WILMINGTON, N. C.:

WEDNESDAY, JULY 14, 1875

A POISONING CASE.—A lady of Lexington gives us through the mail some explanation of a case which excited much interest in Lexington, and has also been the subject of some exaggeration. It appears that a white servant girl employed in the family of Dr. Punix infused poison into soup intended for two invalid children. Mrs. Punix tasted the soup before giving it to the children, detected the facts of its being poisoned, and saved the children, but was herself made violently ill and life endangered. She has, however, recovered. The girl confessed the crime, but disavowed the intention of poisoning any but Charlie Pinix, a cadet at Bingham's School, a home during vacation, and also the two children. The girl was not arrested, and has gone to parts unknown.—Raleigh News.

THE PEE DEE HERALD.

Published every Wednesday at WADESBORO, ANSON COUNTY, BY JOSH. T. JAMES & CO.

Has a large and rapidly increasing circulation in the Pee Dee country in North and South Carolina. Advertisers will find it the best medium in either of the states for reaching the farmers, planters and merchants. The extensive local advertising patronage exhibited in its columns is the best evidence of the large and influential circulation.

NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY.

APPLETON'S AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA.
New Revised Edition.
Entirely rewritten by the ablest writers on every subject. Printed from new type, and illustrated with several thousand engravings and maps.

THE work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA was completed in 1854, since which time the wide circulation and the high reputation of this work have made it a standard of accuracy and reliability in every branch of science, literature, and art. It has been revised and re-edited by the most able and successful authors of the present day, and its new edition is a new and entirely rewritten work, and is now issued as the NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA. Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference, an imperative want. The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discovery of science, and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and conquests, revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the first volume of the Cyclopaedia was published, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced. Large additions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa. The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names and achievements will soon be known to every one who reads, and whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and important states made. Large additions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.
