CHEER UP.

SMILE, EVEN THOUGH IT BE THROUGH YOUR TEARS.

Cheer up! The world is taking your photograph. Look pleasant. Of course you have your troubles—troubles you cannot tell the policeman. A whole lot of things bother you, of course. Business worries or domestic sorrows, it may be, or what not. You find life a rugged road whose stones hurt your feet. Nevertheless, cheer up.

It may be your real disease is selfishness—grown selfishness. Your life is too self-centered. You imagine your tribulations are worse than others bear. You feel sorry for yourself—the meanest sort of pity. It is a pathetic illusion. Rid yourself of that, and cheer up.

What right have you to carry a picture of your woe-begon face and frowny ways about among your fellows, who have troubles of their own? If you must whine or sulk or scowl, take a car and go to the woods or to the unfrequented lanes.

Cheer up! Your ills are largely imaginary. If you were really on the brink of bankruptcy, or if there were no thoroughfare through your sorrows, you would clear your brow, set your teeth, and make the best of it.

Cheer up! You are making a hypothetical case out of your troubles, and suffering from a self-inflicted verdict. You are borrowing trouble, and paying a high rate of interest.

Cheer up! Why, man alive, in a ten minute walk you may see a score of people worse off than you. And here you are digging your own grave, and playing pall-bearer into the bargain. Man alive, you must do your work! Smile, even though it be through your tears, which speedily dry. And cheer up!

HIS STORY OF THE WAR.

"So you were all through the Civil War, were you?" some one asked the old colored veteran, who was cheering the band.

"Ever' step of it, suh!"

"At the surrender, too?"

"Ob, yes, suh!"

"What did General Lee say to Grant?"

"Never said nuttin', suh—Des chopped off his head an' went on!"

OPEN THE DOORS.

You close your doors and brood over your own miseries and the wrongs people have done you; whereas, if you would but open those doors, you might come out into the light of God's truth, and see that His heart is as clear as sunlight toward you. If you would but let Him teach you, you would find your perplexities melt away like the snow in the spring till you could hardly believe you ever felt them.—George Macdonald.

BLOOD CELLS.

IN HEALTH. OF DISEASE.

Man is a millionaire many times over in the possession of blood cells. Women are not quite so rich, for scientists have proven that the normal number of red blood cells in adult men is five million; in women four and a half million, to the square millimeter. The normal cell is not absolutely round in shape, but, in disease, becomes extremely irregular in shape. Every one can be in perfect health and possess the millions of rich red blood corpuscles if they only know how to go about it. Dr. R. V. Pierce, consulting physician at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., advises every man and woman to prepare for a long life by observing nature's laws. In the first place, if your digestion is faulty, and the food you eat is not taken up by the blood and assimilated properly, you need a tonic and digestive corrector, something that will increase the red blood corpuscles; he believes in going about this in nature's own way. Years ago, in his active practice, he found that an alternative extract of certain herbs and roots, put up without the use of alcohol, would put the liver, lungs and heart into fuller and more complete action. This medicine he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By assimilating the food eaten, it nourishes the blood, and instead of the ill-shaped corpuscles, the person's blood takes on a rich red color and the corpuscles are more nearly round. Nervousness is only the cry of the starved nerves for food, and when the nerves are fed on rich red blood the person loses those irritable feelings, sleeps well at night and feels refreshed in the morning.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER.

If you want to know about your body, read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which can be had for the cost of mailing, in cents in one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound book, or in stamps for the paper-covered volume. 108 pages. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

GIVE US THE OLD TIME "DIXIE."

BY FRANK L. STANTON.

Leave out the ban' new music—though hailed by the cheerin' throng;
Give us the old-time "Dixie" as we march—as we march along!
The same as the "Old Boys" played it when the flags were flying free,
And they gave three cheers for Jackson, an' a "Hip-hooray" for Lee!

Leave out the ban' new music—tunes o' the later years;
Give us the old-time "Dixie," though it thrills through a rain o' tears!
The same that the boys were cheerin' in the stormy far-away,
When the battle-flags were streamin' o'er the breasts that wore the gray!

Leave out the ban' new music!—Best, drums! o'er plain and hill!—
The old brigades are marchin' to the old-time "Dixie," still!
Hark! how the ringin' chorus is risin', the lines along!—
The boys who marched with "Stonewall" are cheerin' the "Dixie" song!

WHEN BENEATH THE EARTH I AM SLEEPING.

BY WILLIAM MOTHERWELL.

When I between the cold red earth am sleeping, life's fever o'er,
Will there for me be any bright eye weeping that I'm no more?
Will there for me be any bright eye weeping of heretofore?

When the great winds, through leafless forests rushing, like full hearts break,
When the swollen streams, o'er crag and gully gushing, and music make;
Will there be one whose heart despair is crushing mourns for my sake?

When the bright sun upon that spot is shining with purest ray,
And the small flowers their buds and blossoms twining burst through that clay;
Will there be one still on that spot reposing, lost hopes all day?

When the night shadows, with the ample sweeping of her dark pall,
The world and all its manifold creation sleeping, the great and small—
Will there be one, even at that dread hour, weeping for me—for all?

When no star twinkles with its eye of glory on that low mound,
And wintry storms have with their rains hoary its loneliness crowned;
Will there be then one versed in misery's story pausing it round?

It may be so—but this is selfish sorrow to ask such need—
A weakness and a wickedness to borrow from hearts that bleed,
The wailings of to-day for what to-morrow shall never need.

Lay me then gently in my narrow dwelling, thou gentle bier,
And though thy bosom should with grief be swelling, let no tear start;
It were in vain—for Time hath long been kneeling—and one, depart!

HE SAVED THE BOY.

HOW GEORGE WASHINGTON SAVED A LITTLE FELLOW FROM DROWNING AT THE RISK OF HIS OWN LIFE.

When Washington was a young man he was at one time engaged in helping to survey land.

He was in the midst of a great forest near a rushing stream of water, when he heard the voice of a woman screaming in terror. "My poor little boy has fallen into the water, and these men will not let me try to save him!"

"It is of no use," said one of the men. "If she jumps she will be dashed to pieces in a moment. She cannot save the child, and will lose her own life."

Washington scarcely waited to hear these words. He remembered the bright, sunny-haired little boy whom he had often seen playing before a cabin nearby. He took a rapid glance down the angry rushing stream, and saw the little boy's white dress, and without another moment's hesitation he threw off his coat and leaped into the rapids.

How eagerly they watched as the brave young man struggled to reach the child.

Just before they reached the falls he seized the boy and held him up with his strong right arm.

What a shout of joy came from those who were watching from the shore! But also, both man and boy disappeared over the falls. The mother ran forward in terror, but soon gave a glad cry as she saw them at the foot of the falls unharmed. Washington was still holding her child and making his way toward the shore. He was nearly exhausted when he finally reached the shore with the child safe, though unconscious.

TRUE TO HER PROMISE.

Joshua, said Mrs. Chugwater, "what do you do at those lodge meetings you attend twice a month?"

"You don't expect me to tell you that, do you? Our proceedings are secret."

"A man oughtn't to have any secrets from his wife. What is the pass word?"

"I've taken a solemn obligation never to communicate that to any one outside."

"I'm not an outsider. A man and his wife are one. You have a right to communicate it to me."

Mr. Chugwater reflected.

"Well," he said, "if I repeat the password to you once, will you promise never to ask me to say it again?"

"Yes."

"And you will never tell anybody else?"

"Never."

Whereupon he rapidly uttered the astounding word:

"Magellainelikkenslotarvutunilzabellililwinkansnakalloeroo."

Mrs. Chugwater kept her promise. She never repeated that password to a living soul.

"MORAL SUASION."

"The writer knows a mother who strongly denounces corporal punishment whose favorite method of punishment is to send her child to bed without supper," writes William H. Hamby, in Good Housekeeping. "Perhaps she thinks the gnawing of that child's empty stomach is soul punishment. Another who considers the use of the switch a relic of bloody days will make her little girl sit for three hours in a straight chair. 'In fact, most moral suasion is not moral suasion. It is simply a combination of everything that is not whipping.'"

"The story is told of a small boy who was asked by his uncle if he got a whipping that day at school."

"'Naw,' said the boy; 'they don't whip at our school.'"

"'Don't?' said the uncle in surprise. 'How do they make you mind?'"

"'Moral suasion,' replied the boy shortly."

"'What's that?'"

"'O, they stand us on the floor, keep us in at recess, make us tee a line, pull our ears, and jaw at us.'"

A CREEPING DEATH.

Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores, 25c. at all druggists' drug stores.

It's a sad state of affairs when the fire of genius has to warm up "pot boilers."

TERRIFIC RACE WITH DEATH.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandes, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and to day I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at all druggists' drug stores; price 50c.

GOOD REASONS.

A dozen club women of St. Louis recently reported upon "the spread of the divorce evil in the United States," assigning the following reasons:

Girls marry men they know little about. There is too much independence between husband and wife.

Young people frequently are obliged to live with their parents.

Marriages are regarded as simply a contract without the religious element.

Ministers have married persons they knew were not fitted to be married.

The blacksmith's son cannot live happily with the daughter of the man in a higher social sphere.

Lawyers, who solicit trade by guaranteeing prompt divorces, are largely responsible.

Elopements cause entertainment and amusement, but not the anxiety which they should.

The example of New York's "Four Hundred" is bad for the rest of the country.

Women of today do not show enough loyalty to their husbands.

Divorce is so easy to secure, married persons treat lightly bonds of matrimony.

Young women do not heed advice of parents in regard to marriage.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers; they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pain, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick and unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It is used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits.

If you have a sample bottle by mail, some Swamp-Root free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

BLACK DRAUGHT

STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a medicine, not a cheap food or condition powder. Though put up in coarser form than Theobald's Black-Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of invigorating digestion, stirring up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so beneficial that stock grows and thrives with an occasional dose in their food. It cures hog cholera and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and rotp and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives animals and fowls of all kinds new life. Every farmer and raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

Petersburg, Kas., March 25, 1904.
I have been using your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine on my stock and poultry since I have used all kinds of stock food but I have found that yours is the best for my purpose.
