr. Pool was very bitter and pledged himself to vote against all such measures, if elected.

We were both then Old Line Whigs, and voted for Mr. Pool then, and stood by him, and B. J. Shannonhouse further says that I am still en old line Whig. B. J. SHANNONHOUSE, JOS. F. NEWBY. .

I hereby certify that I heard Pool and Jordan at Newby's Bridge in 1856, in the discussion as candidates of their respective parties, and I know Mr. Pool denounced Mr. Jordan for his Western Rail Road votes in unmeasured terms; and declared he would not have voted for any of the measures West Mr. Jordan voted for ; and if elected pledged himself to oppose every Rail any attempt to make a new county. H. H. SMALL.

J. P. Jordan having called upon me to state what Mr. Pool's position was when he and Pool were the candidates of their respective parties for a seat in the Senate for this State in 1856.

I hereby certify that I heard the discussion between Jordan and Pool, at several places in the County of Perquinans, and I distintly recollect the position Mr. Pool occupied in relation to the Rail Road West. And know that upon each occasion Mr. Pool declared himself opposed to the Western Rail Roads, and denounced Mr. Jordan in unmeasured terms for his votes, for Allegany County-the million of dollars for the Central Road, also by votes for the Western extension and Wilmington and Rutherford Road. The State in this instance merely endorsing the bonds, and Mr. Pool went further, and said, if elected, he would not vote for any of these measures with an appropriation, and would not have voted for them if he had been in the Legislature when Mr. Jordan was.

Mr. Jordan justified his votes, and said if he had to vote over again, he would vote as he had done.
