For summer and fall, this climate cannot be excelled. The valley here is 2760 feet above the sea, with many of the high mountains of the State in the to the top of several of them, from which you will have some of the finest mountain views of the State,

The thermometer rarely ranges ably dry atmosphere; well suited to weak lungs or general nervous prostration. It is one of the finest climates for building up the system, br ken

I have visited the most noted placer in the Alleghany range of mountains from New York to Georgia, and in none of them do I find a climate equal improved of late years, a deterioration | to that of several of the counties west

This place is 30 miles from Asheville by the State Turnpike with good valleys and mountain scenery-a ride cruiters or pleasure seekers.

The scenery in this neighborhood is very good and several of the mountains are of comparitive easy access, You can ride to the tops of several of them on horseback that are over 6,000 feet high.

There are several streams affording first rate trent fishing. A single person has caught more than two hundred in day. The mountains afford good hunting grounds for those seeking such sports.

They have excellent free stone water with some good mineral springs.

Good board can be had at $15 per month, with good milk, butter, bread and excellent coffee. You can get horse from a haif to a dollar a day, depending on the le gth of time wanted. A horse and buggy from a dollar to a dollar and a half per day. There good latteral roads for driving. You will meet good and intelligent people who will show you the sights and never cease in their efforts to make you comfortable.

For climate, comfort and economy, I have found no place equal to it. This country here is not only rich in climate and good mountain scenery, but has a rich soil well adapted to the production of corn grass, wheat, fruitand vegetables, with very great resources for copper, and iron, and mics. The time will come when the people of the State will be surprised that the vant resources of this meetion should have been permitted to a main so long undeveloped for the want of a railroad. Water-powers are so plenty that they are almost without value.

Our Eastern and Western people know too little of each other. A railroad through here would soon bring them together and make them better acquainted; giving great reciprocal advantages.

The merchants of Wilmington ought to Le up and looking out for their interest; for the reason that the section of country giving the most liberal enconragement to making facilities for transportation will some in for the best share of trade. APPLETONS' AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA New Revised Edition.

Entirely rewritten by the ablest writers on every subject. Printed from new type, and illustrated with Several Thousand Engra-vings and Maps.

THE work originally published under the ti-tie of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆ-DIA was completed in 1964, since which time she wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the signal de-velopments which have taken place in every branch of science, literature, and art, bare in-duced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact and thorough revision, and to lowe a new edition entitle THE AMERICAN CY-OLOP ZIVIA.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative made a new work of releases an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of actionee, and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moments. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last rolling of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indufatigable ex-
