THE New York Sun makes the point that there is nothing in the Monroe Doctrine which precludes the United States from acquiring possessions in other parts of the world.

REFERRING to the Clark-Kellogg controversy, the Christian Advocate advises the conference to take no action that will prejudice either side, but leave the matter to be settled at the next North Carolina Conference. The Advocate also says: "We are satisfied that there are many material facts that have not yet been made public that will throw much light upon the matter."

AN exchange says that one of the officers of the battleship Texas, writing home to his wife, says that the first 12 inch shells fired by the Texas into the fortification at Santiago bore the following inscription painted upon them:
"In God we trust."
This shell to last
And knock the dragons into dust.
In memory of the Maine, sunk for living sister, the Texas.

Bro. KING, of Kingston Weekly, got off some nice little convection equips, especially the amusing one wherein the representative of this paper mistook Bro.
Varnor, of the Lexington Dispatch, for hard water at Round Knob hotel. Bro.
King, however, failed to tell of how gallantly he scoured a fair maid to Waynesville, at midnight and at home walk back to the hotel, a distance of a mile and a half.

THE House and Senate adjourned last Friday. Scenes of great enthusiasm were witnessed in the House when the gavel fell. Three cheers were given for McKinley, the army, navy, Speaker Reid and General Wheeler, the latter appearing for the first time in the chamber, the cheering for him continuing for several minutes.
An impressive concert took place by the cento House in which "Dixie" held its place with "Yankee Doodle."

THE authorities at Washington are said to be greatly disgusted that Spain and his 4,000 Cubans refused to attack Pando, and prevent his entering Santiago.
The conduct of these Cubans leads the Charlotte Observer to inquire:
"If the Cubans are not in a fight, will they be apt to make a flowing success in the way of self-government?"

IT may be remembered, however, that the Cubans are half starved, half clothed and half exhausted in the long struggle they have been engaged in for freedom, and the United States promised to step in and to the fighting for them.

WHAT a scene for an artist is that of Capt. John W. Philip, the veteran Capitan in restraining his veterans crew from cheering over the defeated, dying adversary—"Don't cheer, because they are dying." How characteristic! The "silent prayer" of thousands—the Grand Master of the universe. What a scene!
No wonder the crew then gave three cheers for their beloved commander.

THE quiet Christian "Jack Philip" is a soldier of the Cross. His action and that of his men demonstrate that in the fight for the flag of the country the principles of the Cross have dominated.

A clever trick.
It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has Lame Back and Weak Kidneys, Malaria or nervous troubles.
We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to Liver and Kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, sleeplessness and Melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor.
Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at W. M. Cohen's Drug Store.

MANY North Carolinians will feel an interest in the announcement that Gen.
Johnston Jones, formerly of Charlotte and Asheville, but for several years a resident of Los Angeles, Cal., has raised a regiment of 1,220 men and professed his services to the government. The Cameron military authorities have asked him to send in the muster rolls and it is thought he will be accepted. Gen. Jones was Adjutant General of North Carolina under Gen. Vance, and represented Bladen in the house of representatives. He was also for a time editor of the Charlotte Observer and Asheville Citizen.

A special from Jamaica, via Kingston, dated July 7th says: Assistant Naval Constructor Richmond P. Hobson, of the flagship New York and the seven-steamers, who with him sailed the latter morning and thousands of the harbor of Santiago de Cuba on June 21st, and took her shore, were commanded by the Spanish military, as thenceforth in exchange for prisoners captured by the American forces.
Hobson and his men were escorted through the American lines by Captain Gardner of the New York, who was among them. Every step of their journey was marked by the widest distinction on the part of the American soldiers, who they made all semblance of order, scrambled out of the trenches and knuckled over the feet of the other men, and many sympathizers in their escort, to see the returning heroes, and sent up cheer after cheer for the men who had passed safely through the jaws of death to save their country.

ADMIRAL SANBORN has been much criticized in Congress because of his failure to even mention Commodore Schley's name in his dispatch announcing the destruction of Cerro's fleet, when it was well known that Schley was in command and directed the fight that resulted in the destruction of the Spanish fleet, and that it was Schley that Cerro's fleet surrendered. As a result of this criticism a resolution was offered in the Senate by Senator Patterson and in the House of Representatives by Berry, of Kentucky, ratifying the thanks of Congress to Commodore Schley and the officers and men under him for distinguished services in the destruction of the Spanish fleet. Mr. Berry said in his resolution: "I propose that the officer to whom the glory is due shall be recognized. Schley is the real hero of the battle. He and the brave band of officers and men under his immediate direction are the ones who achieved the victory, and all honor should be given them."

An Ocean Horror.

SHIPS COLLIDE IN A FOG.

Terrible scene on deck—Passengers and Crew fight for the life boats.

The sinking of the French liner La Bourgoigne, last Monday, was another great ocean horror, more than five hundred souls found watery graves.

The following special, dated Halifax, N. S., July 9th tells the dreadful story.

La Bourgoigne, the French line steamship which left New York on Sunday last bound for Havre, was sunk at 3 o'clock Monday morning after a collision with the British ship Crumartyshire in a dense fog about sixty miles south of the Sable Islands. There were 716 persons on board when the collision occurred, and of these 555 were lost.

Fifty-three passengers and 119 members of the crew were rescued. Only one woman Mrs. A. LaCase, of Plainfield, N. J., was saved, and the greater part of the rescued persons brought here by the Crumartyshire were sailors and stow-away passengers.

According to a story told by Captain Headmaster of the Crumartyshire, his vessel, a full rigged sailing ship, was proceeding under reduced canvas and making about five knots an hour. The stow-away which was heard at 2 o'clock, and only the La Bourgoigne loomed up in the fog on the port bow. Nothing could be done to avoid a collision, and the vessels crashed together. The Crumartyshire struck the French liner amidships, tearing a great rent in her side. The Bourgoigne careened, and in a few moments went down side ways.

The passengers and crew rushed panic-stricken to the decks of the liner when the crash was heard and felt throughout the ship. The greatest confusion prevailed, and the life boats that were launched were quickly filled by the crew and stow-away passengers.

Some of the scenes enacted on board the La Bourgoigne just after the collision were terrible to witness. Men fought for positions in the boats like racing maiden, women were forced back from the boats and trampled by men who made self preservation their first object. On board were a large number of the lower class of Italians and other foreigners, who in their frenzy, stopped at nothing that promised safety for themselves. In a last wave party of fifty women, but so great was the panic that not a hand was raised to assist in their launching. The occupants so nearly saved, were drowned like rats when the ship, with an awful hissing sound, went down. So desperate was the situation that an Italian passenger drew his knife and made direct at one who, like himself, was endeavoring to reach the boats. Immediately his action was imitated in every direction.
Knives were flourished and used with effect, women and children were driven back to inevitable death at the point of weapons the owners of which were experts in their use. According to stories of survivors, women were stabbed like so many sheep.
