THE DAILY JOURNAL

WILMINGTON, N. C. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1897.

South Carolina Politics. All the indications are that the Constitutional Convention will have a right goodly number of freedom on its floor as delegates, and a majority of the members will be of that race.

In the Second District Colonel David Heaton, of Beaufort, has been elected by the Republican Party, and will make an effort to get the nomination.

Through the State the same jealousy between the members of the same party, and it appears as if every one would be an office holder.

The above extract is from the Raleigh correspondence of the New York Herald.

Now correctly advised the writer may be upon the personal aspect of our State politics, we cannot say, but he writes with the assurance of one who knows.

We would merely make this suggestion to Congressional aspirants, that the State Convention, which, under the Military Acts, must in order precede the Congressional election, will have the power, and probably will, remodel the districts, and if the white managers get control of that body, we should not be surprised to see the expressions of the black aspirants "nipped in the bud" by the shrewd management of old and experienced "wire-pullers."

Time, however, will disclose all these matters, and we shall see how near correct are the statements of the Herald's correspondent. Many changes must take place before this election, and even on political decisions elsewhere must the complexion of those in our own State be fashioned.

The elections in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, will give tone to those in every other State. If Conservatism is endorsed in these three great Central States, the Radical leaders will hesitate before they push their excesses elsewhere, and much of what has already been done may even be modified.

It is well enough to talk of the onus of the present Congress, and the security felt in its determined and unwavering spirit, but in the face of an extraordinary condemnation by the people, its tenacity of purpose will be much shaken.

The moral influence of the will of the people speaking through the ballot-box, will reach the representatives of those people in the halls of Congress, and will follow them into the secret consultations of the caucus.

We certainly have no fears of any radical change being made in the fundamental laws of States or of the General Government against the wishes of the people by men temporarily in office.

And even should there be, the simple and certain confidence which would follow would sweep from power the perpetrators of such a political outrage.

A case is pending in the St. Louis courts intended to test the constitutionality of the Federal Revenue laws. It is to go to the Supreme Court before it is surrendered.

Below we give the full and complete official returns from the election counting comprising the Military Post of Wilmington, as returned to the office of Col. Frank Post Commandant. These returns are complete and may be regarded as official, having been made by the Registration Boards to the Post Commandant, as is required by their instructions.

From the London Times, Sept. 17. The Position of the South. The South without Protection for Property or Reason for Government. Their Position under a Tyranny. The People at Bay.

The position of the excluded States during this discussion will be memorable in all future history. They know nothing of the constitution, or of federal law in any form. They have no protection of property and no means for redressing injuries or grievances.

They are being taxed and governed, and their States have no control over new laws made for them, of the uncontrolled will of a majority of twenty-six States. It is said by Southern writers that the tyranny of subordinate officers of the military government—bureau agents, tax assessors, and collectors, oppressive and irritating to the last degree.

With very few exceptions, writes a correspondent of a Republican journal from Georgia, "the lesser officials are bitterly hostile to the residents, and speak to them of their in the harshest manner." Since these officials must know that any excess of authority upon which they may venture will be regarded as a certain indication of loyalty in the North, and that democracy would expose them to suspicion and unpopularity, their alleged line of conduct is very natural.

The Southern people will naturally feel their rulers refusing to extend to them the commonest hospitalities or civilities, and Congress has not yet attempted to pass laws compelling the Southern citizens to give Federal soldiers a welcome to their households.

aria only so long as the majority of the hour should be present. The vote of the entire population, as we may trust the people in another journal, has been driven to bay, and States which assisted to make the constitution are demolished as the list of a Congress in which the majority of a section have obtained the exclusive representation. In this anomalous state the Government of the United States must remain until the people consent to listen again to the interpreters of a written law which was supposed to be inoperative.

With an introduction of the protesting power which might be according to the article we find a negro candidate for Congress, in the State of Georgia, promising, if elected, to "do all he can to ameliorate the condition of the whites." Could we find a more striking commentary upon the work of reconstruction done by Congress, or upon the condition of the South, than that which this single sentence presents?

NEW YORK ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES FOR THE JOURNAL. For General Market Reports see Commercial Intelligence on Third Page.

OUR NOON DISPATCHES.

From Washington. The intimations that the Executive Department is interesting itself concerning the trial of Jefferson Davis is entirely groundless. Since he was delivered to the judicial authorities, in May last, the Federal Executive has taken no action in his case.

From New Orleans. The Republicans had returned from a visit to his client, represents Mr. Davis to be ready and anxious for the trial. His defense will consist of the recognized Constitutional, North and South, provisions to the war, taught first, allegiance due the State, and having immediate control of the citizens, life and property, and that unfaithfulness to it involved immediate loss of both.

United States and Five Thousand Dollars a Year. Two years ago, Hugh Crawford Pollock, a young gentleman then about twenty years old, suddenly disappeared from his home in Scotland, much to the dismay of his relatives and acquaintances. It subsequently became known that he had come to this country with five hundred pounds in his pocket. He sported about New York and other cities until his funds commenced to run short, when, in a fit of despondency, he enlisted in the 4th United States Cavalry as a private soldier, and in this humble capacity struggled against hardships and deprivations to which he had been wholly unaccustomed. In the meantime his father died some four months ago, leaving Hugh heir to a baronetcy and a snug, little income of $5,000 per annum, or about $25,000 in gold. The young baronet was duly sought for, and after an expenditure of $800 in advertisements it was ascertained that he was stationed at Camp Verde, Texas, discharging the duties of a farrier. Col. William S. Hillyer, of New York, who became interested in the case, induced Sir Frederick Bruce to procure the discharge of Pollock, which was promptly accorded by General Grant. The young Sir Hugh Crawford Pollock has, therefore, been telegraphed for, and has given up the occupation of shoemaker and curer of horses to enter upon a Scotch baronetcy and $5,000 a year. Such a life.
