A Well-known Lowell Grocer Debilitated by over-and soon feels Strong and Well.

"A year ago, my partner died, and the whole burden and responsiulity of a large grocery business fell upon me. The increased care and hard work, in connection with Severely taxed my strength that I became all run down, had no appetite, was weak, nervous, and endured all the torments which headache, indigestion, general debility, and total loss of energy could possibly infliet. The medicine recommended me by my physicians did no more good than so much water. AYER'S Sarsaparilla being favorably brought to my attention, I tried it, and, in a short time, began to feel better. I continued to take this medicine for two months, at the end of which time I felt like a new man. My appetite, energy, and strength returned, my food digested perfectly, and all traces of headache and nervousness disappeared. I am convinced that if I had not taken AYER'S Sarsa-parilla, instead of being strong and well, when the warm weather set in, I should have been confined to my bed, under the doctor's care, and totally unable to attend to business. I am a thorough believer in the merits of AYER'S Sarsaparilla for restoring to healthy, vigorous action, the vital organs of the body, when they have become weakened

FARMER JONES.

THESE SIX SNEEZES DID MEAN GOOD

One day last week Former Jones sat on his fence to let his horses rest after an hours's steady plowing. Mentally, Mr. Jones is very like his horses-slow but sure. Out of the hazy nebulae of facts and figures, it takes a long time for him to formulate an idea; but once evolved it has come to stay, and if action is required, it means action for him.

"Kee hash! Kee bash! sneezed Mr. Jones six, times in succession.

"Succee on Thur sday, they say that's for good luck," said Mr. Jones to himself, "but it would be a good deal more like my luck this year, to have a bad cold coming on in my head, so as to stay the whole winter. But, come to think, Mr. Rankin said in his Thanksgiving sermon there wasn't any such thing as luck, and that every, single, simple little thing was ordered by God. It's a hard doctrine and sometimes-seems to me"-and the good farmer drew out his words meditatively, and stopped and pondered over them several minutes with deeply knitted brows.

His next remarks seemed totally irrele vant, yet his train of thought had logically led to them. "And next Sunday they are going to take up another, and an extra Home Missionary collection, to make up what's behind, and pay back what the head officers in New York have borrowed, MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS BY THE so as to keep their word good to the poor home missionaries out in the West here, and not have them suffer this winter. The innumerable host of angels and archangels must have been filled with curiosity as they looked on the wondrous spectacle of revolving worlds, conscious that the purpose of creation was yet to be revealed. The house had been built, but was without an occupant. "What shall be the shape and what the characteristics of this new being?" they asked, and the answer came back, "Let us make man in our image after our likeness."

Then he must be a creature with as pirations, with a thousand possibilities, with a royal nature, with the capacity for exercising sovereignty over physical forces and over himself, a very god in miniature, whose manifest destiny is the companionship which heaven provides.
