Mr. Rose Will Make No Stipulations as to Where Next Year's Races Shall be Sailed. Sir George Newnes Also Ready to Build a Challenger.

He Will Not Object to a Contest

Near New York City.

UNDISMAYED BY DUNRAVEN'S ACT.

LONDON, Sept. 23 .- The town residence of Mr. Rose, who has challenged the New York Yacht club for a race for the America's cup, is a beautiful house on Hill street. There a reporter of the Associated Press saw him last night. Mr. Rose is a tall athletic looking man, about 40 years of age, with a bronzed face. He was asked for particulars regarding his challenge for the America's cup, and replied:

"Yes, I am going to challenge for the cup. I have sent a preliminary message to the secretary of the New York Yacht club, and I have communicated with Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan. The formal challenge will go through the Royal Victoria Yacht club next week as soon as the designer and I shall have the dimensions of the yacht as to the build and other particulars which is necessary to incorporate in the challenge. The yacht will be designed by Soper, and it will be built at Fay's yard in Southampton. I can give you no further particulars, as they are not settled yet.

"Shall you make it a condition that the races for the America's cup must be held elsewhere than in the vicinity of New York?" was asked.

"Certainly not," replied Mr. Rose. "I shall make no conditions, though of course I am most anxious that the races shall be held where there will be no chance of interference, and I have no doubt that the New York committee feel the same way." "It was feared," observed the interviewer, "that the recent flasco would prevent any Englishman from challenging again." "Oh, no," said Mr. Rose, "the affair is regretted on both sides. A certain amount of friction is inseperable from all international sporting contests, but that will not deter us from trying again." The wealthy gentleman mentioned by The Field as being prepared to build a cutter to challenge for the cup in 1896, provided the New York Yacht club would consent to sail the matches in waters the yacht could not be interfered with, is now announced to be Sir George Nownes. Sir George Newnes has sat for the Newmarket division of Cambridgeshire since 1885 until the late general election as a Liberal, when he was defeated by Mr. Henry McCalmont, who is himself an enthusiastic yachtsman, and is said to be half owner of Valkyrie III. Sir George STOCK AND PRODUCE MARKETS. Newnes is the proprietor of several popular serial publications, including 'Tid Bits, the Strand Magazine and the Westminster Gazette, which is one of the English newspapers which has not hesitated to criticize Lord Dunraven for his action in withdrawing from the third race for the America's cup.

Her Hair Stolen While She Slept.

NELIGH, Neb., Sept. 23 .- This city has been the scene of one of the most peculiar crimes in the history of this state, and there is no clew to the identity of the perpetrator. HAVANA, Sept. 20 .- The Spanish warship Sanchez Barcastegui, with Admiral Delgado Parejo on board, was struck by the incoming coasting steamer Mortera in front of Moro Castle, and sank almost instantly. Admiral Parejo and forty-six of the crew of the warship, including Captain Ybanez and three other officers, were drowned. The remainder of the crew, 116 in number, were saved. The bodies of Admiral Parejo and Captain Ybanez were recovered. The body of the captain was horribly mutilated, the head and arms having been eaten away by sharks. Divers are examining the hull of the Barcastegui. Captain Vinal, of the steamer Mortera, in the course of an interview today, said that when he was within two miles of the entrance of the harbor he saw ahead on his starboard a green light, which he presumed was that of a steamer leaving port. I ordered the engine to slow down, and proceeded on our course, hearing two whistles from the cruiser, to which we replied. Turning into the harbor, and keeping in sight on our starboard the green light of the cruiser, we whistled twice again, thus indicating that we were turning into the harbor, when suddenly all the ghts of the cruiser were put out.

Train Robbers Convicted.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 28 .- The trial of the Blackstone train robbers, "Buz" Lucky and James Dyer, in the United States court here, has resulted in their conviction. Dyer was an organizer of outlaw bands and planned more successful train tain. robberies than any other man in America. All of the larger jobs of the Starr and Chaney gangs had their origin in Dyer's brain. The Bentonville bank robbery, the Caney, Kan., bank robbery, the M., K. & T. train robbery at Prior Creek and Blackstone, and the K., A. & A. train robbery at Coweta were some of his works. Dyer's chances are good for forty-five years in the penitentiary. Miss Vanderbilt to Wed'a Dake. Three children escaped by jumping through windows, one of whom has since become insane as the result of the calamity. After great difficulty the residents of the vicinity succeeded in digging out the five dead

"I immediately ordered the engineer to steam backwards, but it was of no avail, for the steamers collided. I ordered boats to be lowered and life preservers to be thrown overboard. After the collision I ordered the engines to go ahead, my intention being to try to run the Barcestegul ashore. I soon found, however, that this could not be done with safety to the Mortera. Backing off from the cruiser, the Barcastegui sank almost instantly." The cause of the extinguishment of the lights on board the cruiser, which was described by Captain Vinal, and which undoubtedly was the cause of the collision, was occasioned by the stopping of the engines to save the life of a sailor whose arm had been caught in the dynamo.

Admiral Delgado Parejo was the last man to leave the cruiser, being taken off in a row boat, which was about to start for shore when the suction occasioned by the sinking of the Barcastegui carried the boat down and all on board were drowned. The total loss of life is now set at fortyseven.
