Catarth in the Head

Is due to impure blood and cannot be cured with local applications. Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured hundreds of cases of catarrh because it purifies the blood and in this way remove the cause of the disease. It also builds up the system and prevents attacks of pneumonia, diphtheria, and typhoid fever.

Hood's Pills become the cathartic with every one who tries them. 25c.

AUTHOR OF "AMERICA" DEAD.

The Venerable Dr. Samuel F. Smith in a Railway Station at Boston.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Rev. Dr. Samuel F. Smith, the venerable author of the famous hymn, "America," beginning, "My country, 'tis of thee," died suddenly here Saturday evening, in his 86th year. Rev. Dr. Smith was on his way to Readville, where he was to address a meeting, and was taken ill at the New York and New England depot. He was removed to the Emergency hospital, where he died.

Rev. Dr. Smith was ordained a Baptist minister in 1834, and became professor of languages at Waterville academy, now Colby university, at Waterville, Me. He returned to Boston in 1842 and edited The Christian Review, a leading Baptist organ. Soon after this, however, he gave up the editorial chair and for several years was pastor of the First Baptist church at Newton. Following this he was the editorial secretary of the Missionary union.

Constable Killed by a Desperado.

WHEELING, Nov. 18.—A terrible tragedy occurred at Wileyville, Wetzel county, W. Va., twelve miles from New Martinsville, the county seat. Last summer John White was arrested and convicted of robbing freight cars at Hundred, on the Baltimore and Ohio road, and in August he escaped from the county jail at New Martinsville. Yesterday afternoon County Constable Newt Furber learned that White had been seen about Wileyville, and went after his man. When Furber attempted to make the arrest White whipped out a revolver and killed the constable at the first shot. Several persons, among them James Baird and John Hibbs, attempted to overpower the murderer. White, who was now thoroughly aroused, pumped cold lead into them without hesitation, bringing down Hibbs with a wound in the stomach, from which he will likely not recover, and shooting Baird in the leg. This intimidated the others, and White made his escape.

A MARYLAND LYNCHING.

Speedy Vengeance on a Negro Who Assaulted a White Woman.

NONE OF THE LYNCHERS MASKED.

The Mob Broke Through the Jail Doors with Sledges and Crowbars, and the Guilty Wretch was Hanged with a Rope Taken from an Electric Lamp.

FREDERICK, Md., Nov. 18.—James Goings, who assaulted Miss Lillie Jones, at the home of Hamilton Geisbert, near this city, Saturday night, was taken from the jail by a mob of 300 men yesterday morning and hung to a tree in a field on the Jefferson turnpike, one mile from the city.

A report reached the city about midnight, that the woman had died from the cuts and beating inflicted by the negro, and this infuriated the men, who had been gathering in the streets and discussing the outrage.

A mob was quickly gotten together, and unmasked, but armed with revolvers, the men marched to the jail. They had previously broken into a machine shop in the neighborhood of the jail and procured sledges, crowbars and files. They made at once for the door on the west wing of the jail, and began to batter upon it. Fully twenty shots were fired from the windows above by Sheriff A. H. Zimmerman and his deputies, but the mob paid no attention to them, and went on with their work. The jail bell was rung to summon assistance, but none came.

In twenty minutes the large door panels gave way under the heavy blows, and the mob burst into the corridor. They quickly overcame the slight resistance the officers on the inside were able to offer, and found the cell in which Goings, cowering and crying, was confined.

The lock was opened, the bolt swung back, and the trembling wretch seized and dragged out in his night clothes and stocking feet. In the meantime the friends of the lynchers on the outside had lowered an electric lamp near the jail and cut the rope from it, extinguishing the light.

Goings was led out amid the howls of the crowd, the rope placed around him, and he was hurried down the road to his place of doom. He protested his innocence as they dragged him along, and begged them not to kill him. He was promptly recognized by a number of men who knew him, and the mob did not hesitate in its work.

Arriving at the tree, the negro was asked to confess, but this he would not do. Two officers of the Salvation Army asked to be allowed to pray with them, and their request was granted. The Lord's prayer was then repeated, and the negro and most of the crowd joined in.

Goings' feet and hands were then tied and the rope was drawn around his neck. A man seized the other end of it, climbed the tree and threw the coil over a limb. "Let him go," was shouted, and quick as a flash he was jerked from his feet and hung dangling in the air six feet from the ground. One shot was fired into his body, and in a few minutes he was dead. The mob during the process of lynching observed order. None were allowed to fire at him except the one.

A member of the mob made a brief speech, in which he said that they were there with the unfortunate wretch not in a spirit of malice, but to make an example of him, and teach his race that they must let the women of Frederick county alone.

After watching the body swing in the air a few minutes the crowd left it dangling there and dispersed.

The assault for which Goings suffered death was a cruel and dastardly one. Miss Jones has thirteen cuts and stab wounds on her body where he hacked at her with a knife and razor. She says he asked her for something to eat, and when she gave it to him he said: "I will give you a dollar." She screamed and ran about fifty feet down the garden, where he overtook her, knocked her down and cut her, also crushing her nose.

The field in which the negro was lynched is the same spot the negro Biggins was lynched on in November, 1887.

A Priest's Wonderful Ride.

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 16.—Father John Begley, a pioneer priest stationed at Kingman, this state, has just made one of the most wonderful rides on record. Mrs. Quinlan, of New York, was dying on the ranch of her son in the wilds of the Pan Handle of Texas, and Father Begley was sent for to give her the consolation of religion. The distance was 310 miles, of which 160 was overland. Six relays of horses had been arranged for him by the ranchmen en route from the end of the railroad at Englewood, Kan. He rode the entire 160 miles in twenty-one hours and thirty minutes, and arrived at the ranch five hours before she became unconscious. He ate nothing during the trip, and took only one drink of water.

Any one who has children will rejoice with L. B. Mulford, of Plainfield, N. J. His little boy, five years of age, was sick with croup. For two days and nights he tried various remedies recommended by friends and neighbors. He says: "I thought sure I would lose him. I had seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised and thought I would try it as a last hope and am happy to say that after two doses he slept until morning. I gave it to him next day and a cure was effected. I keep this remedy in the house now and as soon as any of my children show signs of croup I give it to them and that is the end of it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by E. M. Nadal, Druggist.

THE CZAR'S FIRST BORN.

Russia's Czarina Presents the Ruler with a Daughter.

MOTHER AND CHILD DOING WELL.

Sketch of the Charming Royalist for Whose Sake Unprecedented Concessions Were Made by the Orthodox Greek Church. Her Influence Over the Czar.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16.—The accouchement of the czarina occurred last evening. At 9 o'clock a daughter was born to the czar and czarina. Court physicians in attendance at the accouchement of the czarina report the child to be a handsome girl, and they add that the mother is rapidly recovering. Services connected with the birth of the infant were held in accordance with the rites of the Orthodox Greek church. The baby has been named Olga.

The czarina (Grand Duchess Alexandra Feodorovna) was born at Darmstadt, Hesse, June 6, 1872. She was the Princess Alix Victoria Helen Louise Beatrice of Hesse, and was married to Czar Nicholas II on Nov. 26, 1894. In accordance with the laws of Russia, and by manifesto issued by Czar Nicholas on Oct. 21 (old style), 1894, she was renamed Alexandra Feodorovna, and received the title of grand duchess and imperial highness.

Princess Alix was the daughter of Grand Duke Louis IV, of Hesse, and of Alice, princess of Great Britain and Ireland, third child and second daughter of Queen Victoria. Her brother is the present grand duke of Hesse; her sister Irene is the wife of Prince Henry of Prussia; another sister, Princess Elizabeth, is the wife of Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, and her oldest sister is the wife of Prince Louis of Battenburg.

When Princess Alix was but 12 years of age, and while in attendance at the wedding of her sister Elizabeth, she met Nicholas, then grand duke, who was in his 16th year. The children became attached to each other, but the czarowitz's affection for the princess was diverted for some time. Six years later her father made a visit to the Russian court, accompanied by Princess Alix, and her presence in the Russian capital was the means of renewing their liking for each other, but as the princess was then an ardent Lutheran the question of having to become a member of the Orthodox Greek church had to be considered.

Owing to the ill health and subsequent death of the czar, Alexander III, the marriage of Princess Alix and Nicholas was hastened. Concessions, such as were never before secured in embracing the Orthodox faith, were obtained from the Holy Synod. The princess was not required to declare her former religion to be accursed, nor that her conversion was due to the conviction that the truth lies not with her own, but with the Russian church. The Holy Synod was satisfied with the simple declaration that the princess joined the Greek church in order to be of the same religion as her husband.

How Philadelphia Is Robbed.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—The senate investigating committee, after three day's sessions, adjourned yesterday until Nov. 21. The investigation thus far has disclosed much dishonesty in city contracts. It was shown that the streets have been paved in an inferior manner, though paying for superior work, and in this way alone was robbed of over $400,000 in 1893 and 1894. Though the city paid for incinerating garbage, much of it has been sold as food for hogs. It was also shown that only half the number of men called for by contracts to keep the streets clean were in reality employed, though the city paid for the full number.

Five People Drowned.

FAR ROCKAWAY, L. I., Nov. 14.—The steamer James W. Boyle was sunk off Coney Island yesterday between the bell buoy at Norton's Point and the entrance to Rockaway inlet. She carried a crew of four and Walter B. Woods, an oyster planter of Inwood, and all of them were drowned. Peter McDonald, Jr., was captain of the boat, and so far as known was in command when the accident occurred. He was 35 years old, and married. John Newbury was the mate, the engineer was named Finn and the cook Carroll.

Are you taking SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR, the "KING OF LIVER MEDICINES?" That is what our readers want, and nothing but that. It is the same old friend to which the old folks pinned their faith and were never disappointed. But another good recommendation for it is, that it is BETTER THAN PILLS, never gripes, never weakens, but works in such an easy and natural way, just like nature itself, that relief comes quick and sure, and one feels new all over. It never fails. Everybody needs take a liver remedy, and everyone should take only Simmons' Liver Regulator.

Be sure you get it. The Red Z is on the wrapper. J. H. Zellin & Co., Philadelphia.

A Vanderbilt Snub.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Barth W. K. Vanderbilt and his divorced wife, of course, were on board the steamer Falda on Saturday to say good-bye to their daughter and son-in-law, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough. While Mr. Vanderbilt was talking to the couple his divorced wife approached the two and, with one of her most diplomatic smiles, said: "Good morning, Mr. Vanderbilt." If her former husband was surprised he did not show it. With all the dignity possible he raised his silk hat, but no smile appeared upon his face, nor did he look again at the woman who had been his wife. Mrs. Vanderbilt after this cold greeting spoke a few words to the duchess and then returned to her own party, and was soon smiling and talking as if the incident related was of no consequence.

Monster Building Strike Imminent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A building strike which looks now as if it would involve 10,000 or 12,000 men, but which may affect 40,000 men, is expected to break this morning. If it becomes as bad as it threatens it will be the largest building strike which ever took place in this country. As a starter labor associations went on strike on six jobs now being worked by Milliken Brothers, and on two jobs controlled by J. M. Cornell, president of the Iron League. The cause of the trouble dates back five years, during which time a great decrease has taken place in wages. In addition to higher wages the men are asking for eight hours a day and no more.

Five Killed by a Maniac.

MARSEILLE, Nov. 15.—A wine merchant named Domergue, of Montpellier, capital of the department of Herault, who suddenly became insane, shot his wife and mother and then opened fire upon people in the street, killing three of them and wounding several others. The madman then barricaded himself in his house and fired upon the gendarmes who surrounded the building. The fire department was finally called upon to subdue Domergue, and by playing a stream of water upon him they succeeded in doing so, and he was seized and secured.

Colt Case Settled Out of Court.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 18.—The divorce case brought by Mrs. Elizabeth W. Colt against Colonel Samuel Pomroy Colt has been declared off. The official announcement came from Francis C. Colwell, solicitor for Colonel Colt. Colonel Colt is to give Mrs. Colt a reasonable allowance, but nothing like $125,000, which she demanded at one time. The suit against James J. Van Alen, the New York millionaire, for $300,000 for alienation of affections, will in all probability end with the divorce case.

Syrian Massacre Confirmed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 18.—Later advices received here from Alexandret, northern Syria, confirm the accounts of a massacre of Christians in that town, in the presence of 300 Turkish soldiers, who did not render any assistance in the suppression of the disorders. Armenians and Mussulmans accuse each other of burning the villages and of other outrages which have occurred in northern Syria.

Brazilian Monarchists Executed.

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 15.—Persons who have recently arrived here from Nechetroy announce the shooting there of twenty-seven political prisoners on Sunday morning, amongst whom were two colonels. The executed are known to have been in sympathy with the monarchial cause, which is daily gaining ground.
