Columbus County_Our Victory_What Shall be Done With It.

FAIR BLUFF, Aug. 9, 1870.

Editors Journal: It is but just that this county should have credit for all it has done for the Conservative cause. While I admit that no one has any disposition or desire to detract from her merited praise. desire to detract from her merited praise, Carolinians hold doar. Carolinians hold dear.

After the victory comes the reward—
When our State is saved we then can have time to quibble over men, has been our motto, and under it we have been so far successful. Our actions tell we were in It is to the credit of the Republicans that carnest. It might appear invidious to they could not units upon such a platform make distinctions where all have done their as that inaugmated by Governor Rolden; a gallows platform; a platform of brute force and despotism in which whole countries to the countr that feeling if we but call attention to the ties of North Carolina were pronounced in township in this county wherein State insurrection, martial law established, unruin, Holden, Kirk and all that kindred of the bases corners are represented for the sufficient to the control of the control abomination of infamy, Radicalism, has and habous corpus suspended for no sufficient reason that is apparent, unless it be not a single friend. All honor to the no-ble voters of Williams township. May There is certainly a "lesson" in the want they live to see the full fruition of their initia ory act in the complete overthrow of Radicalism and the restoration of our dear old State to her merited position among her sisters. To colored voters of revolting to the moral sense of conscientions men of all parties, and that they are the county we can say they are far ahead inexpedient as well as wrong; for while of their iriends elsewhere. They know their rights, and in spite of league oaths and incendiary intrigues of demagognes to array them against their interests and the interests of the State, they have acted upon principle, and have dared to prove that they are worthy of a freeman's right and know how to use inexpedient as well as wrong; for while they are disgusting to good men on one side, they do not terrify a brave people on the other, but, on the contrary, inspire them to a more energetic though peaceful maintenance of their political opinions and their rights as citizens. Any party which further country and age expects to remain united, must not employ physical force to perpetuate political domination.

continue to support our present expensive that they are behind the age and in the form of State and county government.— The system may be good, but too expensive for a sparcely settled country to maintain.

Our School system is onerous—we have too many offices, State and county—salaries and fees are too high. Cannot we have a less expensive system, and secure more benefits than we now derive. I humbly think so. And if the time is not now at hand, whenever it comes (i. c.) (when-ever we are convinced that it would be to the advantage of the State) let us assure the colored people that their rights are sa-ored and we dare not touch a single one, but to protect and defend them, and they will by their votes, joined with ours, again make a report from old Columbus, louder and more significant than this. Then will be the time when both races can enjoy to the time when both races can enjoy be the time when both races can enjoy the benefits of their honest labor free from the ravages of merciless shylocks and greedy office seekers; then we will have a State North Carolinians, than the present importation from Massachusetts. It has ple and reveals their intentions. It may proved them patient, and even ailent, under the grossest outrages ever put upon freemen. of a freeman's right and know how to use it. They are too well educated in politics ever again to be deceived and defluded by carpet-baggers and adventurers. Work has been done, not to blind and mislead the ignorant, but to tell the plain truth which has been understood and its legitimate consequences secured, which was action in the right direction.

Those who have labored so carpestly and Those who have labored so carnestly and with so much honor to themselves, have their rewards, not in offices, but in seeing the remainded. In parts of the State where the troops were strongest the radiance of the results of the state where the troops were strongest the radiance of the radiance of the radiance of the radiance of the state where the troops were strongest the radiance of the ra the true principle of government trium-plant.

But, Mr. Editor, our work is not done,
But, Mr. Editor, our work is not done,
Governor Holden and President Grant wrong part of the world to carry out the scheme contemplated by the one and abetted by the other. Tired of fighting and desirious of buying peace ou almost any terms, there are people in North Carolina who may be cowed by a display ot cold steel; and had Governor Holden possessed an army of a hundred possessed an army of a hundred thousand men, distributed all over the State, we might have had a different result to record. But what might have been locally gained for radicalism in the old North State would have been more than lost in other States, whose citizens have been looking on at the Holden outinjury. If the Conservatives have made the gains reported against such odds, we may be sure that men of the same party in other Southern States will take heart and do equally well at their next elections; while all through the North the opposition will derive courage and strength from the North Carolina victory. Happily for ha-manity, the struggle in North Carolina, owing to the pacific disposition of the Con-servatives, passed off with little or no bloodshed. But it will not be safe for the radical governors of other States to repeat the dangerous experiment of Holden; and is the most Elegandy Printed. I propose through the columns of your able paper to give full publicity to those who in our country's hour of need rallied like men to her defence.

The voters of Columbus county fully appreciated the condition of the State, and, influenced by purely patriotic motives, ignored all preferences, prejudices and differences, and voted en masse to wrest from unworthy hands unlimited power, namped for the advancement of partisan and personness, to the advancement of partisan and personness, to the server of the server
