this is an assumed name, and that his real name is Michele Angino Golli. The murderer declares that he killed Senor Canovas "in accomplishment of a just vengeance," and that the deed is the outcome of a vast anarchist conspiracy.

He is believed to have arrived at Santa Agueda the same day as the premier, and he was frequently seen lurking in the passages of the bathing establishment in a suspicious manner. Senor Antonio Canovas del Castillo was born at Malaga, Feb. 8, 1828. He took the course in philosophy and law in the University of Madrid, and began his career as a journalist. In 1851 he made his debut, under the patronage of Senors Rios, Rosas and Pacheco, as chief editor of the Patria, in which he defended conservative ideas. About this time he published a volume of lyric poems and a series of historical papers. In 1852 he was named deputy for Malaga, and from that time to his death had never ceased to occupy a seat in the cortes. In 1856 he was charge d'affaires at Rome, and prepared the historical memorandum on the affairs of Spain with the holy see which served as a basis for the concordat.

After serving the crown as governor of Cadiz in 1855, director general of the administration from 1858 to 1861. and lastly, in that same year, as under secretary of state for the interior, the queen called him to the ministry as a member of the Mon cabinet. In 1865 he held the portfolios of finance and the colonies in the O'Donnell cabinet, and it devolved upon him to draw up the law for the abolition of the slave trade. Shortly before the revolution of 1868 he became especially conspicuous as one of the last to defend with energy in the Cortes the principle of blending liberal and conciliatory ideas with the constitutional monarchy, when all the parties that had supported this political doctrine had deserted the parliament.

He was banished a short time before the revolution occurred and took no part in it.

In the face of the triumphant revolution, after his return from exile, and in the full constituent assembly of 1868, supported by Senors Elduayem. Bugallal and two others, he hoisted the standard of legitimate and constitutional monarchy. This is his greatest title to fame. His fidelity and ability finally secured for him the supreme direction of the Alfonsist party. and on the proclamation of Alfonso XII king on Dec. 31, 1874, Senor Sanovas del Castillo became president of the council and chief of the new cabinet, called the cabinet of conciliation. He retired in September, 1875, because of the demands of the extreme conservative party, but he was called back to the presidency of the council on

The body was he scarcely knew. He gave his wife destroyed in two hours, with the exception of a few small splinters of bone. leaving. Of the fleshy substance only a small quantity of fluid, about the consistency of molasses, remained, The experiment was made under the orders of the prosecution in the case of Adolph Luetgert, the rich sausage manufacturer, who is charged with murdering his wife and disposing of her body in the vats at his factory.

The prosecution's theory has been that Luetgert placed the body of his wife in a solution of crude potash and cold water, raised the solution to a boiling point and destroyed all traces of his alleged crime. A few small bones were said to have been found in a vat in the factory. The attorneys for the state say they are entirely satisfied with the test, and declare that they believe it will go far to convict Lutgert of his alleged crime.
