Poetry.

"Accepted and will Appear." One evening while reclining In my easy chair, reclining Over the back of time, religion, and the death of common sense.

I sent a poem here, sir, Said the lady, growing fierce, And the subject which I'd chosen, you remember, sir, was Spring.

She was intrepid and witty, And her temper sure was fiery, And I knew that her I would have to—like like fun.

A STRANGE STORY. A TEXAN GIRL IS STOLEN, MAKES THE CIRCUIT OF MEXICO, RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, QUINCY, ILLINOIS, &c., &c., BACK HOME AGAIN.

DOES ANYBODY IN RICHMOND REMEMBER HER? On the incoming train on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad last night, says the Quincy (Ill.) Whip their calling—buckskin trousers, sustained by a red wash and tassels, colored shirts and untaway jackets, and wide white sombreros, which shaded sun-burned faces.

tionable union, and to take the first OPPORTUNITY OF ESCAPING. The close scrutiny to which she had been subjected was somewhat slackened, and one dark night, finding the espionage not so close as usual, she managed to evade the guard at the camp, and made her way to the squalid hut of Indians, whose language she could talk, and who consented to befriend her.

THE COMING CROWN.

HIS IMPERIAL MAJESTY ULYSSES I, WILL WEAR IN 1882. Pungent Pen Pictures of the Coming Empire—Lords and Ladies, Dukes and Duchesses.

One of the cleverest satires of the day is an anonymous pamphlet, just issued, entitled "The Coming Crown," giving a prophetic pen picture of the coming empire under "His Imperial Majesty, Emperor Ulysses I." It is illustrated with a cut of a crown, and some of its bits are admirable.

in all probability be approved by his imperial majesty. We think the commission erred in its decision—not as to the guilt, but as to the punishment of the offender. The time has passed for measures of mercy. Justice demands something more. It demands stern retribution for such offences as this man Blaine has committed, and the punishment awarded should have been death.
