FOSTER'S LAST HOURS. THE DEVOTION OF HIS WIFE.

THE PARTING BETWEEN THEM CONCLUDING SCENES.

THE LAST.

New York, March 20 Noon Foster passed the day quietly and reed during the greater part of the time in his cell. He heard early in the day of the final effort of his counsel to prevent on legal technicality the exction to-morrow, and his hopes revived. On receiving intelligence that very dejected, hung his head on his speak to him except his wife. - She had ated on hearing of the failure of this last effort. On recovering, she returned spoke little.

About 8:30 this evening the final parting between Foster and his wife took place, both being deeply affected. He kissed her repeatedly, and she ciong to him unit, overcome with emotion, and fainted and was our, ried away by her brother. The prison officials were deeply affected by the Rev. Dr. Tyng spent upwards of an hour this afternoon with Foster, who listened carpeably to his exhibitations. Foster was also visited during the day by his brother-in-law, his father, and by Father Duranquett, a Catholic priest, but refused to undergo the ordeal of parting with his children, whom he has not seen since his arrest.

took of a cup of coffee, but ate nothing. He was very pale and his strength seemed fast failing. He was attended by Rev. Dr. Tyng and Rev. Mr. Schoonmaker, Chaplain of Sing Sing. He was engaged in devotional exercises up to 9 o'clock. At 11 minutes past 9 he was led out, supported by Sheriff of land each year after I was fourteen.

A Theilling Scene 755 875 There is an element of dream-like terror in the following adventure which of Mr. Hickman Foy, was burned to death on last Friday morning. She casion of the late vice-regal marriage was very old, supposed to be 107 feasts at Cairo. A performance was years old, and was unable to go about without help, and that morning her attendant had stepped out and she managed to get to the fire, and by some means her clothes took fire and Among the allocations recorded by the statement of the attendant had stepped out and she managed to get to the fire, and by the Khesivo of Egypt, to which the public had free admission. Among the attractions presented by the performers was the balloon ascent of the geronaut Boudet. Just as the "Rio du Ciel," as his balloon was named, was about to rise up into the sir, Boulet fastened his trapezo to the car, clung to it with one hand, and cried "let go!" The balloon rose to a height of about 400 yards, when a ery of horror burst from the crowd, tremendous rene had taken place in the globe of the "Rio du Ciel." The balloon descended slowly at first, but the wind soon rushed into the ganing aperture in its side, and turned it lit erally instite out, whereupon it gave out a cloud of smoke and took the form of a flag-case. The unhappy aronaut now fell almost perpendicu-larly: every heart atood still. Boudet, however, kept his head, he seized the bar of his trapeze with both hands and hung on, trusting to the slight resistance still opposed to the air by the bailoon; but its speed soon in-oressed; is shut his eyes and let himself go-but not to destruction.
