District of Columbia Business Goes Over for Unfinished Work.

The Election Contest Cases to Have Consideration Tuesday and Probably Wednesday-Other Schedules in Both Branches.

WASHINGTON, March 26 .- According to the rules Monday is District of Columbia day in the house, and under ordinary condition the committee in charge of affairs relating to the district would have undisputed right of way for the con ideration of measures called up by it. But when the house adjourned Saturday the postal appro-priation bill was pending, and consideration of that measure was continued

Of course this does not mean more bills may not be disposed of by unanimous consent, and doubtless a number of these against which no objection lies will be sent to the senate

The week in the senate depends more upon the unexpected than anything fixed and determined. Should the president send in a message to the house vetoing the Bland seigniorage bill, the senate may find itself plunged into an irregular financial debate on various silver propositions now before it, and a tariff twist will certainly be given to the discussion if the silver senators who threaten d that a veto of the seigniorage bill means illimitable opposition to tariff reform, know what they are speaking of and have their forces as well in hand as they say they have. Another week remains before the tariff bill can be taken up in the regular order of business, but the silver men are threatening that this week may be spread into months of discuswho were entuded on the sidewalks sion if the seigniorage bill should be

COLQUITT IS DEAD.

The Senior Senator of Georgia Passe Peacetully Away.

WASHINGTON, March 26. - Three United States flags floating at half mast over the capitol of the nation this morning tell the sad news of the death deserted to a body before Canton was of Georgia's senior senator. At 7:30 reached. Their mars all thought the o'clock this morning the soul of the statesman and Christiar patriotsilently slipped away.

General Colquitt's death was supremely peaceful. Seemingly the tide of life passed out without a trembling or a ripple.

He continued to improve until 9 o'clock last night, when the anxious, loving watchers in his sick chamber to organize an Alaba as regiment of noted a perceptible and gradual decline. He continued to grow worse, He expects to collist 1.000 men by Tues- his breathing becoming apparently more labored each minute until 7:30 this morning, when he died.

Up to within two hours of his death leneral Colquitt was seemingly "peree ly conscious. He was aware of the near approach of death, but his mobile face, chisselled and fine cut by his long liness, shone with light and courage. There was no pain expressed upon his features, and it is believed that he died without suffering.

If Not, the Bland Bill Will Become a Law Without Cleveland's Voice. Washington, March 26.—There has been some doubt expressed as to when the Bland seigniorage bill must be noted upon by the president, or when, if not acted upon, it will become a law without his approval. The best authority on that subject is Secretary Pruden, who has carried every veto rom the white house to the capitol for more than twenty years. Mr. Pruden's statement of the conruction of the law that has been folowed during all administrations of late years is that ten clear days must be abowed, Sundays, of course, not being counted. The seigniorage bill was carried to the white house after the ordinary departmental office hours on March 19th. The president had gone out riding with Mrs. Cleveland a few minutes before the bill was brought to are executive mansion. This throws he date of its official receipt over to the following day, March 20, and gives the president until Friday, March 30, for his action.
