HALL & SLEDGE, PROPRIETORS.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE PEOPLE

THE ROANOKE NEWS

VOL. XIV.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

WELDON, N. C., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1885.

out of her purpose.

dark, now solemnly dark eyes upon him, wise Executive Committee had selected for construction of many colored hed-quilts; to dress for an engagement due had made until he comes. You will stay, I suppose I have given my heart to you, I am holding it that fairy season when the blue or to the manufacture of worsted flowers, for twelve o'clock. Out amongst people knowing that if you site, I will put deready and willing to give my life for you, skins have enought just glimpse enough of and rustic frames. and in return, it is but right that you the coming winter's clouds to tone down Now, he stood on the portico and looked the gay throng about her helped Judithto stay (fool as I am for offering you such a should make something of your life for and soften the exuberant summer bright- over the grounds. And what a sight it reguli her usual vevacity and sparits. She price) I promise to let you go without blind to your faults."

("I should think not," interfected Heys the open air is a thing to anticipate be- derival Educated Pig, to be seen behind depressed and tired that she suddenly re- ecived. wood impatiently.) "I love you in spite forehand and dream about afterwards, the tantalizing canvas. The Hobby solved to go home that day, instead of David wondered that he could live and of them," she went on unbiceding his And possessing then the advantage of horses under their variegated canopies waiting over far the last ball, a resolution listen to such work as these. A dagan speech, "because I see in you the power unlimited accessibility and perfect weather whiched around, sending thrills of delight due carried out in spins of the remonst times during the speech he had been to overcome them. And away there in it is not to be wondered at that crowds through their gayly dressed, grinning ristrance, and entratics of the admiring tempted to throttle the speaker, but stern the South, far from old temptations, you flocked to the grounds, annually, render, ders. The wheels of fortune turned and unscalar attachants who had made a as the words serve David saw a desire to and Falone together, you will have time ing each Fair; in the language of news- their eloquent owners raked in the silver little group of countiers for her throughout shield him in them, he saw that Mr. and strength to grow into the hero that it papers, "an inpres d mird success." Nor quarters the tables of the Cheap Johns the Fairis in you to become. I mean to make a is it surprising that amongst this mass of guttered with their taking wares, the booths mass of participation of you. Heywood," she said with human beings some of that evil which, show out in tempting arrays of red apples, "Thursday mucht after buving the faither But the torum of the last sentence "Tell flashing energy, "whether you want to be since the serpent crept into Eden has ever yellow oranges and transparent mulagar was more first by his day of pleasure than no one but Margaret Hamilton?" Was STORES IN COLUMN were lost on Heywood. He had suspected evil was in the shape of the gamblers who well groomed horses, so that they reared put on his working clothes the next mind Margaret's promithis project of hers, and had determined frequented the neighboring village during and plunged or calloped off, always at the morning, he removed from his vest pocket "Whatever happens to either of us,

"I am a promising subject," he said, and live in easy indolutes for months, and it ! who has made bimself-like the Wild ily. She had ordered bundsome dresses Irishman whom you and Margaret exalt as for the day, and for the balls at night, quickly, wounded by his wilful miscon- pleasure of wearing them would be gone scopic picture of color, motion and please dressed. prehension. "It is strange to me that 1 for her. At least she funcied it would, use, that it was a treat for any one who "It is lacky there are no this was in this can so throw away my energy and my until the dresses came, then when she had sympathy with, or power of enjoyment part of the country" he said as he looked There was a suspleion of contempt in ont, one by one, the lastrous silks, such Judith, by right of her leasty and wit, angry than ever. I am at least man enough to stand plation and a breathloss desire to be sure that. waves of wounded pride, of yearning love, on; and when, at length slie put on a and just anger, beat one against the other, wonderful ball dress of shimmering yellow. was conscions of nothing but sufficiating sunshine, the picture of glowing beauty unless their very stillness showed it :

from this moment." "As you please," Heywood said, as long absent from Judith?

Edgerton ?"

the better word for us two." If Judith had studied her course she pain. But there was a vast reserve force she presented was such as to make her about Judith; and rising now, she said two admirers solemnly determine that Ju- the ball to-night." with no trace of emotion in her still tones, dith-and her dresses, should be seen at "Yes, Ushal," H-ywool said, "you the Fair. "It is best, and I adopt your suggestion But not even in these absorbing circumstances could the thought of Herwood be the liked Heywood better sime jealousi's the numbers. quietly. "Shall I hid you good-night, Miss -I wonder it Heywood would like this," she said, thinking aloud, as she "Tell me good-lege," she answered, "it is hocked at herself in the mirror.

garet who, to tell the truth, rejoized in in the safe and I came off with the key and could not have adopted a better one for Hoywood's defection, "and if he wouldn't combination in my pocket." keeping Heywood. His vanity was stung there will be plenty at the Fair who do.

ing up to where David was at work So David left them, standing together,

The shadow of a smile flitted over Ju- commoncemet of the Roanoke Agricultu- as length walked through Floral Hall. "One more day to go through with" words," he added as David sprang hally dith's face at his survey and his speech; ral Fair, an event which made the lands coming out of it with the conviction that Judith thought as the sun woke her from to his fact. -I cannot do without you but she was not to be laughed nor conried mark of the year in Fairfax sounty. The half the women and all the little girls in what had been too the more triumph of just now, until I get some Fair grounds had been located near a Fairfax and adjoining counties, gave their physical farigms over mental worry, and place. I will telegraph for another norm "Heywood," she said, turning her large town where four Railroads met and the undivided attention to the invention and looking at her watch she saw it was time to shy, and I mean to trust you to stay me. You can do it, but not unless you ness which still lingers in them, when the was! The flaming pictures of the side was Heywood only once but that was molesting you or mentioning the that to eave the temptations and associates you roses bloom out in varied loveliness, as if shows fluttered in the breeze, giving dis- enough to show him he was drinking any one except perhaps Margaret Hamilhave made for yourself here. I am not to prochim that if their life is to be short torted though still allaring representations heavily, and as the shadows of evening ton, she has believed in you as much as I it shall at least be glorious, when a day in of the wonderful Fat Boy or more wone commenced to leagthen Judith grow so have and it is right she should be under not to yield to it. It was had enough for Fair week and won many a hard carned most opportune moment for displaying the keys to the safe and the little slip of Cahal, I will always believe in you? a Moniferi to have to marry for conven- dollar from the young fellow who played their own fine points, or those of their paper with the figures of the combination way the memory southed him, and he said ience and live out his days in Fairfax, "enclosing "just for fun" as well as matters. Handsome carriages fail of only and put them, with some small quietly to Mr. Trenton. I can expect but to go and bury himself on a yellow from the men who joined in Faro for presty women drove slowly about the had, change to had, and a five distar bill, on mothing more of you, I will stay. But fever farm, was out of the question. That gain. Sometimes a home gambler would every of the Hall was transformed into the table. After winding his watch be let us look over the books together, there Judith should ask such a sacrifice initia be "in lack" however. Heywood Mont- tiers of beauty, plannes, and lace-trianned looked to see the time, and finding it only may be some mistake in the in."

swering her last sentence. "But I wonder was a hope of like success which made to take part in the coming race. The lay down and commenced reading, as he chance, and the two searched the backs that a woman who requires so much him now indifferent about making up the bands played stirring much, to which the had fallen into the babit of deing. But carnestly, but they were correct institushould write her time in trying to make a brack with Judith. Judith hered went hum of harghter and talk made account the page grow dan to his eyes, then the correct, and towards sunset. Mr. Towards more I wonder that she doesn't take one about her preparations for the Fair wear primers, the engines shricked as the essible education has band, and when he left the factory more distressed and management. meaning that Heywood should be there glorified and intensified the score, and all saw that he had slope all night with his there and pondered and "I wonder at myself," Judith replied ongly proud of her-and now all the of these elements made up such a kaleide- door wide open and himself but half un- well-nigh went mad over the mystery the and Margaret opened the box and took to behold it.

her voice, which made Heywood more thorough women were they both, that had no need to sean vehicles anxionsly. they and old Mrs. Edgerton with them, The owners of vehicles rather scanned the Suppose you take them both back forgot everything else in pleased content grounds for her, and, so surrounded and sought was she, that it was not until hate ; that they fitted. To prove which last, in the day that Heywood studied up to asbop until Saturday afternoon. Mr. At these words a tide of feeling, where Judith immediately began trying them her when she and David were "tanding Trouton who had been about for a few alone together for a few moments.

"Good bye," David said, a minute after rushed over Judith, and for an instant she which, Margaret and, looked like woven Heywood enne "I must be starting home." "You surely aren't going" Judith ex- suid, "I want to pay a man for some claimed "I thought you ment to stay to estion.

> would enjoy it. Why not stay, I will better than you. introduce you-"Thank you," David answered, cordially were out of the way) "I wish I could stay, but, you know, I sheep at the factory; and I am especially anxious to be there until he came out with a stern, set look

"Of course he would," answered Marto-night, as there is a large sum of money.

"The eash in the safe is short by $500,00, "Why you are mistaken that's all again, the fresh air and the sumshine and tives on your track instantly, while if you

NO. 31.

Trenton was acting justly even generously.

been attendant upon man, was to be found. grapps. The murshals, their blue saches he would have been by a week of work, it David's guardian angel who in that But her beauty, her devotion, her spirit In this case the most pronounced form of fiying in the wind, skilfully managed their He took off his coat, and, intending to moment of agony recalled to David's fort had once won money enough here to parasols, the jockeys in their respective eight o'clock he devided not to retire at Mr. Trenton turned at this, willing and colors role or led the race horses that were one. So placing the lamp by the hed he auxious to give the young num every cursion trains brought fresh crowds to the awake with a start, it was to find his lamp bled from this discovery than he had been grounds. And the bright Fall sanshine burning freely in the bright daylight, and for many a long day, while David as: arrounded him and the represent that had fidlen upon him

DAVID E. POUTE, Prepristor, BALTIMORE, MD.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS. W. H. KITCHIN.

W. A. DUNN. COUNTY ATTORNEY

KITCHIN & DUNN. ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

SCOTLAND NECK, N. C. marinf

F. H. Bushee and Mr. R. at Law, have formed a practice of law in H

F. H. BUSHEE, R. H. SMITH Jr. SCOTLAND NECK, N. C.

the large range is a support of the large stands, being with second finite scale it was the beau three the pairs of parting bull as well As L & the versus as bless (). ant love you, and I would not dare discorn Clance of love to you -white from this part in your -white from this part is a grant denote To say what was not from, mound have you ! where your should be form to recently and all they be indicated Written For The Hersteine NE BY QUANKEY'S STREAM. CORDIAL

ICANNOT LOVE YOU.

A STORY BY E. C. .

CHAPTER-IX.

A CHAPTER OF MANY THINGS.

The June brightness grew into July ultriness, and this in its turn ripened into

August and September fruitfulness, and oching whatever was best in them all,

The next annual Fair of the R.A.T. R Agricultural Society will be held

BOWELS&CHILDRENTEETHING Walter A. Taylor, A bottle, bend is should use the Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Swee

ADVERTISEMENTS.

FOR SALE BY BROWN & SIMMONS. WELDON, N.C.

November

9th 10th 11th 12th

Judith and Heywood had become con fessed engaged people, but their wooing was occasionally tempestuous. Heywood had been exceptionally lucky at the earltable recently; and with the return of ### her her board and a small surplus in monin payment of the rent. David Cahal had been made the trusted perintendent of the factory, which was finished now, and which already promined o become romunerative. David and Mar-

only once had David referred to his lowfor her: then she told him soily that there was no room in her heart for such thoughts yet. "If the time ever comes-when 1 can listen, I will tell you." she said, and constancy, and whispering too a tender doubt of her own feelings, encouraged and went on content to show his love by the #### will, (from excess of legal caution, peoplesaid.) left to "my dear child, known as Margaret Hamilton," the pretty home place, which, with its small farm of fifty eres, was all that the war: security debts and natural earclessness of money had left for the lawyer to dispose of. And with n model." the strong local attachments peculiar to ted him.

dined all the kind offers made her, decid ng to remain at her own home with a arried couple who rented it, and offered affection."

thin

garet met often, especially since she had opened a little school in the village, but this speech full of faith in his unfailing satisfied David. So holding his peace, he earnest, honest, manly life he led, and by the chivalrous tenderness of his manner to r a the second s Standard Strate ON ALL

ROADS

Varying in price from FORTY TO ONE HUNDRED OIL ARS. th nearly double the pelo SETS OF JEWELRY

HELP TO SAVE

By fouring the greatest Bargain ever off-red in a

GOLD HUNTING WATCH

atted different styles of

NOS, PINS, EAR-HINGS, CUPP BUTTO STUDS, COLLAIDS, BUTTONS, BEAUCHERS, SILVER SPONS, PORKS, 47, CIOK ES, PLATED CASTORS, ICE PITCH

(SUCCESSOR TO J. T. Y. & BRO.)

MANUFACTURERS OF

FINE CARRIAGES, BUGGIES

and

HARNESS

AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

SADDLERY AND HARNESS.

LINE LL.

Nos. 24 and 26 Union Street

S FAPALETI .

J. W. YOUNG.

Petroshitry, Va.

& SO

NORFOLK, VAL

ARTICLES FOR EXHIBITION

TRANSPORTED

10-1月1日間間 AND CAREFULLY ATTENDED TO.

A LARCE NUMBER OF じしい ぶずのめんが PREMIUMS

OFFERED.

The Racing will be unexcelled. For information apply to the Se Weldon, N. C.

ant mainterence, and his can tion told him it was unwise thus to give his suit. Onick witted Judith was not up an engagement which might serve him low to see and feel this change; but it me day. uly intensified the longing she felt to

"You mean to say," he exclaimed, "that match him away from temptation. It way this longing, this saving instinct of after I have held you in my arms and deep, unselfish love, that made her firm kissed you as my promised wife, that you saw Judith, whose popularity was confirmcan let me go like this !" he and Herwood stool in the old terraced garden, and watched the chint of the mposed of loving memories, swept over as sented in a dashing "turn-out," beside a onbeams on Quankey's stream, as it abbled softly along at the foot of the sad waters lingered in the giri's sad eyes of Floral Hall, where, to further grace

"When we are married, Heywood," Judith said suddenly, "we will live on joy of keeping Heywood near her? But on her short walk to the Hall entrance. figger stream than Quankey. You know to save him from being lost she must be my Texas plantation is right on the Bras firm; and thus the Divine characteristic of saw Judith, too, with a hearty pleasure in Only a few hours those were; but an hearty no river, and that is where I mean we true love, the willingness to suffer that it her beauty and this spontaneous recogni may save, strengthened her to say still tion of it. For, like his sweetheait, Mar finaly, though her voice was lower than garot. David had in an eminent degree "Oh ! had we some bright little isle of our own in a blue summer ocean, far off hefore and alone." lightly unoted Herwood to

"I mean just that Heywood. I will let whom this fancy of Judith's was not alto- you go-though it should kill me rather "We can't have the island, than be your wife and see you kill your this quality to its utmost, the sector ave the farm, is that your self, body and soul, here. Either you etermination, Gypsy? I hope not," he consent to go to Texas with me," she said mting of looking serious, but speaking with a flash of her usual temper, "or you half jestingly still, "because to tell you tell me good-bye now, farence, frankly. I find in myself none of the qual quite at liberty to choose. wary for Robinson Cruspe; of As if to leave him still more at liberty you mean to assume the leading she walked away from him and stood ole, I am still more unfitted to play your alone. Perhaps in all his life Heywood had never been so near to laving Judith nau Friday. For once his pleasantry failed to bring en the faintest smile to Judith's lips, ed her admiringly as the moonlight fell nd the paleness, which, with her, always like some fine cameo, with the dark shrube with deep feeling, spread lover, her bery to define and throw it out. But it hee, as she said firmly, yet, like a woman is not easy for a man like Herwood to laying her hand caressingly on his arm: holiana his monter stand

"Howwood I am not justing new We believe his poorer gone over a woman who must talk seriously. Come here and sit that if he did not yield. Judith would on the steps, and listen to me." sooner or later, he walked over to her Heywood had never seen exactly this

said, with comic resignation:

and fitter, such a night as this,

and holding out his hand, said caluly : expression on his fignere's fair face before. o(lood-bye. nor heard exactly this tone in her usually laughing voice. He began to set dially placed her hand, cold as i.e. in his and that what he had colled daring and dash said calmly too said caluly, too, ing in the old Judith, was deepening into

"final-bye." strong headed and strong willed thinking in the unwestand Mr. Montfort objected to photic shadows fell upon Judith as she sat for a drive around the race-track. either lecturing, or guidance. He howthere, amongst the flowers, and wranped ever sat down beside her submissively, her as in a garment of loneliness and woo and possessing himself of one of her hands. Alas! that loving innocence should be

"Go on, Madame, and talk business, misunided will ! though love would be so much pleasanter

By which speech Margaret might have made for herself the position of a prophotoss. Heywood beheld the fulfilment her, rushed up to beg that he might take of the prophecy with a pang suspiciously her to the ball that night, a request which after you have told me you loved me, like jealousy when on Thursday of the Judith granted graciously, smiling more Fair as he stood near the race-track, he brightly because of her plane that Hey wood had failed to ask the same pleasure ed by the success of the preceding day and Heywood, out of sorts with himself and

And again a tide of feeling, this time night, looking animated and beautiful, impatient at her indifference to him strolled away from her as hally as he had Judith, and some of the drope from its dashing marshal she was driven in front approached her. And going out of the rounds he looked for David, failing to How gladly for her own sake would she her triumph, half a dozen other beaux find him in the surging crowd he (or have counted the world well lost for the contended for the honor of attending her boarded the train for Fairfax and removed to Z on the train which reached David Cahal, who was standing near there from Fairfax at ton o'clock at night. ways a life sometime

When the ball same, and Judith prayed in her vellow ball-dress she mor the quick sympathics which enable one t han over institled the truth of Marcar enter into and enjoy the enjoyment of et = prophe others. And to-day he was exercising cidedly and perceptibly the belle of the evening. But ah ! the variety of earthly around him coming to him also with the pleasures? Each time the doors opened a pair of eager eves rested on them; and Thursday morning dawned apparently each time they shat, after admitting an You are with the intention of being the most a unfamiliar form, a woman's heart throbbed slating of days. The sun shows with bitter disappointment, and long bebrightly that the fortunate possessor of a fore the lovely Miss Edgerton had danced new dress, or a fine figure might easily her last gay dance or made her last laugh was conscious that a closk would be for weary, I'm a weary. He cometh upon her exquisite profile making it look her a very mantle of charity, covering a and when after the ball she went to multitude of short comi costume, might contentedly don, the gatwhatever her feelings might be. And the wood back by them the strong vitality rowds grew greater and greater at the within her gave way for the first time in looking at him frankly "it cannot be ne Fair and consisted of all classes, from the hor young life, and laying her head on negro girl in tawdry finery who considered the pillow she finished the verses sally:

display it by dispensing with a wrap, ing speech Miss Edgerton, though had conscicutionaly gone around examin- he had, or could borrow was swept away. ing the exhibition; had discussed with Mr. One more night to retrieve my forty of his fat hog, had thrown some corn and weary he fell asleep in the early did not long hold. for David replied though a flush rose to his sight of Judith, an ardent face at the tone of the man young fellow who had been hunting for them. And with this comforting convic tion as to the honesty of his surrounding days come down to the factory that after

"Give my the safe key, Cahal" he

"Let me get the money for you," David

"No," Mr. Trunton answered kindly

He romained a long time in the office,

"How is this, Cahal?" he asked walk-to long that David forgot he was there,

you are busy and I can get it. Give me

said, obligingly, "I know the combination noun.

on his face.

BUSBER & SMITH "Come and see" were the brief words

Mr. Trenton spoke. Confident of proving his mistake him David went with him readily, and unlocking the safe commenced counting the money. Mr. Trenton standing silently by and watching him. His face naled at the first counting and he went over it all again. Mr. Trenton was right "the cash was short by $500,00" and the denvit was in the five and ten dollarshills "You are right." David said, his face as white as death now that I cannot un derstand it. No one has had the key, m one knows the combination but you and myself. I carried the key and the numbers with me to the Fair yesterday. I know one way" David exclaimed "I fell asteep Thursday and slopt all night with my door unlocked and these things on table. But that does not explain it," he said, his face falling again "for nobody naw me come in and besides my watch and five dollar bill and $1,50 in silver were on the table when I awoke, just as I had left them. If thieves had entered my room they would have taken them too. So that idea doesn't secon reasonable."

"No," Mr. Tronton said, "that doesn't eem reasonable.

"And he locked the safe putting the key in his own pocket, and David noticed that he changed the combination. For a moment David felt it would be beneath him to notice the suspicion he saw in his employer's face and manuer. But at cast he would make him declare what h suspected. "Mr. Trenton," the young tellow said cessary for me to assert my entire ignor ance as to how this came about?

The perfect sincerity of his voice, the frank honest look in his eyes almost dis armed Mr. Trenton's suspicion, but he had an abiding belief in "facts and figures," a have yo

and disregarding his impulse to trus at a gaming table, now winning, now los- David in spite of "facts and figures," he

"It is unnecessary for you to assert any thing. We may as well understand each other now." Mr. Trenton continued, con This rupture between Judith and Hey- to the pair of Brahma chickens, had exam- morning to sleep the sleep of exhaustion followed. "I do not mean to arrested. Don't put on airs at

THOMAS N. RILL. Attorney at Law HALIFAX, N.C. Practices in Hallfax and adjoining of Aug. 28 tf. W. NASON Attorney at Law. GARYSHURG, N.C. ctices in the courts of Northempton and ad-g continues, also in the Federal and Supremo WALTER E DANIEL Attorney at Law WILDON, N. C. Practices in Hallfin and adjoining cou W W. HALL, Attorney at Law. WELDON, N. C. pecial attention given to millections and remit-MULLEN & MOORE,

Attorneys at Law

HALIFAX, N. C.

a committee of Halifan t and Martin-In the in the Federal Comm

DR J. E. SHIELDS.

DR. E. L. HUNTER surgeon Dentist

wood took place just one week before the ined keenly the machinery exhibit; and had | far into the bright day.

ment without fear of looking two warm

the young halles in "silk attire," who from pleasure of entire novelry.

So they parted; and one of the pro- owner, they might calculate their chances wood, as desperately and constantly he sat

made to suffer for guilty weakness, or Edgerton the vast and manifest superiori- tune in," thought Heywood, as worn out while there was still such a briskness in as he was at this moment when he watch-the air, that the less favored fair one who whispering to herself these l generally she was not given to poetry, was room in the wee sina' hours and one by one laid away the decorations she had hope to win Hey.

a ride on the "hobby horses" (paid for by "Pm a weary, I'm a weary Au' I would "She glanced up at him swiftly, then her ebony escort,) the some of bliss, to that I were dead.

She would have said them ever the veranda of Floral Hall, eagerly scan- saily could she have looked into another ned each passing vehicle, that, from its room of the same hotel and beheld Hey- far stronger belief than he had in mer

David had come to the fair early and ing, then losing, losing, losing 'till all that said:

scious of a hesitation in saying what