Rose Tobacco Cure!

WHAT IT IS DOING.

I received Tablet about six days ago and commenced using according to directions, and can say now that I am cured of the habit of chewing and smoking, contracted about thirty-seven years ago. What are your terms to agents? I want two counties. Cleveland, Miss. E. C. Hopkins.

I have used the Rose Tobacco Cure with happy results.

Please give me all the particulars in regard to agency, for one or more counties.

Yours respectfully, W. D. Braswell.

Valdosta, Ga.

I sent you a month ago for a Tablet of Rose Tobacco Cure. It broke me of the habit after using tobacco for fifty-seven or fifty-eight years. Yours, J. C. Powell.

Travelers Rest, Ala.

I purchased a Tablet of Rose Cure some two weeks since and it has cured me. Please let me know if you will let an agent have as much territory as a State. Tibbeestation, Miss. J. H. Ryland.

Rev. Mr. Onland, of this city, has used your Rose Tobacco Cure and he says it has cured him of the habit of tobacco using. I have been chewing and smoking for 45 years and yet am determined to quit. Please find enclosed $1.00. Send me a Tablet. Jacksonville, Fla. Yours, W. E. Hatter.

Sometime ago I ordered from you a box of the Snuff Cure for myself. It gave perfect satisfaction and completely cured me of the Snuff habit in a few days. I would like to secure the agency for this section. Summit, Ala. Mrs. Carry Haden.

AN OLD CASE.—All that want to quit the use of tobacco, use the Rose Tobacco Cure. I am a free man after using it 55 years. Give terms to agents. Yours, Valley Head, Ala. R. S. Price.

I write this to say to you that the Rose Tobacco Cure is a wonderful stuff. I have used tobacco in all shapes for 46 years, and after using one Tablet all desire is gone. I used two Tablets to be sure of a cure, but one did the work. Dr. R. M. Tucker.

IT WAS BABY'S CRADLE.

THE CRADLE WAS EMPTY AND HER HEART WAS BROKEN—SHE COULD NO LONGER LIVE IN THE HOUSE THAT BABY HAD LEFT.

Detroit Free Press.

There was a resting spell with the auctioneer, and the reporter standing by his box looked at him.

"Gone!" inquired the reporter, as the auctioneer sat down, tired.

"Well, I've been going all the morning and I ought to be," responded the auctioneer.

"You ought to be a funny man, a great American humorist, or something of that sort," suggested the reporter.

"Josh Billings was one and he got his start at the block," said the auctioneer, reflectively, "and some auctioneers are given to that sort of thing yet. I was that way myself when I first began, but I had an experience that cured me of the habit before it had fixed itself permanently."

The reporter turned a face of interrogation points on the auctioneer and he went on.

"I was called on once to sell by auction a lot of household furniture belonging to a man and his wife who had been married four or five years. All I knew about it was that a death somewhere necessitated their removal from my town and, as they had no money were compelled to sell their effects to get enough to move on. Well, I was having a picnic in my young and foolish way, guying and bantering and making brilliant and witty side marks on the articles as they came under the hammer so to speak, though I don't remember ever having used a hammer or seen any other auctioneer use one. After I had disposed of a lot of stuff a cradle was put up. There were several young men of my acquaintance in the crowd, and I smiled at them as I turned the cradle around and began to rock it, humming a lullaby as I did so. 'Empty is the cradle, baby's gone,' I said, and was going on to say something else to get a laugh, when I happened to look down into the face of a woman close to the platform I was standing on. She was dressed in faded black, evidently given her by some woman larger than she was, and there was a look in her eyes and a tension of the lines across her forehead, a pitiful weakness about her quivering lips that made me stop. She stood close, and the crowd was all at her back, so they had not noticed. She did not speak, but as I stopped she looked up at me with the tears starting, and lifting her hands in a mute appeal of remonstrance no words could describe, she gave a great sob of agony and turned away.

"I—didn't know," was all I could stammer in apology. And I didn't know that it was her baby's cradle I was selling, and because the cradle was empty her heart was broken and she could no longer live in the house that baby had left."

A STRANGE LAW.

HOW SOUTH CAROLINA WILL DISPENSE LIQUOR TO HER CITIZENS.

Asheville Citizen.

South Carolina legislation ought not to astonish anyone these days, but the remarkable law just signed by Governor Tillman, by which the State becomes custodian of the whiskey appetites of the people is certain to attract a great deal of attention. The central idea in the bill is that the State buys and dispenses all intoxicating liquors used in the State. It does so too, at a profit of 50 per cent. on whatever the liquor costs the State. There is to be a State dispensary—which sounds better than saloon—at Columbia and a head dispenser. The law requires as might have been expected, that he shall be a temperate man and give a bond of $10,000 for the faithful performance of his duties. The liquor purchased by the head saloon keeper (or dispenser) is put up in half pint bottles (nice business for the officer of a sovereign State), "and when so bottled cannot be unsealed by the county dispensers without violating the law." County dispensers are to be appointed upon petition of more than one third of the freeholders of the county, and before assuming the office he must take an oath for the faithful performance of his duty. The State charges as has been said, fifty per cent. more, "which is equally divided between the county and municipal corporation in which it is located."

A CAR LOAD OF WIVES.

IRISH GIRLS PREFERRED, AND MEN AND FARMS WAITING IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

The Rev. Father Callaghan of the Mission of Our Lady of the Rosary has received a novel request from Hotel Keeper Dineen of Huron, South Dakota, through Father Brown of St. Vincent's Church, at Springfield, South Dakota. Mr. Dineen said he and his neighbors wanted a car load of marriageable Irish girls shipped to Huron. Mr. Dineen said that husbands were as abundant as blackberries in July, and land could be had for the asking in South Dakota. Those who were not anxious to marry at once could get employment and good wages for an indefinite period.—New York Sun.

THE ROAD CONGRESS.

The committee of arrangements of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce will recommend to the road congress which meets in Raleigh today the following programme for discussion.

1. The benefit of good and permanent highways and the values saved by their use.

2. Is there any need at this time for the improvement of our public roads? The special reasons therefor.

3. The kind of roadways needed in various parts of North Carolina, and the best manner of keeping them in repair.

4. Ways and means for building good permanent public roads and maintaining them.

The committee hopes that delegates and others who have given these matters particular thought will come prepared to submit papers before the congress under either of these heads. It is expected that the proceedings of the congress will be published, including all papers of value presented. Everything now points to a large and interested assemblage of those who desire to see our public roads improved.

In chronic cases of neuralgia, rheumatism, or gout, where the disturbing cause is a certain acid which poisons the blood Salvation Oil should be used in connection with the alkaline treatment usually prescribed by physicians, which dissolves and neutralizes the poison. The liniment has the most soothing effect in lessening the inflammation and relieving the pain.

MRS. CLEVELAND.

HER CHIEF CHARM IS HER NATURALNESS AND UNSELFISHNESS.

New York Herald.

Many people have asked me, "What is the secret of Mrs. Cleveland's universal popularity?" It is not at all a hard question to answer, and I am sure that all who will know her will agree with me that it is Mrs. Cleveland's utter unselfishness which gives her a popularity which no other woman has so fully attained—I think more completely than any other woman I have ever met. Mrs. Cleveland possesses those indefinable qualities and characteristics which go to make the perfect woman. The maternal is so fully developed in her nature that she cannot see a little child anywhere, no matter how poor or ragged it may be, but she will, if possible, stop and say a kind word to it. There is one duty Mrs. Cleveland never permits another to perform, and that is to her the sweetest pleasure in life—rocking her baby to sleep every evening. No matter who may call or what may happen, the evening hour is devoted to Baby Ruth.

Mrs. Cleveland's sweetness and tenderness toward old people is always noticeable. Her patience and self-possession are remarkable. I have seen her under circumstances of the most trying nature, where most women would have shown signs of being annoyed—where an ill-mannered crowd of people in their eagerness to gain a closer view of her would almost trample on and crush her—and yet she maintained a calmness of demeanor that was marvelous.

Mrs. Cleveland is fond of her home, kind to servants, gentle to all, and yet with this sweetness of nature she possesses great firmness and individuality of character. Her word is law in her household. She has the courage of her convictions and nothing will induce her to break the rules she deems necessary to make for her daily life.

Mrs. Cleveland is devotedly attached to her husband and always says the sweetest things about him. One evening I heard some ladies in her presence, who were great friends of hers, discussing the resemblance of little Ruth to her parents. One of them said Ruth is a lovely baby and is just like her mother. Mrs. Cleveland turned and said: "Ruth is a lovely baby, but is just like her father. She has her eyes, look like me. I am sure I should not love her half so well if she did not look like her father."

A BUSHEL OF PILLS.—and every one wants to stick fast in the throat, and feels as though they did stick somewhere. Away with them and take Simmons' Liver Regulator. One half tablespoonful is a dose, and it goes down pleasantly. You'll find it a milder laxative, with no gripping and does not debilitate. It quickly relieves the system of malarial poison and Constipation, indigestion, Biliousness and Sick Headache.

When a South Carolinian wishes to purchase whiskey from a dispensary he will be required to prepare a written certificate, containing his name, age, residence, kind of liquor wanted and for what purpose. These will be entered in a book, which will always be kept open for inspection by the public.

There are a multitude of other provisions in this law. It is not believed that it can stand the test of constitutionality, in which case Tillman & Co. will probably move to change the constitution.

"Handsome is that handsome does," and if Hood's Sarsaparilla doesn't do something for you nothing does. Have you tried it?
