TO SHAVE OR NOT TO SHAVE.

A TICKLING MUSTACHE MAKES HALF THE PLEASURE OF KISSING.

A discussion in a well-known English newspaper on the subject of kissing brings out the following opinions from the editor:

"The absence of a mustache in nine cases out of ten makes a face either hard or effeminate."

"The tickling mustache makes, of course, half the pleasure in kissing. It is the advance guard of love; the herald of the welcome conqueror. A man with a clean-shaven face cannot really give a satisfactory kiss. It is like presenting a rose which has lost its calyx."

"I am quite with those who view beards with distrust. Some men have been able to trim them French fashion, close and pointed, and it suits them admirably; but when a man takes to a beard, his taste, as a rule, has become weedy. Once this weediness comes over the man of middle age, you really don't know what to expect; and he may at any moment emulate a goat, or, Kruger-wise, a baboon. To realize the utter horror of possibility which may overtake one with the cultivation of beards, you have but to look at the early victorian photographs and see the soppy-looking individuals with 'weepers' who escorted the crinolined mothers of the present generation."

WHERE THEY LOST THEIR LUCK.

In dawdling.
In indecision.

In not quite knowing their business.
In waiting for something to turn up.
It went down in drink and up in smoke.
In trying to take short cuts to success.
In working only when they felt like it.
In not working to a plan or programme.
In neglecting their personal appearance.
In looking on the dark side of every thing.
In overconfidence born of a first easy victory.
In choosing a silly, extravagant girl for a wife.
In not being ready for the opportunity when it came.
In sampling every kind of investment scheme that came along.
In dreaming of great things instead of doing the little ones at hand.
In being so disagreeable and selfish that they could not make friends.
It was burned up by a hot temper, which drove their employers and customers away.
In waiting for somebody to help them or give them a boost, or for some rich uncle to die.
In refusing to take the positions they could get because they did not know whether they would like the work or not.—Orison Swett Marden in "Success Magazine."

There is no disputing the fact that man's heart is often reached through the stomach. Happy the housewife who can please her husband's appetite with well cooked food for the table. Many a man is grouchy, ugly, nervous, suffering from distress after eating, heart palpitation, and all through the overworked stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which helps the digestion of food in the stomach, assists the blood in taking up the proper elements from the food, helps the liver into activity, thereby throwing out the poisons in the blood and vitalizing the whole system. This assimilation helps in the oxidation of the red blood corpuscles, the poisons in the system are eliminated, the heart gets the right kind of blood and the person feels invigorated and stronger in consequence. As a tissue builder it is far preferable to cod liver oil or any alcoholic compounds or tonics, because it gives the blood and the tissues the food elements they require and maintains a person's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate nutritious food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion. Because of the good effects from using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery upon nutrition and the building up of the tissues, catarrh, consumption, weakness or debility and symptoms of fever, night-sweats, headaches, etc., disappear.

"I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a blood purifier," writes L. J. Smithwick, Esq., Accountant, of Norfolk, Va. "For years I was a sufferer from a very obstinate form of skin disease, commonly known as tetter, which, being confined to the palms of my hands and fingers, was very annoying. In cold weather the skin would become hard and dry and would break or crack, which was very painful.

"I wrote to Dr. Pierce, stating the case and requesting his advice. He advised me to use his 'Golden Medical Discovery' to purify the blood after which he thought the skin trouble would all disappear, and I am grateful to say that after the fourth bottle there was no sign of the disease left."

THE OPTIMIST.

There's a mighty sight of trouble as the world we're sailing through,
But behind the clouds of trouble skies are shinin' clear and blue;
And we'll all be gay and happy if our hearts are beating true,
While we listen for the music sweetly ringing.
So it ain't no use repining because your plans all go askew,
Better keep right on a trying for the best that you can do,
Never troubling Mr. Trouble till he tries to trouble you,
But a song of cheerfulness forever singing.

The man who sits a mourning by the grave of blasted schemes
Is bound to miss the glory of the dawning morning's gleams;
And he hides his face and catches none of Old Sol's cheerful beams
That are painting all the landscape o'er with glory;
So it's better to be smiling than to weep o'er shattered dreams;
The world is always better than you sometimes think it seems,
And there's love and light and laughter in the flowers, field and streams
When Old Nature tells in song her sweetest story.

The man who gives up trying because he failed once in the race
And sits down weak and sobbing with big teardrops on his face
Would be better up and doing; better give his spine a brace,
For a race is never ended till you've run it.
So it's better to keep running at your very swiftest pace;
Do your level best a trying to secure a better place;
'Tain't not winning, but not trying, that heaps on you deep disgrace,
So keep running at top speed until you've won it.

The world is full of glory if you open up your eyes,
The sun is brightly shining back of clouds that line the skies,
And the joys of love and living back of trouble always lie
An' you'll reach it if you'll only keep a going,
There's no doubt about the winning of a good and ample prize
By the man who's up and doing and with all his being tries
For the joys of simply living all the old world glorifies—
An' it ain't no trouble keeping things a glowing.

THE DIAMOND CURE.

The latest news from Paris, is, that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee, of Vanleer, Tenn. "I had a cough, for fourteen years. Nothing helped me, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief, and effected a permanent cure." Unequalled quick cure for Throat and Lung Troubles. At all druggists' drug stores; price 50c. and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

DIFFERENT VIEWS OF IT.

"What is the secret of success?" asked the magazine.

"Do write," said the pen.

"Be progressive," said the euchre pack.

"Be exact and on time," said the clock.

"Be careful not to break your word, said the typewriter.

"Don't be afraid to strike when you find your match," said the lamp.

"Push and pull," said the door.

"Stand firm and unyielding," said the flagstaff.

"Don't change with every wind that blows," said the weather-vane.

"Never become dull and rusty," said the hoe.

"Climb steadily up," said the hill.

"Keep bright and don't mind the clouds," said the sun.

"Cultivate a calm exterior, but be ready for emergencies," said the innocent flower, "even I always carry a pistil."—Nellie Munson Holman in "Success Magazine."

GOD'S STEWARD.

Richard Reynolds, a worthy Quaker merchant of Bristol, England, was so accustomed to think of himself as God's steward, and seemed to be rendered almost uncomfortable by expressions of gratitude. A lady once came to him, asking aid for an orphan, and Mr. Reynolds' response was so generous that, with tears in her eyes, she declared that, as soon as the boy was old enough, she should bring him to thank his benefactor.

"Nay," replied the Quaker, "thou art wrong. We do not thank the clouds for rain. Teach him to look higher and thank Him who giveth both the clouds and the rain."

BENT HER DOUBLE.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at all druggists' drug stores; price 50c.

A TURNING POINT.

A pebble in the way of a stream trickling from a mountain spring may decide whether its waters shall empty into the Pacific or the Atlantic oceans. There are crises in lives when a feather's weight of influence in either direction will turn the soul toward good or evil. The life story of Aaron Burr is a sad record of brilliant powers wasted, but the end might have been very different if he had received the right counsel at a turning point of his life.

During Burr's course at Princeton there was a strong religious awakening among the students. The young man was touched, interested and thoughtful. He went so far as to seek out the college president and open his heart to him. But, sadly enough, instead of receiving help, he was assured that his fellow-students, who were urging the claims of Christ, were fanatical. With such authority behind him, Burr found it easy to quiet his conscience, and, as far as is known, it was the last time he thought seriously of beginning a Christian life. Had he been under different influences at that critical time, the name of Aaron Burr might be beloved and honored today.

JENNY LIND AS A CHILD.

Jenny Lind as a child of three years was the lark of her parents' house. As a girl of nine she attracted the attention of all lovers of music and entered the Stockholm conservatory as a pupil. Her continuous studies at so tender an age caused the sudden loss of her voice, and for four full years she pursued her theoretical and technical studies, when suddenly the full sweet sounds came back, to the delight, as every one knows, of thousands for many years.

REST AND CHANGE.

WITHOUT CHANGE AND REST WE SAP THE VERY SOURCES OF OUR STRENGTH AND SKILL.

One of the things that earnest people learn very slowly is that they cannot devote all their time and strength to one work, no matter what it is. Without change and rest and a variety of interests we sap the very sources of our strength and skill. By not devoting time enough to interests outside our main work, we lose the power of performing the principal task most effectively. Such reflections are pertinent to most of us at this season. The average man, who is earning a living and counting for something in the life and work of his time, labors too long and too hard. What he needs is frequent respites. And when summer comes, with a chance of taking a vacation, he should take as much as he can decently get, as a matter of course. Do not be influenced by the chatter about what our grandfathers did, never taking a vacation from one year's end to the other. Of course not. They did not need it. They did not go to their offices daily on a railroad. They had no telegraphs, and still less, telephones. They did not need vacations. They pretty nearly had one all the time. The best of them never knew anything about working as the modern man works. The people who needed rest and change in those days were the wives, just as they need it today, and if our grandfathers had taken more vacations with their families there would be a smaller number of headstones in the family burying plots recounting the virtues of successive consorts.—Watchman

WHEN THE BIRD CAME BACK.

Last winter a Topeka society woman wanted to get rid of an old parrot which she owned. It had only one tail-feather, but possessed an extensive vocabulary of choice cuss words. A bright idea struck her. She was hostess for her card club one day, and she gave the parrot as the booby prize. The woman who won it took it home and bided her time. It soon came her time to entertain the club and furnish prizes. So she gave the parrot as the booby prize, too. From that time on the parrot became the booby prize, and made the rounds of most of the homes of the women. Finally the woman who originated the idea won the booby prize the other day and carried home the old bird. The parrot recognized his former home. He craned his neck, blinked his eyes several times, and then, with disgust, said:

"Oh, hell; kitchen's dirty as ever."—Kansas City Journal.

HUMAN FAILINGS.

The happiest people are those who are easily flattered.

The man with bad habits invariably believes in heredity.

A fellow will often run into debt and then try to crawl out.

You can generally tell a married man. He is such a good listener.

It's because courtship is such a pose that marriage is often such a failure.

The fewer friends we have the less disagreeable things we hear about ourselves.

It is always a source of wonder to us that other people should make such idiotic mistakes.

"She has a Julia Marlowe chin." "Yes." "And a Maude Adams forehead." "I see." "Now, if she only had a Hetty Green bank account I'd propose."—Chicago Sun.

Make a virtue of necessity.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N.Y., on every bottle.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS.

has been used for over 60 years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

Scolding the boy may sour the man.

FORCED TO STARVE.

B. F. Leek, of Concord, Ky., says: "For 20 years I suffered agonies, with a sore on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At all druggists' drug stores; only 25c.

No service without sacrifice.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

A pleasant surprise party may be given to your stomach and liver, by taking a medicine which will relieve their pain and discomfort, viz: Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are a most wonderful remedy, affording sure relief and cure, for headache, dizziness and constipation. 25c. at all druggists' drug stores.

Progress is the offspring of discontent.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a medicine, not a cheap food or condition powder. Though put up in coarser form than Thedford's Black-Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of invigorating digestion, stirring up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so healthful that stock grow and thrive with an occasional dose in their food. It cures hog cholera and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and roup and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives animals and fowls of all kinds new life. Every farmer and raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

Perryman, Kas., March 26, 1904.
I have been using your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine on my stock for some time. I have used all kinds of stock food but I have found that yours is the best for my purpose.
J. S. HARMON.

You Must Sleep.

If you cannot, it is due to an irritated or congested state of the brain, which will soon develope into nervous prostration.

Nature demands sleep, and it is as important as food; it is a part of her building and sustaining process. This period of unconsciousness relaxes the mental and physical strain, and allows nature to restore exhausted vitality.

Dr. Miles' Nervine brings refreshing sleep, because it soothes the irritation and removes the congestion.

It is also a nerve builder; it nourishes and strengthens every nerve in your body, and creates energy in all the organs.

Nothing will give strength and vitality as surely and quickly as Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"During the past winter I had two attacks of LaGrippe which left me very weak, and in bad condition. I was so nervous I could not sleep. My wife, after trying different remedies, went for a doctor. The doctor was out, and a neighbor recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine, and she brought home a bottle. I had not slept for some time, and had terrible pains in my head. After taking a few doses of Nervine the pain was not so severe, and I slept. I am now taking the second bottle, and am very much improved."
HENRY M. SMITH, Underhill, Vt.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.
