OXFORD ORPHAN ASYLUM CHOIR.

Greeted by a Large Audience at the Opera House—The Entertainment a Glorious Success.

The choir of twelve children from the Oxford Orphan Asylum, accompanied by Miss Ether Finlator, the vocal instructor, and Supt. N. M. Lawrence, arrived Thursday on the 1:30 p. m. train from Fayetteville. They were met at the train by Grand Master Moye, Mr. J. D. Bullock, the Master of the Masonic Lodge, Mr. D. Oettinger, Chairman of the Asylum Committee, Rev. Mr. Davis, the pastor of the Christian church and several others of our citizens. Any one who witnessed the reception of the visitors would have thought that it was a welcome to ones own children who had been off on a long visit and were just returning home. Mr. Oettinger seemed to be in his glory, and every one of the children seemed to want to go with him. Children seem to know instinctively who love them, and have a way of looking through the eyes right down into the heart of a person, and they rarely make a mistake.

Mr. Lawrence and two of the children were quartered at the Briggs House, the guests of the proprietor, the others were entertained by citizens who seemed to be anxious to secure them in their homes.

The choir consists of ten girls and two boys. From our own observation and the unanimous verdict of those with whom they stayed, a more polite, lady like gentlemanly and nicer set of children never visited our town. This speaks well for the management of the Asylum and gives it a deeper hold upon the sympathies of every good man and woman, who loves humanity and believes in rescuing the destitute children of North Carolina and fitting them for lives of usefulness, making them factors for good instead of evil, thereby doing the best possible work for God and our State. Can the State or the Masons or the citizens of North Carolina spend money more judiciously or economically? We think not. These children are an object lesson wherever they go of what has been done or what may be done for the destitute and helpless orphan who otherwise would be left to the cold charity of a selfish and unfeeling world. Supt. Lawrence is not slow to recognize the great influence the sight of these children will have for putting the institution and its work in touch with the people.

The concert at night in the Opera House was just splendid—the songs were rendered beautifully, there was nothing stiff or constrained about the singing, it was more like the joyful songs of birds, so spontaneous and free. The surprise was that the voices of children could be cultivated to the compass and expression attained by them. The people were more than pleased, they were delighted. It was an entertainment of a high order and the pleasure derived beyond comparison. The recitations were beautifully and aesthetically rendered and showed training of a high order. Every Mason in the town feels prouder to day of the Oxford Orphan Asylum than ever before. The work being done reflects credit and honor on the fraternity.

The statement of Grand Master Moye in his appropriate introductory remarks that the doors of the Asylum were open to every destitute orphan in the State to the extent of its capacity, shows the broadness of Masonry and is a better exemplification of its principles than all the speeches of orators or all the homilies on its tenets which could be written. We bid it God speed upon its grand and glorious work.

The choir went out to Moyeton Friday to attend the annual Masonic picnic given by the Mason's of Joseph Warren Lodge No. 9.

Messrs. Joe Wimberly and J. B. Killebrew, who have been guests of Robert Connor, returned to Edgecombe on Saturday.

THE ORPHANS AT MOYETON.

A Large Crowd and Excellent Addresses.

The annual appearance of Dr. N. M. Lawrence, Supt. of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, with the singing class of that institution, is looked forward to with pleasure by the people of Moyeton, Stantonburg and the surrounding country.

On Friday morning this party accompanied by many friends from Wilson reached Moyeton about 11 o'clock. A game of base ball was in progress between two local nines, the proceeds being for the orphans.

A large crowd gather in the church to hear the orator of the day, Rev. D. W. Davis, of the Christian church, of Wilson. After a voluntary by the orphans, Dr. F. M. Moye, Grand Master of the Masonic Order, of N. C., in a charming introductory speech presented Mr. Davis, who entered at once upon his theme. Mr. Davis is a forcible and interesting speaker, and was at his best. He dwelt with emphasis upon the basic principles of Masonry: Faith, Hope and Charity, and by his eloquence completely captured his audience.

After a closing song by the orphans, the audience left the building and partook of the barbecue dinner prepared for the occasion, while the ice cream vendors, lemonade sellers and watermelon salesmen had their hands full in attending to orders.

At four o'clock the children from Oxford gave their entertainment of music and recitations under the direction of their instructor, the talented Miss Finlayson. Like the entertainment given in Wilson it was a success and much enjoyed.

During the afternoon there was also a ball game between Stantonburg and Black Creek, the receipts going to swell the fund for the Asylum. We learn that out of the receipts of the day there was netted the snug little sum of fifty-five dollars for this noblest of North Carolina's institutions—the pride of the Masons, and the glory of the entire State.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents and $1.00 per bottle at Hargrave's Drug Store.

Mr. C. A. W. Barham, the noted antiquarian of Durham, has been engaged by the Centre Brick ware house for the coming season. Mr. Barham has many friends in Wilson, and all of us all delighted when he gives us the benefit of his boyhood reminiscences.

SOUTHERN BIBLICAL ASSEMBLY.

Second Annual Session, Asheville, N. C., July 23 to August 12, 1895—Evangelical Inter-Denominational.

The Southern Biblical Assembly held its first session in Asheville, beginning July 18, 1895, and continuing four full weeks. Throughout the entire time the deepest interest was manifested by the citizens and by the delegates who came from all the Southern States. Toward the close of the Assembly the churches voted with greater unanimity and cordiality, inviting a similar series of meetings in 1896.

The second Assembly, beginning July 23, and continuing three weeks, will be on the same general plan as that of 1895. The time being reduced one week, the number of speakers employed will be less.

The feature for Sunday school teachers this year is a decided improvement. For this large class of Christian workers a special programme is announced, to be under the general direction of the Secretary. It is hoped that a large company will be present to take the work in this department.

The Assembly will be a rare opportunity for Ministers. To make it possible for those of limited income to attend, the local committee has secured board for them at $4 per week. All who desire to avail themselves of these terms should address Rev. M. A. Adams, Asheville, N. C., giving the time of arrival.

It is hardly necessary to call the attention of Christian people in the South to excellences of Asheville as a summer resort. Its salubrious atmosphere and mountain scenery render it the most desirable place for rest and recuperation. Withal, the city is cosmopolitan, and one may find excellent society composed of generous people from all the States.
