MONUMENTAL Day in Wilson.

A GREAT SPEECH BY SEN. MATT. W. RANSOM.

OUR SENIOR SENATOR COMES TO US WITH WORDS OF ENCOURAGEMENT, ADVICE AND INSTRUCTION.

Fine Military Display.

The Event Which was Celebrated was the Completion of the Foundation for the Confederate Monument.

Wednesday, June 17th was a red-letter day in the history of Wilson and Wilson county. The people of this section assembled here on that day to celebrate the completion of a foundation, upon which will be raised a suitable monument, in commemoration of the valorous soldiers who in battling for their country, won undying honor and hallowed graves.

The celebration was in itself a glorious monument to them. Nearly all the business houses were decorated, some very handsomely, and the town was bright with the patriotic red, white and blue, and the streets were thronged by hundreds who came to join with one another in the pleasant duty of doing honor to the memory of our fallen heroes.

THE VISITING MILITARY. The Wilson Light Infantry, to whom are due the honor of pressing forward the work of building the monument, and the perfect arrangements which had been made for the day, invited a number of companies of the State Guard to be present, and the following accepted the invitation and were here:

Wilmington Light Infantry, (Co. A. 2nd Reg.) Capt. W. R. Kenan. Sampson Blues, (Co. C. 2nd Reg.) Capt. T. H. Partrick.

Goldsboro Rifles, (Co. D. 1st Reg.) Capt. W. T. Dortch. Rocky Mount Light Infantry, (Co. D. 2nd Reg.) Capt. Henry Thorp.

The Second Regiment Band, which numbers 24 pieces, Col. Matt. Taylor.

These Companies, with the Wilson Light Infantry, Capt. W. P. Wooten, comprised the uniformed Military present and were commanded by Col. H. Jones, who is extremely popular with the soldier boys of his regiment and deservedly so. He neglects nothing which is to the interest of the 2d Regiment, or the State Guard, leaves nothing undone which would add to their efficiency, and is considerate of their comfort to the highest degree.

OUR QUESTION ANSWERED. Instead of a Beam From the Celestial City it Was From the Hands of a Small Boy Who Held a Watch Crystal.

Some weeks ago an aged Methodist minister, who is very bald, was preaching a funeral sermon at a church in Halifax county, N. C., and a bad boy seated in the gallery of the church so adjusted a watch crystal as to settle the light from a window on the bald pate of the preacher.

The congregation became wild with religious enthusiasm and about broke up the services with their shoutings and moanings. Some thought the spirit of the sainted dead had descended upon the preacher, and others expected the aged pastor to be then and there translated. This alarmed the bad boy to such an extent that he kept his performance a secret for a day or two. In the mean time a reporter for a paper had written the matter up in a most pious strain, and had it published. Now, notwithstanding the explanation has been published to the world, a lot of editors are reproducing the wonder, and in all probability the ludicrous tale will be told by preachers and others for a hundred years to come as a veritable revelation from God. Alas! alas! for human credulity!

122 soldiers, while the South had, according to the latest historian, only about 600,000. The population of the North was at that time, 22,000,000 while that of the South was only 8,710,000, of whom 3,707,000 were slaves. Yet against these odds they had so successfully contended that Lincoln had, according to indisputable history, said six times that the South could never be subdued without the help of the slaves. He anatomized war, and vividly depicted its cruelties. But the men of 1861 had only followed the example of the men of 1776, in rebelling.

The Senator spoke one hour and fifteen minutes. It was a great speech—worthy of our great Senator. At its conclusion the benediction was pronounced by Elder M. T. Moye, chaplain of the Wilson Co. Camp of Confederate Veterans, after which was

It was an imposing pageant and an inspiring one—the well-drilled military, the handsomely mounted officers, waving banners, and martial music.

The heat was intense throughout the day, but the programme was adhered to, and after transverseing the principal streets, the procession disbanded, and the exercises of the day were at an end. At 7 o'clock all the visiting military with the exception of the Clinton Company, which left at 7:53 this A. M. embarked on the fast mail, we hope carrying with them pleasant memories of our town.

They left many friends here, and during their brief stay impressed upon all that they were not only men but manly men and gentlemen.

THE CROWD. was immense. A cautious estimate places it at not less than five thousand, and it was a credit to Wilson county. It was orderly and good-humored, throughout the day, and while a few took a pleasurable dram too much of fire water to cool them off, no arrests were made, or necessary. Wilson county knows how to behave, and does it, and is always in front.
