Col. Kenan has been speaking for metime in the West, to large and thusiastic audierces.

Senator M. W. Ransom will address ie people of Pitt county on Tuesday ext, the 16th of September, it being ourt week.

The Democratic Executive Committee of the second Congressional District met in this place on Monday Sept. 13th. The meeting was called to order by A. J. Galloway Esq., Chairman of the Committee, and, af. ble government. ter freely discussing our Congressional prospects the Committee agreed unanimously to hold a Convention in Goldsboro on Tuesday Sept. 28. Each county ought to send delegates who will vote for an active, wide-wake and effective canvasser.

The Charlotte Observer says: Attorney-General Kman speaks at Statesville on Tuesday next. lon't know how many speeches he but he has shown more zeal and industry in the canvass than the whole State ticket combined. We hope the good people of Iredell will extend him hearty welcome. A man of distinappearance, an entertaining peaker, a chivalric and hightoned entleman with pepular and affable manners, he is winning hosts of friends throughout the State. We take great pleasure in this mention of his able and valuable services to the party, because we have known him well and long, and known him to be as modest as he is breve and true.

The "Dutch have taken Holland" as usual, or in other words Vermont has gone republican by the usual majority. The "republican star that never sets," shines undimmed in the republican firmament. The Vermonters take to republicanism naturallylike Ephraim of old, they are "joined to their idols," but they are a "feeble fold," and not able to do much of the voting in the Presidential election. Vermont has always been under Republican rule, and is remarkable for five things according to the Rutland Enquirer viz:

It has the largest per cent of crime. The lowest wages.

The least gain in population. It drinks the most rum.

And it has the largest republican majority.

A CHANGE.

Republican politerans are greatly disturbed at the idea of a change in the administration of the government. They say why not let well enough alone-that the country is prosperous, its finances upon a safe footing, and its commercial and industrial interests in a flourishing con lition. And they argue that a change, would be disastrous to the peace and prosperity of the worms. The change from child to man-are indebted to the republican party for the measure of prosperity which the country enjoys. In the second place, we deny that we are indebted to a party which has attained the unenviable reputation of being a party of hate, and which has been dependent for its success hertofore upon keeping alive the passions and prejudices of the past, for whatever of fraternal feelings have been restored, to the lately bell:gerant sections. But do we not need a change? Do thereto. not the best interests of the country imperatively demand it? We have lately seen in what direction the republican party is drifting. It cannot have escaped the most careless observer that it has for a long time seriously contemplated a radical change n our government, by which the States would be stript of their Sovereigntythat it has been intended to erect upon the ruins of the government of our Fathers, a strong central, irresisti-

THE MAINE ELECTION.—A WA-TERLOO DEFEAT OF RADICALISM.

The election, which took place in ing by his next friend, Charles Smith, Maine on Monday last, resulted in a signal defeat of the Radical party, and Eliza Joyner and Joe Joyner, Deis a sure precusor of still greater d'saster to that party which has so long governed the country in corruption and hate. > At this time we have not the full returns of the election, but enough is known to insure a Radical defeat .--Besides the Governor, that party loses three members of Congress out of five where ten days ago Blaine claimed with confidence the election of the Governor and the whole delegation in Congress. The victory is no less surprising than gratifying. It goes to show beyond doubt that General Hancock is more popular with the masses of the people than the leaders dreamed of. It was admitted on all sides that his great purity of character both as a soldier and statesman made him a strong candidate, but this election in Maine gives greater emphasis to his popularity and makes his election as sure as possible for any future event. The doubt which has heretofore hung over Indiana is dispelled, and even Ohio, another Radical State is with reason classed in the column of Democratic States. There need be no more talk about the solid South. Such appeal to the prejudices and passions of the North has lost its power for mischief, for with Hancock at the head Northern people know they will be safe, and the rallying cry of the campaign in the future should be a solid country, solid North as well as South; solid for the liberties of the people, solid for the rights of the State, and solid against sectional hate.
