OF NEW YORK.

WANTED!

1,000 Able-Bodied Men,

Between the ages of 20 and 65, to enilst in the above Company. Owing to the great excitement which prevails in Landon, we are anxious to secure the services of these men at once.

This Company should be preferred to all others, because its efficers are cultured, ambitions and trustworthy stadents, and a "Reserve Policy" accompanies each of its members; and as the question is often asked. "Why is a Reserve Policy better than any other form of Insurance?" We propose to answer it in a few words:

IT IS BETTER THAN

A LIPE POLICY—because it is not only this but an endowment besides—because it affords insurance as cheaply while this is necessary, and admits of its termination when the cost would be disproportionate to its value; because it insures dependency, both in childhood and old age.

TEN PAYMENT LIFE—because it easily becomes as little burdensome, gives twice the amount of insurance, and the full endowment

All persons, anxious to secure an equal pro-tection against death or age, can be enrolled in this Compas y on application to the under-signed, who will take great pleasure in present-ing them to the Medical Examiner for his ap-W. R. KENAN.

The Daily Journal.

WILMINGTON, N. C.: FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1872.

From the Boston Advertiser, (Republican.) INDUSTRIAL RECONSTRUCTION. One of the hopeful manifestations of Southern politics is to be found in the interest which the people there, without po-litical or social distinction are beginning to take in questions affecting their industrial development and material progress. This is to us deeply interesting, because the Southern States must continue to be in the future, as in the past, a most important wealth-producing section of the Union.— Nor can their influence upon the revenue policy of the nation, as well as upon its politics, be over-estimated. There is a common and dangerous sentiment abroad which finds expression in such utterances as these; "We are done with the South;"

"That job is finished;" "the South is a powerful and vital force in the nation." The commercial tables of the country show that the contributions of the Southern States to our exportable wealth exceed in value the total exports of all the other sections of the Union combined. In addition to this they furnish through their productions the basis of the most valuable textile industries. It will no doubt surprise many AN ORDINARY ENDOWMENT—because it not only endows to the same extent, but gives a far greater amount of protection against death for substanticity the same cost. total population of the United States is placed by the last census at 38,555,983. Of this number the Middle and Eastern States combined furnish, in round numbers, twelve millions, the Western States twelve millions, the Southern States, or those commonly classed as such in the old times, fourteen millions. Their political preponderance is equally significant. The total number of votes in the Electoral College is 367. The New England States, with New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania added, count 109 votes, as follows: Vermont.

New York.

Total It will be seen that the Western States are entitled to 105 votes.

Minnesota.

California claims 6 votes and Oregon 3—making a total of 9 for the Pacific coast.—
The Southern States are entitled to 128 votes in the Electoral College, being a ma-lority over the New England and Middle States combined, and exceeding the consolidated vote of the great Northwest. Here are the figures :forth Carelina Arkanna

With this showing before us, we have at least an approximate idea of the danger involved in the resectionalizing of the South upon the resentments of the past as a bal-ance of power in national politics. The effect would be disastrous not only to the North but to the South liself, because so long as the late slave-section continues to be a political peril, so long will the Northern States remain compacted in watchful vigilance over the source of so much trouble in the past, to the detriment of all progress and all reform. It is the desire, therefore, of every liberal-minded man of the North, as it is the interest of every friend of progress and good government at the South, that the people of those States should throw off the bondage of obsolete ideas, and emerge into the open, healthy, invigorating atmosphere of living practical issues. By thus liberating herself from the prejudices which not only paralyze her energies but make her a danger to the nation, she would free the North from that political necessity which has too long forced her to stand guard over an ever-present danger.

The time is not distant when the unprejudiced minds of the South will see the wisdom of taking advantage of its natural resources, and introducing more rapidly the closely-related industries which have long been the source of the prosperity of other sections of the country. This has al-ready begun, and is awakening a new sympathy with the national policy on which the highest industrial development depends. In the nature of things, the intelgence of the South, as well as its great laboring interest, will be brought finally into sympathy and political alliance with the educational ideas and industrial policy which have made New England what she is. Enlightened self-interest shapes and controls the actions of communities as well as of individuals, and the highest and most permanent interests of the South are on the side of that national policy which, under favorable circumstances, ministers equally to the progress of every State and every section of the Union. Agassiz has determined a point which has long vexed us. He says : "I am satisfied, since I have examined the temocaris peircei, that trilobites are not any more closely related to the phyllopods than to any other eutomostrace or to the esopods. In reality, the trilobites are likel tomocaris, a synthentic type in which structura features of the tetradecapods are combined with characters of entomostracæ and other peculiarities essentially their The Chicago Post says: "The cheery buzz of the buzz-saw as it turns out first-class fatal accidents is wafted on every gale from Maine to Florida, and rises above the crash of the non-explosive coal oil lamp .-Soon the combined mower and reaper will commence to reap a barvest of fingers and toes, and shooters of spring ducks will blow down their guns to see if they are loaded,-For these and all other mercies may we paragraphists be made truly grateful."

"Not at home," is the way some fo ke out lie creation.' Every telegraph post in the country is a principle of the late Prof.

How the West Grows

The company of one hundred and fifty colonists who left Liverpool last week on their way to Nebruska, will find that young and thriving State in a ferment of activity. Letters from Omaha give extraordinary accounts of the growth and prosperity of Nebraska; settlers are pouring in from the older States and the Territories; thousands of acres of land have been taken up for occupation this spring; villages are multiplying, cities growing, and farms becom-ing numerous and productive. It is related as a striking instance of the rapidity of de-velopment, that in a part of Howard county, near the Loup river fork of the Platte iver, where there was not one settler in the spring of 1871, one hundred votes were cast at a local election held three or four weeks ago. Many farm houses are also to be erected this spring within a radius of twenty-five miles around Omaha, The opening of this rich region to settlement has produced changes of the most marvellous character. In 1860 the total population of the State was only 28,841; in 1870 the number had increased to 116,888. The city of Omaha, first laid out in 1854, now has 20,000 inhabitants; Lincoln, the capital, laid out in 1807, has a population of about 2,500, and is growing rapidly. The Legislature has provided for the immediate crection of publie buildings, as well as for the encouragement of immigration, and liberal appropriations have been made for the support of free schools. The development of the railroad system, building up Nebraska in common with the other new States of the West, has already stimulated the energies of the people to such a degree that the fu-ture is no longer doubtful. Besides the Union Pacific line, there are twelve others, some of them nearly completed, which will soon interlace all parts of the State, and give to its increasing population the am-plest facilities of access to the markets of he world. And what is true of Nebraska s also true of the whole of the great West. Progress is the order of the day, and wealth and power will follow.—Commer-

dal Advertiser. Bergh's Palace Hog Car.

The Cleveland Leader thus describes the Bergh Palace Hog Car: "When the swine wish to slumber they blow a whistle made from the tail of a brother gone before, the conductors enter and conduct them to a hot Russian bath in the rear of the car, after which they are rubbed down with rough towels, a lunch of old boots and ice cream furnished. Not a squeal is ever heard on these cars, nothing but grunts of satisfaction, and a skillful musician puts in from eighteen to twentyfour hours a day playing on a cottage orgen, and singing such ballads as the 'Ham Fat Man,' 'The Watch on the Rhine,' When the Pigs Come Home, etc., etc. In fact, life is one perpetual holiday on the hog trains until they arrive within a few miles of Jersey City, when the train is stopped; a steam fire engine throws a chines, butcher-knives, smoked ham, head

cheese and death." Suicide of a Minister. Rev. J. E. Lawrence, D. D., committed suicide in a room of the Choice House, at Rome, Ga., on Tuesday morning. He died in thirty minutes after being shot. The Commercial has the following particulars of the tragedy : The cause of his suicide was evidently anxiety and trouble arising from pecuni ary embarrassments. He owed a great deal of money, and had no hope of extricating himself. He sunk deeper and deep er every day. On one occasion he said to a creditor, "This thing is running me crazy." He is said to be a Louisianian by birth; said he was 47 years old; said his wife and five children died of cholera in one week in St. Louis, Mo. He was magnificent scholar, ripe in every branch of a liberal education, and accomplished in every possible department of letters. Rev. W. P. Kramer, a promising young minister of the M. E. Church, South, residing at Dalton, Ga., has applied for orders in the Protestant Episcopal Church.
