It will cost him about twice as much, but he can, if he lives, walk up to the captain's office and call for his money and do what he pleases with it. If he happens to die before hand his wife or his mother or his sister can draw it for him. Every young man should take out two policies if he can, one for life and one on the endowment plan-one for others and one for himself. It is a comfortable thing for a man of forty-five to have a paid up policy that is drawing dividends. It is still more comforting for a widow or a sister or a child to inherit both policies if he should die before he

Insuring one's life for the benefit of others is the most unselfish act that a young man can perform. No selfish or thoughtless young man will do it. It is like looking death square in the facebut few young men will do that. It is the next thing to getting religion. It is life when the whole body consists of a confession of mortality. If he couldn't raise $18 or $20 to protect the girl he loved for one year, he is not fitten to have her nor fitten to get fitten. If he begun with a policy he would be very apt to keep on. How easily he could have carried a policy of 1 $1,000, out of which he could have been buried and left a good sum for his widowed mether. I wonder how many of these traveling young men earry a policy for their mother or their sisters. Filial love is a sweet and blessed thing, and the oceasional visits of the boys to their bomes is a comfort and joy, but when death comes untimely and unexpected the bereaved ones can't live on sorrow. I was ruminating about all this because one of our boys has sent home a duplicate of a policy that he has taken out for the benefit of his sisters. He will keep it alive as long as he lives. He will do more. He will look after and protect them when the parents have passed away. That is a parent's great concern -what will become of the girls the nnmarried ones-when we are dead? Will they have to live in penury or accept a home with kindred-a home where they are perhaps not wanted and where the feeling of dependence is ever before them. Walker's Head. SAVANNAH, GA:, October 13. - March Walker, the negro brute who ravished Miss Helen young, the deaf mute, last Saturday night, was shot and instantly killed at Way's station this morn-

Information was brought to the police last night through a negro man named Dennis, living at that place, that Walker had been seen there, and Lieutenant Riley and a squad of police were detailed to go out and make the arrest. A reward of $450 had been offered for the negro's capture, and the men left the city on horseback with a determination to get the criminal. When they reached Way's station they learned that he had just left and was going south on foot by the dirt road. They followed him and came upon him at 11 o'clock at Stephen Screven's house. Walker was ordered to surrender but refused. With a vell of defiance he turned and fired wildly upon the officers. Simultaneously shots were fired at Walker and he fell over having been killed instantly.
