SAD DROWNING—EXCITEMENT IN A GRAVEYARD—LYNCH LAW THREATENED.

Reading, Pa., August 21.—At the funeral of Mrs. Philip Borsenger and her three children yesterday great excitement prevailed and an immense crowd was present.
She drowned herself and children under the following circumstances: Her husband had treated her inhumanly, and paid his attentions to a New York woman in the town. He proposed to pay his wife $2,000 and separate, he taking the boy and she the two girls, saying he would let her if she returned.
Greatly disturbed in mind at the forced separation from her child, yesterday she took the street car and rode to the canal, and at a point about two and a half miles from town she stopped. With the assistance of the children she filled a basket with stones, and fastening it securely to her waist, she took a child under each arm and one on her breast, and plunged in. Before assistance reached, there were found, he was with the woman who had caused all the trouble.
Much excitement has prevailed since, and a strong escort of police protected him from the infuriated mob. After the bodies were placed in the ground he was hooted and fired at. Even the women were armed. He was placed in a close carriage, and was fired at again at the gate. As he was lifted from the carriage it is supposed he was struck, Great indignation still prevails, and lynch law is freely talked of.
