> CONTRACCIONISTS GOING BACK ON THEIR OWN POLICY.

Some of the leading hard money organs are beginning to come to their senses, and to entertain more rational and practical views in regard to contraction. The Boston Advertiser having charged the Cincinnsti Gazette with having unnecessarily backed down, because of the admission by that paper "that early contraction is impracticable, and would be unwise and that it is quite possible we may not be able to resume in 1870," the Philadelphia American, another leading contractionist, thus comes to the aid of its Cincinnati cotemporary: THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1875. We fear, says the American, that our Boston friends are a great deal more MRS. A. D BROWN anxions to fund the greenbacks in interest-bearing gold bonds than to attain a permanent resumption of specie payments. At every point in our financial progress they have been opposed to the only measures that were found practical or expedient. The resumption set was not of their choice, nor is it at all likely that any supplementary act will be. All these errors arise from a devotion to theoies and abstractions. Whether the country requires a further contraction or not, the one thing the Advertiser ought to look equarely in the face is that for two years to come none is at all fikely or practicable. The Democratic majority in the House is opposed to it, and will pass no bill for the purpose. Nor is any bill possible An Indiana Court has decided that of which the Republican majority in neonaly sue fifty young men for breach open question whether currency coutraction is necessary to resumption.
