Register before the day of election had to be sure to vote the democratic ticket.
Don't forget to vote and work as if the election depended on your own exertions on the 2nd day of November.
The Republican National Executive Committee have decided to direct their attention to carrying Florida, North Carolina and Virginia.
The election is close at hand. Let every one see that he is qualified to vote, and when so qualified give his vote to Hancock and English and our State and county tickets.
The silly rumor that Mr. English had been pronounced unfounded. He says he confidently expects to be elected, and that Indiana will be for Hancock and English in November.
Keep it before the people, that the republican party in this State is in favor of increasing the burdens of the people, by keeping up the public roads from taxation, thereby doubling the tax already imposed for county purposes.
Keep it before the people, that Garfield is a bitter, malignant and vindictive hater of the South. He said in his place in Congress soon after the war, referring to the Southern people, "Confiscate their estates, both personal and real, for life and for ever. The war began by proclamation, and must end by proclamation. We can hold the Southern States in Military subjection, for half a century if need be. I want to see in all those States, the man who bought and suffered for the truth, tilling the fields on which they pitched their tents." Think of this Southern man, when you go to cast your vote for President on the 2nd day of November, and vote against this hypocritical Ohio political parson whose obliquity of conscience permitted him to utter such scoundrelly sentiments. Well might Judge Black say that his friend Garfield's conscience seemed to "loose its grip" when the exigencies of party demanded that its agonies should be stifled. The man who put party above patriotism, philanthropy and the common sentiments of humanity, is not fit to be President.

GRANT DEMOCRATIZED.

The pitiable position occupied by Grant through the indiscretion of brother Fowler, has called forth complimentary comments from public journals of all shades of political opinion. Some characterize Grant's declarations to Fowler as the "babbling of an inebriate," while others regard them as highly respectable, and displaying a littleness not to have been expected in one occupying his position. In whatever point of view they have been regarded by the non-partisan press, the reputation of our "Cesar" has suffered. The petty jealousy and political spite, so apparent to every candid observer, must lower General Grant immensely in the estimation of the American people. Better for his fame to have maintained the reputation of the "silence man" and quietly exercised his rights as a private citizen, than to have wantonly assailed the well-earned reputation of a brother officer, whom he had so recently commended, as eminently worthy of the Presidency.

GRANT'S ATTACK ON HANCOCK.

The New York Herald has the following to say about the recent attack of Grant upon Gen. Hancock. The Herald has been a great admirer of Gen. Grant, but is evidently disgusted with the littleness manifested by this attempt to injure General Hancock. The parson who gave to the public the report of Grant's conversation concerning Gen. Hancock certainly did him no service, but a great injury. It will not raise Gen. Grant in the esteem even of Republicans to see him descending to the abuse of a fellow soldier, one whose gallantry and devotion to the Union he had on previous occasions freely and of his own motion acknowledged, and in whom, indeed, he had expressed the most entire confidence. To say now, in the heat and excitement of a political canvass, that the Democratic candidate is vain, that he is ambitious of the Presidency, that he is a petty character, only brings to everybody's recollection that, in his cooler moments, and before he was moved by what will be generally esteemed partisan rancor, Gen. Grant said: "There are men in that organization [the Democratic party] men like Bayard, McClellan, Hancock, and others whom I know. They are as loyal and patriotic as any men—Bayard, for instance, would make a splendid President. I would not be afraid of the others in that office."

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

It is generally known that the last legislature proposed two amendments to the constitution, to be voted for on the 2nd day of November next. The first is "That section six article one of the Constitution, shall be amended by adding at the end thereof the following:—"Nor shall the General Assembly assume or pay, or authorize the collection of any tax to pay, either directly or indirectly, express or implied by the Legislature of the year 1868 either at its special session of the year 1868, or at its regular session of the year 1868, 1869 and 1870, except the bonds issued to fund the interest on the old debts of the State, unless the proposing to pay the same, shall have first been submitted to the people, and by them ratified by the votes of a majority of all the qualified voters of the State at a regular election held for that purpose." This amendment we believe meets with general approbation, as it is intended to relieve the people from a large indebtedness, from which they neither have nor can receive any benefit. It effectually disposes of that class of "bogus securities" known as "special tax bonds," and will have no doubt be adopted by a large majority of the votes of the State.

WILSON COUNTY POLITICS.

To say that the politics of Wilson county is in a muddle would not convey an accurate idea of the really deplorable condition of affairs here. There are up to this writing, three candidates for Sheriff and four or five candidates for Register of Deeds, with the probability of a square out republican ticket being put in the field a day or two before the election. In the midst of these dangers we have never known our people to manifest so little interest in the progress of the campaign or in the result of the election. We do not propose to dictate to any man what course he shall pursue, but we would ask those who; only a few years ago were loud in their denunciations of the Republican party and who were successing in their efforts to throw off its galling yoke if, after having redemped our county and won for it an enviable reputation abroad, they are now willing to remain idle and be robbed of the fruits of their hard earned victory. This is no time for disorders and dissensions. Our friends should remember that the elections to be held on the second day of November are as important as any ever held in this country. The fight is between the Democratic and Republican parties, and the question with every voter is to which party can the administration of this government be more safely entrusted. Every man should feel and act as if upon his vote hung the result. A Governor of Massachusetts was once elected by one vote and it is equally possible that one vote here in Wilson county may be felt in the State and National election. We urge our friends then to bury strife, arise from their lethargy and go to work in earnest for the nominees of the democratic party, and victory will be ours.

INDIANA SAFE.

The democratic Executive Committee of Indiana composed of W. H. English, T. A. Hendricks, J. E. McDonald and others, have issued an address to the "democratic and independent voters of that State in which they express entire confidence in carrying the State for Hancock, on the 2nd day of November. They say that the loss of the State is only temporary, and resulted from causes which will only be partially operative in the Presidential election. The success of the republicans in the recent election, they attribute to the partial success of their scheme to Africanize the State for political purposes—the corrupt use of money—the importation and use of repeaters protected by U. S. Deputy Marshals, and the aid derived from the use of the Federal machinery of elections, under pretense of supervising the election of members of Congress. They say, "In the Presidential election we will not have to encounter these forces to the same extent as in the State election. The corruption fund will have to be divided among many States, their repeaters will be at home we shall have no Federal Marshals or Federal Machinery to contend against we are thoroughly united in our councils, and the same vote polled for us in October, if polled in November, will secure us the State." The address concludes with the cheering word:—"Remember we have a leader in this contest who never sounds a retreat and he commands an army that never surrenders."

THE CAMPAIGN IN NASH.

In the interest of the ADVANCE and for the purpose of obtaining a report of the campaign in Nash county the local editor took a trip through the upper portion of that county last week. A report of the first day of the campaign at Castalia—the speeches made etc., appeared in last week's paper. The second day of the campaign the speaking was at Hilliardston, and a crowd some larger than the one at Castalia, greeted the candidates, who were all present to further their cause. At this point Maj. Bledsoe, republican candidate for Congress, and B. H. Bunn, Esq., who was to represent Gen. Cox in the encounter in Nash, first joined the canvass. The speeches were both good. Maj. Bledsoe is an effective speaker and it is quite an honor to Mr. Bunn to have met him on the stump, and to have "vanquished him" as nearly every one who heard the speeches say, Mr. Bunn is a good speaker and at Hilliardston, Whitakers and Stone Creek he won many encomiums from his hearers. At Whitaker's Mill the crowd was some larger than at Hilliardston, and the speaking was better we thought. Capt. Harris left the canvass at this point and the managers of the campaign were loth to part with him. Every where he spoke he made many friends and many votes. His allusion in the concluding portion of his speech to the responsibilities resting upon young men at Whitakers, struck us as being particularly good. Capt. Harris is a favorite with the democracy of Nash, and at the polls they will show their appreciation of him by giving him a large majority over his competitors. Friday the candidates spoke at Stone Creek. This concluded the speaking for the week. There was a moderate size crowd present and everything passed off pleasantly, except we believe, late in the evening, when Charlie Sears, republican candidate for the Senate, came near raising a fuss by pulling off his coat and starting for some one who had made some remark which offended the Hon. Charles Sears. However it is due to John W. Blount, chairman of the county executive committee, and Jas. S. Battle, candidate for the Senate, to say they look immediate steps to stop the fuss, and right glad are we that they succeeded.

Enough of Independents.

CASTALIA, Nash Co., Oct. 18th, '80. I came out this year as an independent candidate for the office of Register of Deeds of Nash county. I went as far as Hilliardston in the canvass and I became convinced that the independent voters were no better than the republicans—that the one was not independent of the other but that they were combined against the regular democrats. I became disgusted with their manoeuvring and have firmly resolved never to oppose the democratic organization again. I intend to give an earnest support to the regular nominees of the democratic party in Nash against the mongrel ticket which is trying to delude good democrats by calling themselves independents. J. H. EDWARDS.

A Treatise on the Hair.

A Treatise on the Hair published by R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H., proprietors of Hall's Vegetable Sulfur Hair Renewer, contains valuable information about the hair, which should be read by all. Send to publishers for a copy. Take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral to stop your colds, coughs and Bronchial affections before they run into consumption that you cannot stop.

1875 composed of a majority of democrats.

The impression generally prevails and we were of that opinion until we examined the act ratified the 14th day of March 1879, Chapt. 314 Sec. 1 of the Acts of 1879, that the sole object of this amendment, was to exclude those of that unfortunate class who were able to pay, from receiving gratuitously the benefits of these charitable institutions. We think this amendment would confer discretionary powers upon the Legislature too liable to abuse, to render its adoption desirable. Public charities ought to be kept out of the arena of politics. The support of the benevolent institutions of the State ought not to depend upon the whim and caprice of political demagogues. With this change in the constitution, it would be in the power of the legislature to withhold the necessary appropriations for the comfort and subsistence of the unfortunate inmates of these institutions. The State has erected costly buildings for the proper care and treatment of this afflicted class, and has in her organic law, made their care at the charge of the State, imperative upon the legislature. To render it discretionary as this amendment proposes, would be to invite demagogues in every part of the State to make it an issue in the elections. And a legislature might be elected whose notions of "retrenchment and reform" might seriously impair, if not altogether destroy, their usefulness. Indeed we conceive, it would be in the power of the legislature, if this amendment is adopted, to close up these institutions, and turn their afflicted inmates adrift, to linger out a miserable existence in Jails and Poor Houses, or to subsist upon the private charity of friends.—For these reasons, and many others we are opposed to this amendment and hope it will be defeated.

The outlook for the success of the democratic party is, we think, very bright, and all indications point to the election of the only two candidates whose election is in doubt. We believe Arrington will beat Cockrell for sheriff, and that Sills will beat Drake for register of deeds. At any rate we hope so as they are both good men, and will make good officers. The Nashville brass band was on hand at every place discoursing sweet music. It added much to the enjoyment of those who attended the speaking. The band is composed of clever, sociable, excellent young men, and we are glad that we were permitted to be with them during the first week of the canvass, and hope to meet them again. Our agent, Mr. J. E. Carter is doing valiant work for the ADVANCE in Nash county. He has sent us a large number subscribers, besides collecting tip pretty well, and is still at work.
