HEADQUARTERS,

A VERY INTERESTING CASE.

AN AMERICAN CITIZEN IN THE

ENGLISH COURTS. Washington, July 21-Night,-Col. Chas. Case, receiver of the First National Bank of New Orleans, who has just arrived here, reports to the Comptroller of the Currency that he has intelligence from Messrs. Jevons and Riley, his solicitors in Liverpool, that the House of Lords has recently deeided the last of a series of chancery cases in his favor, thus securing some $70,000 or more to the fund for the general creditors of the Bank. Col. Case may justly congratulate himself creditors, who had bought its bills on adjournment until to-morrow was neethe Bank of Liverpool, sought to se- essary. cure the payment of their claims in full by instituting proceedings in chancery in England, which they tied up pendente lite, and hoped finally to appropriate between $200,000 and $300,000 there on deposit in the Liverpool Bank. Upon the theory that there had been a specific appropriation of funds to pay the several bills as they were negotiated, they seemed to be confident of success, and many other creditors, and even some eminent lawyers, were more than fearful that this large sum would be lost to the general fund; but the receiver, after a | careful consideration of the facts, concluded that the suits ought to be defeated, both because these facts did not warrant the theory of any specific appropriation, and because it was not within the powers of a National Bank to make such an appropriation on a time bill as against a contingency. Its own intervening insolvency he resolved, therefore, to the contest of the cases, and did so. The decision of the Vice-Chancellor was adverse to him and he appealed and some two years since the Lord High Chancellor and three weather is warm and clear.

Additional excitement was caused in Brooklyn financials circles by the announcement that Judge Alexander McCue, the largest stockholder of the Brooklyn Trust Company, and on whose application it was forced to suspend payment, has, since Mills' death, been transferring his real estate in heavy blocks, to his wife, to secure himself from assessment in case the company proves insolvent. The transfers, which embrage one lot valued at 890,000, are first made out by McCue, to Edgar McCullen, then by the latter to McCue's wife. In addition to deposits hitherto reported, the U. S. Government had $200,000 with the Company, N. H. Clement $13,000 and Dr. Bryant $2,300. The more searching the investigation, the worse the condition of the concern appears to be. Secretary M. T. Rodman denies that he is also a defaulter, asserting that the Connecticut Town Bonds furnished as security, will fully cover the loan to him from the Company, of
