WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY, JULY 18, 1869.

From the Raleigh Sentinel. Riot at Louisburg.

Two drinks more of whiskey and the peaceable village of Louisburg would have been the scene of a most sanguinary transaction. The Louisburg correspondent of the Sentinel has given our readers an account of the disgraceful particulars of the Republican meeting, and the nomination of Gen. Phil, Hawkins for the Senate.

In the opinion of all reasonable men, riots and public disorders should be placed to the account of those who might have prevented them. Gen. Willie D. Jones and Gen, Phil, Hawkins should understand this, and that they were in more danger in the Louisburg riot than any other two persons. At one time a bloody fight was imjudgment and impurturbable temper of Capt. Jo. Davis and Mr. Benjamin T. Bal- prosperity.

There are several gentlemen from Franklin in the city at this time. One of them says if the difficulty had culminated in bloodshed, the carcases of Gen. Willie D. Jones and Gen. Phil. Hawkins, would have graced the oaks which stand before the Court House, for they would have been

The want of provocation on the part of wrong. They sought it with one whose real character they did not understand .-Farris, the Governor's keeper of the Capi-tol, approached Capt. Joseph Davis and told him he understood his party was to attack him there that day; Capt. Davis said he had not heard of it. "I have heard that you and your brother are going to attack me," said Farris. "I have no brother here, and I have no such intention on gave you this information?" "I have the information," said Farris, "from a very reliable source." Capt. Davis then denonneed his informant as a liar, and told Farris he believed he had made the whole story himself. At this time three young men stepped up and Farris went into a men seized him by the arm and shook him until he dropped the pistol. Farris then broke and double quicked it to Dennis' Hotel, making good time and a safe re-forcibly remarks The condition of the Southern States at the present time is full of promise. They seem to have fairly tided over their indus-trial and political troubles and the future is bright with the promises of a high, and, we trust, enduring prosperity. Another good cotton crop, of which the indications appear to be the most favorable, will place them in a position which even the Northern States may envy. The Southern people, fortunately for themselves, have had no credit for several years past, and have therefore no debts at the present time. They have been forced to live economically, and depend entirely upon their own resources, while the Northerners, as a rule, have been extravagant and wasteful. It is probable that in the event of the occurrence of the financial panic which some persons regard as imminent, the Southern people would feel the shock much less keenly, and recover from it much more rapidly than some of the more wealthy and apparently more prosperous Northern States The condition of the cotton market at Having just passed over the road from San Francisco to Omaha, I add that it is in fine condition, and that the trip is not only safe and speedy, but som-fortable and grand. The reports which were circulated as to the danger on the Union Pacific road, if not always false, are false now. The road is really a splendid one—every rod of it entirely safe. It is as smooth as any road I have ever traveled over, and the best proof is that we were whirled away 25, 30 and 40 miles per hour without a jar. Ladies said they felt safer than on a steamboat. I can assure my brother Odd Fellows that the trip is a pleasant ride, and any lady can take it alone.

In confirmation of the above, a report from B. F. Wade and Jas. Brooks, Esqs. two of the government directors, is adduced. This report states that the parties have been over the two Pacific railroads, from Omaba to Sacramento, almost entirely by daylight, at the rate of thirty miles per hour, or more, and that they find them to be as good as any new roads ever built in this country. Where they are not per-fected, as from Echo Canon to Humboldt, he work as fast as possible.
