FEMALE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE, GRANVILLE CO., N. C. THIS CELEBRATED WATERING PLACE IS NOW open as an Institution of Learning, with a full and competent Board of Instructors.

This Institution will furnish advantages such as are to be found at no other School in the South. The location is a most delightful one, within a half mile of Kittrell's Deall new, and will accommodate three hundred boarders, besides abundant room for School purposes.

The character of the mineral water found here is too well known to the whole country to need a remark. It has been pronounced by the best physicians and scholars, as well as the thousands who have used it, to be equal to any in North Carolina or Virginia.

Our scholastic year will be divided into two terms. The Fall Session opening the First Wednesday in October and closing the 20th February. The Spring Session opening the 22d February and closing the 1st day of July.

Terms per Session, payable in United States Currency. Provisions, or Bank Notes taken at their market value. Board, Washing, and General Tuition (including the entire English course.) ... Ancient and Modern Languages,

20.00 Painting and Drawing, Embroidery and Wax Work, Each pupil will bring with her one pair of sheets and pillow cases, and her towels. Parents and guardians will please remember this. For other particulars, address

Mr. McGreal, Chief of Police, reports a case in which a negro woman died on Saturday of small pox at the house of a negro man in town, who, after her death, buried her clothes, but which it appears were subsequently dug up and stolen. So at least the thing was reported to the officer. A fine way to help the thing to spread. The thief ought to get it good.

WE would call the attention of shippers and other interested parties, to the advertisement of Parker Quince, Esq., Collector of the Port, relative to business hours. On and after to-day the office will open at 9 A. M., and close at 3 P. M. As these are the hours established by the regulations of the Treasury Department, for the transaction of business they will be strictly observed by the Collector, and no business will be transacted thereafter. The same applies to the office of Internal Revenue.

We learned yesterday afternoon, that a schooner loaded with lime was on fire just off the har. We were mable to learn any of the particulars except that it originated in the time.

Washington, Nov. 22. It is now fully settled that Mr. Colfax's demonstration here was distasteful to the President.-There is an evident combination to force the Executive into the radical policy, and to that end it is stated by one of the leading wire-pullers that all members of Congress elect have been interrogated, and that they generally respond unfavorably to the President's views.

An interesting teature of the political situation is that of members of Congress elect who may be President has stated as much, but under the Colcredited as from certain established districts. When persons are elected by the people of such the House?

I hear from several quarters to-day that the President is very firm in his policy of a prompt restoration of the Southern States.

GOVERNMENT JAIL DELIVERY .- It is said that the President has ordered the discharge of such prisoners at the Old Capitol as were arrested by apparel complete, to the British government, for the detective Baker, and who have been confined there a length of time, without any charges being made against them. We are glad to record this action, and trust the Executive will take similar action upon all the places where such prisoners are neld. It is not gratifying to the American people to know that any detective has the power to arrest people and confine them at his mere will, for even short time, much less for a length of time, without making any charges against them. Nor is it a man should be allowed to act in that way without being held to accountability. - Philadelphia Ledger.

At a fire in London the young and pretty Countss of Caithness happened among the spectators The flames being subdued she expressed a desire to have a ride on one of the steam fire engines, which was readily acceded by the chief of the seat, and the horses being attached to the engine, the chief took the reins, and drove to the Earl's residence, in the vicinity of Belgrave square, where the Countess slighted, apparently pleased at the dashing rate she had been driven through the streets of London.

LANDING OF HER GREW AT LIVERPOOL. The officers and crew of the Shenandoah were paroled on the 8th inst, and sent on shore at Liv-rpool. One of the journals of that city says:

Each of them brought on shore a large quantity of luggage, and they appeared to have no lack of money facts, which appeared to attest that their ong cruise has not been unrewarded. The news of their arrival soon spread, and crowds of persons formed themselves into groups around the sailors and endeavored to draw them into conversation. These attempts, however, rarely succeeded, and when they did it was evident that the men spoke rather to evade curiosity than to satisfy it. The men, indeed, appeared to be themselves quite in the dark as to their position, and though under the impression that they had done with the Shenandoah for good and all, appeared to labor. cannot be done, at least, to prevent the further spread of the disease.

Shenandoah for good and all, appeared to labor under a fear of committing themselves or their officers by some rash statement. Some of them Bokkelen, J Loeb, Marcus & Kehr, Jas McCormack, C M Hall, F W Heyer, Moffitt, McNeill & Co. English people thought of the Shenandoah, and two or three of them expressed the greatest surprise that the officers of that vessel should even have been suspected of pursuing their work of destruction with a knowledge of the termination of the war. The men speak freely of the circumstances' which led the Shenandouh to terminate her privateering career; namely, the meeting with lieve and cure all diseases of the Lungs. THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

Whe London Times says that it is impossible consistent with our American ideas of justice that for the American government to abandon the claims for the depreditions of the Alabama, but it is quite possible for a government to yield nothing, yet do nothing. We must prepare to be told that the United States will abate no jot of its de mands, and will reserve the right of enforcing them; but still when the temper of the people is calmed, when commerce has had time to renew the links which bind the two nations together, when the memories of war fade into the past, brigade. The Countess was at once assisted to a there will be little disposition to dwell on unfortunate but inevitable casualties.

The London Daily News confidently dismisses the supposition that the Alabama claims can become a direct cause of war between the two coun tries, but it trusts that something will yet be done to bring the dispute to an early practical settle ment, as it is one which can in ne other way be disposed of. It would be an eternal disgrace if both governments should confess themselves unable to find any but a violent solution of their differences, but there is a state of nominal peace which has many of the disadvantages of war.

THE ITALIAN OATH .- The members of the great society organized by Mazzini, in Italy, were bound by the following oath:

"In the name of God and of Italy. In the name of all the martyrs of the holy Italian cause, who have fallen beneath foreign and domestie tyranny. By the duties which bind me to the land wherein God has placed me, and to the brothers bers have arrived. Governor Holden is still confined to whom God has given me. By the love-inpate for Perell. By the blush that rises to my brow when I stand before the citizens of other lands, to know that I have no rights of citizenship, no country, and no national flag. By the aspiration that thrills my soul towards that liberty for which it was created and is impotent to exert; towards the good it was (created to strive after and is impotent to achieve in the silence and isolation of slavery. By the sufferings of the millions I. A. B., &c.

ONE WAY UP, THE OTHER WAY DOWN .- During the examination of a witness as to the locality of the stairs in a house, the counsel asked him, Which way did the stairs run?"

The witness, a noted wag, replied; One way they run up stairs, but the other way they run down stars. The learned counsel winked his eyes, and then took a look at the ceiling.
