THE ADVANCE,
Wilson, N. C.

FRIDAY, JUNE 15, 1894.
Who is the liar, Havemeyer or Edwards? The country wants to know.

ERASTUS WILSON is on trial in New York for forgery. He is being prosecuted by R. G. Dun & Co., the commercial agency.

ON MONDAY the Senate voted to put bagging on the free list. That is one good thing that has been done by the Senate. Score one.

It is stated that Geo. H. White, colored, is certain of the nomination for Congress from this district by the Republican convention that meets in Weldon on the 27th of June.

CAPT. KITCHEN has proven quite a heavy load for the Populists to carry so far, and it would be better for them if he drifts back to his moorings before the ides of November.

NEXT Tuesday the Teachers' Assembly will meet at Morehead City.
An entertaining programme will be carried out and a most delightful time is expected by the teachers who attend.

Wake Forest Commencement was held this week. A good time was had as is generally the case at that noble institution. The speeches were fine if we are to judge by the newspaper accounts which we have picked up.

TRINITY College has been having a big time of it this week. Senator George Gray could not come to deliver the address, so Dr. Millard, the blind man eloquent, came in his place, and delighted his hearers with his thrilling eloquence.

REV. DR. JAMES ATKINS, of Asheville, is mentioned as the possible President of Trinity College. The Wilmington Messenger pays him some compliments, and from what the Messenger says we must think that Dr. Atkins is a very worthy man.

A CONVENTION of Democrats in Atlanta last week endorsed the Chicago platform and called upon the Democratic administration to materialize the demands of that instrument into laws. It was not harmonious, a large number wanting to endorse Cleveland outright.

MAHONE is urging a coalition between the Populists and Republicans in Virginia. We are not surprised at this. Mahone sees that fusion would result to his own advantage and that of the Republican party. If the Populists want to take a long deep dive from public action, let them fuse with the Republicans.

ON TUESDAY of this week the Central Committee met in Raleigh and decided to call the State Convention of the Democratic party to meet in Raleigh on August 8th. A letter from Senator Jarvis was read in which he expressed himself as being willing to rest the question of his candidacy for the Senate to the primary conventions. The committee, however, decided that they had no authority to order that.

We should be glad to know what Miss Ida Wells, the negro, hopes to achieve by addressing London audiences on negro lynching in the United States. Surely she does not hope to arouse John Bull that he will cross the Atlantic with blood in his eye. We've read some where he crossed that aforesaid sea once before about a hundred years ago, more or less, and was quite glad to return without getting what he came after.

TUESDAY the Senatorial investigating committee had Mr. Havemeyer, President of the Sugar Trust, on the stand. He denied all the allegations of having conferences with certain Senators. He excited great surprise when he answered the question as to whether he had had an interview with Mr. Cleveland in the summer of 1892. He answered that he had never seen Mr. Cleveland, and if he saw him, he would know him only by the pictures that he had seen.

THE SUGAR SCHEDULE.
In the Senate amendment to the tariff bill sugar stands taxed at nearly one and a half cents a pound. That would seem to indicate that sugar will be a cent and a half higher when that bill becomes a law than it is now.
If sugar can be bought now at five cents a pound, it will be six and a half cents after the law goes into effect.

That seems to be a great disad-vantage to the sugar users. It is apparently an overt act on the part of the government to strike the freemen of this country a centre blow. It is seemingly an attempt to station revenue collectors in a man's own dining room to extract from his sugar bowl the quota of taxes that the government demands. It invades his pantry and takes from his jars of sweet meats the hated revenue.

Now, that is what it does. There is no disguising it. But the question arises, Which would you rather the tax collector enter your pantry or your war room? Indeed, which would hurt the worse, for him to place his hand upon your sugar box or your Sunday clothes, upon your preserve jar or your hand box, upon your sweet meats or your underwear?

We candidly confess that we were opposed to putting a tax upon sugar at first and so stated our objections, but since it has been done we have made some comparisons, and have come to the conclusion that it is not so bad after all. We will give the results of our comparisons, and if there is nothing in them, we will come back to our moorings when we are convinced of our error.

Sugar is taxed one and a half cents a pound. That would mean that it will cost about that much more when the law goes into effect. Wool and woolen goods are reduced a fraction over fifty per cent. Now, let us see how that will work. We'll say a man ordinarily uses during a year three hundred pounds of sugar, that is one person uses that much, and the increased taxation on that amount is about $4.50. He will thus have to pay that much more during the year for sugar.

How about his clothes? The reduction from the present law is over fifty per cent. On woolen goods the present law levies a tax of 98.62 per cent; the bill now before the Senate proposes to reduce that rate to 41.13 per cent. Under the present law, the result of Republican legislation, a suit of clothes that cost $10 in England would cost about $20 delivered in this country; but under the bill before the Senate that suit would cost $14.13, a saving to the purchaser of nearly six dollars. So that the bill contemplates a saving on one suit of clothes more than enough to pay the difference in the price of sugar.

The same reduction holds good on all woolen goods, to say nothing of the numbers of other things which will share in the reduction. And when the purchases of the various articles of dress are completed, a large saving is made, more than enough to pay the difference in sugar five or six times over.

And too, the bounty of two cents a pound, which the government now pays to the sugar producer, comes from the people. It just simply reduces the tax on one thing and puts it on another. The McKinley law put sugar on the free list, but taxed woolen goods nearly a hundred per cent in order to get the money to pay that bounty on sugar.

In other words, the people now pay a tax of two cents a pound on sugar, but the present bill before the Senate proposes to tax it only about one and a half cents. The greatest difference is this. The Republican law has put a tax of two cents a pound, and disguises it in such a way as to make it appear as free sugar, whereas the Democratic measure results to no such subterfuge, but puts the tax there openly and leaves it for sensible people to make the comparison. It will be in the end the saving of over half a cent a pound to the American people, and the people will have sense enough to see that sooner or later.

These are our reflections upon this matter. We think our view is the correct one, and is the reason for our maintaining that the tariff on sugar is not so bad after all.

IMMIGRATION TO THE SOUTH.
Much is being said in the press of the day about attracting immigration to the South. Many and various opinions have been expressed as to how that should be done. Nearly all agree that such would be a material benefit to Southern development.

Undoubtedly the right kind of immigration would be a vast help to the progress of any country. We must confess, however, that we never have been a stickler for immigration. We very much question the wisdom of inducing poor people to come into a country with the hopes of bettering their condition.

As we said before, we are very sure that the right kind of immigration would be beneficial, and we will define what we mean by the right kind. In the first place, we mean men and women who are well-to-do in their own country. In other words, are thrifty and abundantly able to take care of themselves. In the next place, we mean people who have money to invest in real estate or enterprises of all kinds.

Now, we feel very sure that neither one of these classes could be induced in any considerable numbers to come South; and it is very evident that we don't want those who are not thrifty and independent.

It has been remarked, and we think very truly, that capital is one of the most timid things in the world. It hides its face quicker when danger appears than any other matter that claims the attention of mankind. If this is doubted, let one endeavor to secure investments in an enterprise, and one of the first questions that he will have to answer will be, "How much do you intend to invest yourself?"

This being the certain characteristic of capital, no one can expect that class of immigrants to leave their homes and invest in a country that seems to care nothing for its own development. Rich men are not going to immigrate to any considerable extent, and so we can't expect that class.

The South does not, and we say it with some degree of chagrin, put forth the proper efforts to develop its own resources. We are very anxious for Northern or Western capital to come in and build railroads, develop mines, utilize water power, or erect factories; but we are not so anxious to do those things ourselves.

While those facts are painful to a degree, still they are facts; and as long as they remain so we can never hope to induce others to come among us to invest their money. If we wish to see things hustle, we must hustle ourselves. Earnestness in one's own welfare always brings help, but indifference begets indifference.

In our opinion that is the condition that confronts us. We want immigration, but we don't need the second-class Hungarian or the turbulent Pole. We need those men and women who are law-abiding and thrifty, who will labor for the upbuilding of the country, and who will bring enough with them to guarantee that they will not be a burden upon the country.

Such people as that would find a profitable home in the South, but the South wants none of the turbulent set of the wild and woolly West, who bring anarchy, dynamite, and poverty with them.

It is a thing that is to be regretted that Senator Vance's body is not to rest in peace in his grave. His widow saw fit to go to Asheville last week and dig up the body of the late Senator and remove it to another place in the same cemetery. Mr.
Chas. N. Vance, Senator Vance's son, came down afterwards and had the body taken up and carried back to its original place. Mr. Vance comes out in a card and explains his action in which he says that it was the late Senator's wish to be buried by the side of his first wife, and that he intends to have that done.

He furthermore says that he would have been perfectly willing for the body of his father to have been moved, if Mrs. Vance would be willing to allow the body of his mother to be placed by his side, but Mrs.
Vance would not agree to it. He then thought that he could not be true to his dead father, if he did not see that his dying wishes were observed, and he accordingly had the body reinterred in its original place.

We regret to know of this circumstance and hope that it may be settled amicably. We think that the dead Senator's wishes should be observed, and with the facts that we have, we must think Mr. Chas. N. Vance is right.

EDUCATION IN NORTH CAROLINA.
For the past two or three weeks the news papers of the State have been filled with commencement exercises. An outsider would judge, and in the main correctly, that education in the Old North State is on the upward trend. We are all proud of the colleges that are year by year turning out so many worthy sons and daughters.

But while we shout our praises for the colleges, we must not forget that the secondary schools of the State, are contributing no small matter to the educational up lifting of our commonwealth. In fact, the work that they are doing is not second to the colleges. In many respects, their work is the most important in the educational field.

Just one thing that we started out to say in this connection is, that now and then we hear of a little competition between the colleges and the academies. That is a thing that should be strictly avoided, but just how is not so easy to determine.

Whether the competition arises from the fact that the colleges are invading the domain of the academies, or the academies the domain of the colleges we do not assume to say. Whether the college is protruding its hand after matriculation into nooks that rightfully belong to secondary instruction, or the academy is reaching upward in its endeavor to retain patronage must be left for others to determine.

All we do know is, that the competition is sharp at certain points, and we know that it should not be so. Many a time we have seen students who did elementary work in the academies when the charge for their tuition was low, hurry off to college just as soon as they reached a grade when the compensation for teaching them would be at all commensurate with the trouble that the teacher has been in bringing them thus far. And, too, when another year in the academy would be greatly to their advantage.

Now, whose fault this is we know not. We don't pretend to mark out the line between the high school and the college. Indeed, we don't know that it would be desirable, but one thing we are thoroughly convinced of, and that is that the competition should be removed in some way.

There should be the very best of feeling between all institutions of learning, and especially between the high school and the college. There should never be a chance for any principal of an academy to feel that he has lost any patronage because of the influence of the college. The field is broad enough for all, and there should be some arrangement that would prevent any thing like competition between these two vehicles of education.

THE COUNTRY BOY.
He rises early; he is acquainted with and interested in all the stock and poultry; he knows all the country around; he is acquainted with every bug and worm, bird and animal, tree and flower, weed and cereal, on the farm. He has a good appetite and a good digestion, and his sleep is sweet and refreshing. He reads, thoughtfully, the great book of nature whose leaves open before him day by day.
He loves his father and mother, and he loves his sweetheart as no town boy does and he is loved in turn by her as no town boy is. He works hard all day, and when night comes he enjoys a frolic with a healthful zest, and then lies down to peaceful dreams. He grows to man's estate with a rich heritage of good health, a clean, pure character, industrial habits, a mind well stored with practical knowledge gained by the fireside and in the country lyceum, effectionate and trusting in his disposition, polite and courteous though perhaps somewhat awkward in his manners, and in every way well equipped for the battle of life. He knows nothing of the follies and vices, the mockery and hollowness so often seen in city life. He is a grown up man and the chief places in the city and in the nation come into his possession. He has the stuff in him that qualifies him under guidance for eminent statesmanship, for military renown, for professional success, for judicial distinction; for the grandest men of our nation have been, and the grandest men of our country will be found among the country boys of our land.
He may at times think his country home plain and unattractive, his life one of drudgery and humdrum and may at times envy the town boy and his more exciting life and opportunities, but let him not worry. He has a far richer heritage and the future will be a satisfactory revelation to him. God bless the country boy!
He is the hope of the nation.—
Greensboro Patriot.

Now, that the time for the meeting of the State convention has been fixed, it will be in order for the county executive committee to appoint a time for the holding of the preliminary and the county convention. He will speak in due time.

HELD UP ON ELECTIONS.
In a recent issue, as we learn from the New York Sun, the Louisville Courier Journal gave vent to the following sprightly remarks about elections:
"They do say they have been having a few more elections scattered round through the country, and the grins on the faces of the Republicans grow wider and wider and their lips smack more loudly in anticipation of the return of the years of the fatted kine."
"Let up on elections."
"Boycott elections."
"Abolish elections."
"Blot elections out of the Constitution and swipe the word out of the dictionary."
"Some people never know when to stop. Nothing is more disgusting than carrying things too far—carrying elections especially."
"There are thousands and thousands of folks in this country who are just plumb tired out at the mere thought of an election."
"Say, what's the good of elections anyhow? They ain't so hot fired funny no more. They seem to think."

Let the screws be applied somewhere.

IN THE defeat of demagogue Penney, Governor of Oregon, Populists do not need the services of a political crank filled with Socialist ideas and revolutionary plans.—Wilmington Messenger.

If our able contemporary will look up the facts, we think that he will find that Gov. Penney was not a candidate for governor this time, and that he was elected as a Democrat last year. He lost his moorings soon after election, and perhaps has not yet cast anchor.

It is not often the case that governors acquire a national reputation while they are serving their term, but just now there are four in the United States whose reputation is not only national, but international. They are Tillman, of South Carolina, Altgeld, of Illinois, Waite, of Colorado, and Pennoyer, of Oregon. Outside of these there is not one man in one thousand that can name a half dozen governors to-day.

It is said that seven Republican Senators will vote for the income tax clause, and nine Democratic Senators will vote against it. If the Populist Senators will vote for it, it will go through any how, notwithstanding the desertion of nine Democrats.
Seven Republicans are worth nine Democrats any how, that is, certain kinds of Democrats.

Literary Notes.
The Review of Reviews, for June, is fully up to the high standard of excellence that that periodical has maintained all along. Its review of current events is the very best history we have of our own times. Very many valuable contributions to literature are found in the current number.

It is really a wonder to know how the Cosmopolitan can supply its readers with such choice literature as is found in its columns month after month and its superb illustrations are worth more than the subscription price.

ON CRUTCHES 2 WEEKS

Pain, Burning, and Itching Terrible. Not 5 Hours Sleep in 3

A Remarkable
Case.

About two years ago I was confined to my room with a breaking out on my leg which my physician pronounced Eczema. About three weeks ago the same disease broke out again on the same leg, and my physician has been attending me regularly, calling from once to twice daily, the same all the time estimating the condition, and had not slept more than five hours in three nights. Monday morning about four o'clock the pain, burning, and itching became so severe that I determined to try CUTI-CURA, thinking that if it did not help, I would not try it at all, although I had been told not to make my leg much worse, for it was as raw as a piece of beef and as red as a beet, so I applied the CUTICURA, and in five minutes after I had done I was asleep. Next day I sent and got a box of CUTICURA, and I applied by honest word I would not take $100 today for it, if I could not get another. I continued using CUTICURA Monday morning about four o'clock, and to-day (Tuesday) morning I am well, and wondering I had not washed a leg without cuticura in two weeks. My gratitude to the man who first compounded CUTICURA is profound. May God bless him.

ernors acquire a national reputation
while they are serving their term,
are Tillman, of South Carolina,
Altgeld, of Illinois, Waite, of Colo-
dozen governors to-day.

the desertion of nine Democrats.
Seven Republicans are worth nine
kinds of Democrats.

Literary Notes.
The Review of Reviews, for June,
ture are found in the current number.

price.

Limb Raw as Beef and Red as Beet.
Days. Makes One Application of Cuticura and in 5 Minutes is Asleep.
A Remarkable
Case.

came so severe that I determined to try CUTI-
as a piece of beef and as red as a beet, so I
applied the CUTICURA, and in five minutes after
could not get another. I continued using
CUTICURA Monday morning about four o'clock,
man who first compounded CUTICURA is pro-
found. May God bless him.

Ayer's Hair Vigor
RESTORES
Color, Fullness, and Texture TO HAIR
Which has become Wiry, Thin, or Gray.

"Some five years ago, I was not a little alarmed to discover that my hair was falling out, threatening speedy baldness. AYER'S Hair Vigor being recommended, I procured a bottle and at once applied it to my hair, and scalp, continuing to do so for several weeks, and was greatly surprised that my hair stopped falling, and new hair came out full of life and vigor." AYER'S Hair Vigor does not only restore new hair, but gives new life and vigor to the growth, and is a blessing to all who use it.
