

THE ROANOKE NEWS

THURSDAY JANUARY 7, 1892

AM A DEMOCRAT.

This is and has been the platform of David B. Hill, late Governor of New York and now Senator from that State in the United States Congress. He not only says he is a Democrat but has proved it in one of the most important political battles ever fought in his State. His voice was not only heard in the campaign which elected Mr. Flower Governor of the Empire State, but after the election he snatched victory from defeat and by his efforts the State has for the first time in many years a Democratic Legislature. Not only does this last achievement prove his Democracy, but his courage, persistence and ability have all been exercised for the party and the party's principles ever since he has occupied the gubernatorial chair, in the face of an adverse partisan legislature composed of and counselled by the most astute Republican leaders and politicians in the State, who ever sought to entrap him into some political blunder or illegal act. But he was always more than equal to their machinations and plots.

But the crowing glory of his gubernatorial career was his wresting the Legislature from the Republicans and thus making possible the execution of the will of his people, when the entire Republican and Independent press of the State were denouncing him and his purpose, and even when he received a lukewarm support from some of his own party. What his enemies termed "stealing" the Legislature has been shown to be only justice by the Supreme Court of Appeals, the highest judicial tribunal of the State, and their denunciation of his so-called illegal methods recoils on their own heads.

Governor Hill has the ability and nerve and "backbone" necessary for a leader, and he has proved himself entitled to all the honor and praise which have been heaped upon him by those who believe in such a Democrat as he has shown himself to be.

The Albany Express which is a Republican paper, and let no opportunity escape to denounce the ex-Governor and his efforts in behalf of the Democratic party is candid enough after his success to say the following of Senator Hill:

"David B. Hill to-day stands the most successful political manager the State of New York has ever produced, and brilliant party managers have been brought forth here. Aaron Burr was a master of politics. Martin Van Buren and Sam. J. Tilden were brilliant lights, but David B. Hill could have given points to both. He is a great general. His brilliant audacity, his ability to snatch all that the present opportunity affords; his fearlessness and firmness; his courage in speaking and acting, make him a leader who is certain to gain a great following, unless he suffers a monstrous fall—and that does not seem to be probable just now.

The Governor has been described as a "peanut" politician, but a politician who takes a position which is affirmed by the high and honorable Court of Appeals of the State of New York is one who must command the respect of all men in his party who admire intellectual daring.

The Raleigh Signal, Republican, says that "masterly inactivity" should be the policy of the Republican party of North Carolina next year. "It costs money to run a campaign in North Carolina," it says. The Republican party has no money and will not get any from the national committee next year. Some money may be spent in a few Congressional districts but not a dollar will be spent trying to elect a vote of any Southern Vest Virginia."

ENFIELD NEWS.

The readers of your excellent paper will be glad to hear that Dr. J. A. Collins and Mrs. George Heptinstall are improving. They have been sick about two weeks. Our mayor, Mr. E. T. Branch, is on the sick list.

I hear that the merchants will take a hand in the next campaign. Their demand is the repeal of the purchase tax. They will see to it that the nominations to the House of Representatives and the Senate will go to men pledged to carry out the above demand.

Mr. Leon, one of our merchants, left Sunday for New York, which city he will make his future home.

Mr. Tom Goodrich has bought a half interest in Mr. Roseman's business and now the firm goes as Roseman and Goodrich. M.

PANACEA SPRINGS.

Well, such things will sometimes happen about Christmas, but it was provoking to have my nice Christmas letter to the News wishing it and everybody a merry Christmas and happy new year handed back to me several days after with the excuse, "Boss, I 'clare 'fore gracious, I forgot to drop it in." It was too late then, and now all the merry days have passed, and a year of work looms up in the near future.

We had a quiet time during the holidays. Only one fracas, wherein one colored man downed another with a stone, the other man as soon as he could get his gun fired on him, putting several small shot in his face and head. The parties left for regions unknown. Women and wine were at the bottom of it.

La Grippe is prevalent in this neighborhood. In some families there are not enough well ones to attend to the sick.

Mrs. John Thorne is very sick at Dr. Alston's in Littleton where she was taken while on a visit.

Two nights ago some one stole an ox from Mr. Charles Alston. Also one from Oliver Solomon and one from Henry Alston. They were very large fine oxen.

While Mr. John Patterson and Mr. D. C. Alston were out bird hunting yesterday, Mr. Patterson accidentally stung Mr. Alston with a couple of shot. One went through his ear and the other struck him on his Adam's apple and rebounded.

RINGWOOD NEWS.

The holidays passed off with but little excitement and everything but hard times and the grippe get on as usual. Several are sick with colds, among them S. S. Norman, Esq., and Mr. Ed. Wills, of Brinkleyville. Mr. Wills, I learn is quite sick. He is a clever Christian gentleman and many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. Cole with C. A. Williams is burning tobacco beds for plants. By the way he received more premiums and higher prices for tobacco than any one in this section this season.

There is a regular furor for C. A. Williams anti dyspeptic spring water. Thousands of gallons weekly are drunk by the ailing portion of our community and much is being shipped. I have found it highly useful in cases where a diuretic was needed. Also as a preventive of fermentation of food in indigestion or dyspeptic cases for which it is highly beneficial and deserves a trial in all such cases. It would seem from the benefit many are deriving from its use that nature with a lavish hand has prepared a laboratory in our midst that will prove a boon to afflicted humanity.

The family of Rev. Dr. A. S. Smith have moved to your city. They will be badly missed here. His daughter Mrs. Harrison, is a kind and sympathetic lady, always foremost in good works and her ministrations at the bed side of the sick and distressed will cause prayers for her happiness to follow her in her new home. Her sons Dr. A. S. and George Harrison are clever young gentlemen of the purest morals and gentlemanly deportment and an acquisition to any community and an ornament to any society. They seem to act from the highest humanly principles taught in the following verses: "God asks not to what sect did he belong, But did he do the right or love the wrong?" G. E. M.

"Now is the winter of our discontent made glorious summer" by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This wonderful medicine so invigorates the system and enriches the blood that cold weather becomes positively enjoyable. Arctic explorers would do well to make a note of this.

THE PATHOGENIC MICROBE.

Or poison bearing germ, exercises a most destructive influence, and is continually waging war against health. Innumerable is this mighty foe, and but few escape his injury. Entering the system through the blood, this poisonous germ infects every part of the body, and spreads its deadly virus everywhere. Under ordinary conditions it multiplies rapidly, and soon maintains a stronghold upon the human system. To overcome this enemy, and to its destruction has for... labors have at last... and a most... made

OBITUARY.

Mrs. LOUISA CHEEK died at the residence of her husband, F. J. Cheek, Esq., in this place, on Tuesday the 29th of December, after an illness of about three weeks, brought on by an attack of the grip. Mrs. Cheek was a daughter of the late Col. Willis Johnston, a prominent citizen of this county, whose family was and is numerous and influential in this section of the State. She was born in 1825, and was consequently in the 67th year of her age. She was married in 1845 and her married life was singularly happy in the love of her husband and children, only one of whom survives her. A part of her married life was spent in Warren county, but her husband's residence in that county having been destroyed by fire some years after they moved there—they came to live in this county on a farm owned by them, about three miles from town, and there remained until seven or eight years ago when they moved to town to live.

Mrs. Cheek early in life connected herself with the Methodist Episcopal Church and lived a consistent Christian life, having a lively faith in the promises made to the faithful and proving her faith by her works.

Reared in luxury and refinement, with a mind well trained and cultivated, she still possessed that sweet humility which adorns and strengthens every good quality both of mind and heart, and when the dark days of 1865 dawned upon the South and she realized that she with thousands of others had been deprived of much that she had been accustomed to from her birth, with the strength of character and the powers of endurance which made Southern womanhood the admiration of the world she adjusted herself to the difficulties of the new regime and the privations made necessary by the failure of Southern arms with a courage which neither the dark past nor the gloomy future could shake, because founded on the rock of the Christian religion of which she had been a true exemplar. No unavailing regrets were hers; no discontent, no sorrowful comparisons; but decisive, cheerful attention to the duty of the hour, thinking more of others than herself, thus wresting happiness from misfortune, where other and weaker women succumbed to what they thought inevitable.

But probably her gentle disposition and lovely character shown most brightly in the home, by the family fireside; for there she found her greatest pleasure. Devoted to her home and family she always made it attractive and was rewarded for her constant care and affection by the love of all its members, and those of them who survive her will feel most keenly their loss and miss the tender love and care of the wife and mother. But the consolation remains to them that she has entered into rest.

Nor will they think she suffers. Wherever she lived she made friends, and among her relatives and present and former neighbors there are many sad hearts who will lovingly remember her many admirable qualities.

Where she was best known she was best loved, and well may all emulate the example so worthily set by her, and following in her footsteps receive the fulness of the reward which is laid up for the righteous and which she has been called to enjoy.

King of Medicines

Scrofulous Humor—A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well."

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but I was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then

HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.
