Goldboro, N. C., Aug. 5, 1902.
Gentlemen—Some six years ago I began to have sciatica, and also a chronic case of muscular rheumatism. At times I could not work at all (my business being largely made on Southern R. R.). For days and weeks at a time I could not work. My suffering was intense. Physicians treated me, without permanent relief, however. Tried a number of advertised remedies without permanent benefit. Finally I tried "RHEUMACIDE." In the week, and I have had excellent health for three years. I can cheerfully say that all rheumatisms should use "RHEUMACIDE," for it is by far the best remedy.

SYMPATHY OUT OF PLACE.

THE ONLY WAY TO OFFER HELP IN SOME INSTANCES IS TO BUY A PIE.

"Out West, a few years ago, while journeying around with a friend of mine, I overheard a conversation which goes to show that sympathy is often misplaced," said the roving man, "and the moral is not by any means a bad one. The quick way in which the man turned on his friend, who had offered him an abundance of sympathy, as far as sympathy can be extended by mere words, was very amusing and showed that the fellow was quick-witted and unusually bright, despite the fact that he had fallen into a rather rough road.

"The young man had been out West for some time. He had gone out there with the idea that he could win a fortune, but instead of finding the way to success a smooth one, it was rather rough and rocky, marred by thorns to prick the feet, pitfalls and all that kind of thing. Put in plain, unpoetic language he was run down at the heel and bagging at the knee. In order to make a living he had been forced to become a pie merchant on a small scale. He was in this business when we found him, and had a small moving stand on the corner of two streets in a well known mining town. My friend recognized him at a glance, and rushed up to greet him. The fellow seemed to be just a little embarrassed and my friend thought it would be the proper thing to do to offer a little sympathy.

"Sorry to see you situated as you are, old fellow, and in this business," said my friend feelingly.

"D— your sympathy. Buy a pie," was the quick rejoinder of the vendor, and in a few moments we had left him shrieking out his wares to men who passed that way.

"At least he convinced my friend that there are moments in a man's life when the mere sympathy of the mouth, no matter how earnest or how fervent the words, cannot meet the requirements of the case, and that the real and only way to offer help in such instances is to buy a pie."

Graceful Women

The scent of the violet or rose is as precious as the lovely flowers whose breath they are, and while the lives of flowers are brief and we can only enjoy them for a day, the beautiful woman gives the pleasure of her fragrance to us as a permanent blessing. The soft fragrance of a beautiful woman suggests purity, health and elegance; she is the refinement of civilization; an index always of good taste and an unerring badge of gentility.

THE SMACK IN SCHOOL

By William Pitt Palmer

WILLIAM PITT PALMER, author of "The Smack in School," "Ode to Light," "Orpheus and Eurydice" and other poems that gained wide popularity, was born in Rockbridge, Mass., in 1862 and died in Brooklyn in 1902. He was successively a medical student, a teacher, a journalist and an official of insurance companies. Most of his life was spent in New York city. The sketches little referred to in the second line are the range of low mountains in western Massachusetts.

A DISTRICT school, not far away,

"Mid Berkshire hills, one winter's day,
Was humming with its wonted noise
Of three-score mingled girls and boys:
Some few upon their tasks intent,
But more on furtive mischief bent.
The while the master's downward look,
Was fastened on a copy-book;
When suddenly, behind his back,
Rose sharp and clear a raucous snarl!
As 'twere a battery of bliss.
Let off in one tremendous hiss:
"What's that?" the startled master cries:
"That, thir," a little imp replies,
"With William Willich, if you please,—
I thaw him kith Thuthanna Penthe!"
With wrath to make a statue thrill,
The master thundered, "Hitler, Will!"
Like wretch overtaken in his track,
With stetch chattels on his back,
Will hung his head in fear and shame,
And to the awful presence came—
A great, green, bushful simpleton,
The butt of all good-natured fun,
With smile suppressed, and birch upraised,
The threatener faltered, "I'm amazed
That you, my biggest pupil, should
Be guilty of an act so rude!
Before the whole set school to boot—
What evil genius put you to it?"
"Twas she herself, sir," sobbed the lad,
"I did not mean to be so bad;
But when Susannah shook her curls,
And whispered, 'I was 'fraid of girls,
I couldn't stand it, sir, at all,
But up and kissed her on the spot!
I know—too-hoo—I ought to not,
But, somehow, from her looks—too-hoo—
I thought she kind o' wished me to!"

The Field For the Woman Lawyer

By FANNY HALLOCK CARPENTER of New York,
President of the Women Lawyers' Club

HERE'S a woman at bottom of every lawsuit. Woman is the pivotal point around which the world revolves. She is in everything that concerns humanity. It is, therefore, a perfectly natural inference that she should be at the bottom of all things in law, as in everything else.

Everything, from the theft of a fortune to the evasion of a gas bill, has a woman as its background. Woman in a law case occupies one of three positions. She is the motive, the instrument or the victim. Nine times out of ten she is the "extenuating circumstance," which, despite any other role she may play in the drama, will influence the verdict.

The purely feminine law case, where both accuser and accused are women, is more likely to be complex than that in which the man and woman are involved. Women have curious memories and make ingenious application of seemingly unimportant details.

A woman in love, a woman in hate and a woman in pure selfishness are the three phases of femininity that come before the law. Of the three the woman in hate is usually the most persistent and the woman in love the most interesting to the jury. A breach of promise suit awakens a certain sort of chivalry, especially if the plaintiff be good looking.

The field for the woman lawyer is the finding of the woman in the case. A woman would be quick to recognize just where the feminine touch came into a case. A man might blunder, but she has her own knowledge of herself to guide her. She can divine what the woman's aims have been, whether she is an adventurer or an injured innocent. She is not likely to be blinded by any of the small feminine subtleties that might deceive a man. She is a woman and sees through them. She can divine the cause of a woman's lie where a man would be stopped by the lie itself. In short, the woman is the natural detective where the woman is concerned.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU'RE TAKING

When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, No Pay. 50c.

Children are unconscious philosophers. They refuse to pull to pieces their enjoyments to see what they are made of.

IMPULSIVE

"And you permitted that strange young man to kiss you?"
"No, mamma. He didn't give me time."

When the roots of life reach the river of God its fruits will be rich with His glory.

GENERAL LEE.

LEE WAS A FIRM BELIEVER IN PROVIDENCE.

New Orleans (Picayune.)
After the battle of Fredericksburg Lee telegraphed Mr. Davis:
"Thanks be to God for another victory."
In his report of Chancellorsville, Lee began by saying:
"We have again to thank Almighty God for a great victory."
Soon afterwards Lee issued a general order to the troops, in which he said:
"While this glorious victory entitles you to praise and gratitude of your people, we are especially called upon to return our grateful thanks to the Giver of Victories for the signal deliverance he has wrought."
"It is therefore earnestly recommended that the troops unite on Sunday next in ascribing unto the Lord of Hosts the glory due unto His name."
In 1863 Mr. Davis set apart August 21 as a day of thanksgiving.
General Lee, in communicating the proclamation to the troops, said:
"Soldiers, we have sinned against Almighty God. We have forgotten His signal mercies, and have cultivated a revengeful, haughty and boastful spirit."
"We have not remembered that the defenders of a just cause should be pure in His eyes, and that our lives are in His hands, and we have relied too much on our own arms for the achievements of our independence."
"God is our refuge and our strength. Let us humble ourselves before Him. Let us confess our many sins and beseech Him to give us a higher courage, a purer patriotism, a more determined will, that He will convert the hearts of our enemies, that He will hasten the time when war, with its sorrows and sufferings, shall cease, and that he will give us a name and place among the nations of the earth."—New Orleans Picayune.

A DEMONSTRATION OF WHAT CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY CAN DO.

"One of our customers, a highly respected citizen of this place, had been for ten years a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea," writes Walden & Martin, druggists, of Enterprise, Ala. "He had used various patent preparations and been treated by physicians without any permanent benefit. A few months ago he commenced taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a short time was entirely cured. Many citizens of Enterprise who know the gentleman will testify to the truthfulness of this statement."

ELEMENTARY KNOWLEDGE.

Simpson—"Do you know anything about art?"
Jackson—"I know enough art not to talk about it."

A disordered stomach may cause no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painless and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets.

Sunday-School Teacher—"Well, who was sorry at the return of the prodigal son?"
Little Girl—"The fatted calf."

A PROMINENT MINISTER RECOMMENDS CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

Rev. Francis J. Davidson, pastor of the St. Matthew Baptist church and president of the Third District Baptist Association, 2731 Second St., New Orleans, writes as follows: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for cramps and pains in the stomach and found it excellent. It is in fact the best cramp and colic remedy I have ever used. Also several of my parishioners have used it with equally satisfactory results."

NOT SUFFICIENTLY ENGAGING.

Maud—"So Jack is engaged, is he? And is Lucy the bride-to-be?"
Irene—"No, she's the tied-to-be."

The best physic: Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Easy to take; pleasant in effect.

THE SOUTHERN GIRL.

THE SOUTHERN GIRL OF YESTERDAY AND TODAY.

In the Woman's Home Companion Mr. H. S. Canfield has an entertaining article on "The Southern Girl of Yesterday and Today." He compares the girl of the South with the girl of the West and North and finds much in the former's favor. He says:
"In former days the more slaves a girl's father owned, the more she felt it a requirement to become an accomplished housewife. These requisite arts, of which we men pierce not the mysteries and see only the results, are preserved today 'down South,' and if there is one quality which more than another endears a Southern girl to her worshippers it is her love of home, her pride in her home and her ability to make that home a home. This a knowledge which does not glare oppressively in the drawing room; but when she marries it becomes more and more golden year by year. The young Southern mother happily married does not think her life restricted because that life is homelike. She does not feel 'cabin'd, cribb'd, confin'd.' She enjoys brief excursions into the outside world; but she tires readily, and on the return journey her eyes light up as the car-wheels whirl under her, and she thinks, 'Each revolution is that much nearer home.' If some wretcher wearied in the arena of earth's activities, some cynic sickened with 'this deep disease of life,' should seek her in her peaceful fastness, and, borrowing from sardonic Iago, tell her that her mission is to 'suckle fools and chronicle small beer,' she would smile superior. She knows better. Home is home—in summer when the wide fields stir not in the swooning noons; in autumn when hillside and valley blaze in a riot of hue; in winter when the mild air has a tang that merely hints of snow in the far country when the wild gossamer beats his way with steady wing; in springtime when she sees the fat soil rise and roll in smooth, dark waves back from the plow."

AN OFF TIME.

WHY THERE WAS A DEARTH OF VILLAGER CURIOSITY IN A CERTAIN LOCALITY.

"I wanted a month of complete rest," said the bookkeeper, "and so I went up to a small town in New Hampshire and engaged board at the inn. I realized that I would be an object of curiosity and that every one would feel free to question me, and great was my surprise when I was pretty severely let alone. That is, no one asked where I came from, what my business was, how long I was going to stay or any of the leading questions generally put to strangers. There were five or six men who loomed about the inn a good deal, and there was always lots of talk, but there was nothing like curiosity on their part. When I was about ready to leave, I said to the old justice of the peace, who always dropped in every evening:
"See here, squire, I can't exactly make you folks out, I've always heard that you were full of curiosity respecting strangers."
"Yes, we be," he replied.
"And don't any of you care to know who I am?"
"We are just dyin' to know."
"But I've been here a month, and no one has tried to pump me. What's the matter?"
"Well, sir, I'll tell you how it is," he said as he leaned back with a sigh of regret. "There's me, for instance. I've just married my fourth wife, with my third one hardly out in the grave, and I'm keeping pretty quiet for awhile. There's Joe Hastings, who is suspected of stealing a cow, and he feels like keepin' his mouth shut. Deacon Spomer wanted to know all about you the very first day, but the deacon is 'bin' used for breach of promise and don't gad too much. John Clay would have turned you inside out in two days, but his wife is gettin' a divorce and he's got two sick cows to tend to. There's about ten others who are wonderin' who you be and where you come from and all about you, but they're quincy, sore throats or lock-jaw and can't talk, and so you are goin' to get clean out of it. I've sized you up as a decent feller, however, and if you don't come back after awhile and give us a fair show to find out who your great-grand-mother was we shall be a mighty disappointed community."—M. Quad.

TOO GREAT A RISK.

A reliable remedy for bowel complaints should always be kept at hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy never fails and when resorted to with water is pleasant to take.

THE SOUTHERN GIRL OF YESTERDAY AND TODAY.

There are thousands of men and women whose lives are at stake who are hindered from accepting the one means of safety by foolish prejudice.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been the means of restoring health to many men and women whose lives were in danger from lunging, bleeding, emaciation and weakness. Securely warrant the statement of local physicians—"There is no cure possible." Why should prejudice against a put-up medicine hinder you from trying what has cured thousands of suffering men and women?

"Only for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I think I would be in my grave to-day," writes Mr. Moses Himes of Hiram, Ohio Co., Wyoming. "I had asthma so bad I could not sleep at night and was compelled to give up work. I showed my lungs so that I coughed all the time, both day and night. My friends all thought I had the consumption, but I had taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it had helped me so much she insisted on my trying his Golden Medical Discovery—which I did. I have taken four bottles and am now a well man, weighing 150 lbs. I owe my life to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Unto a favored spot
Close to the border of my brow.
"He used to kiss me on the lips, Then on the cheek, then on the brow. Today he kisses his finger tips And blows or throws
The kiss back as he goes!
Ah, we've been married five years now!"

WHEN LIFE'S AT STAKE

The most timid man will take any chance of escape. The slender rope dropped down the precipice, the slippery log over the abyss, anything that offers a chance of life, is eagerly snatched at. The end the man seeks is safety. He cares nothing for the means to that end.

There are thousands of men and women whose lives are at stake who are hindered from accepting the one means of safety by foolish prejudice.
