Now the smart winks are rising up and declaring that they are not the bones of John Paul Jones. Well, the only way to do is to have them copyrighted and declare all others intruders.

Lord Roberts declares that the "English army is totally unfit to defend the Empire." It might be worse if England did not have an ally in Japan who is never out of fighting condition.

Mr. Carnegie is telegraphing us, to the effect that "wealth cannot buy happiness." If he will only pay the cost we will wire back that it can secure a good substitute for happiness.

A New York society publication is found to have been obtaining large sums of money from the "400" and a few others. It is a question whether it was to get their faces into the papers or to "keep them out."

John W. Gates now understands that instead of trying to buy all the May wheat in the country last April, he should have bought a favorable crop report from the bank bureau of the Agricultural department.

It is reported that "Merrie Old England" is taking an interest in baseball last, though it is thought that it will be some time before their enthusiasm reaches the point where they will try to kill an umpire in a close game.

A Texas girl advertised for a husband and got him. The total expense for advertising, wedding outfit, etc., was $11. Within a year he died leaving her an insurance policy of $10,000. And yet some people claim it does not pay to advertise.

It is perfectly amazing how excited some people can get over little things. It is reported that some of the labor unions are "up in arms" over the President's order regarding the Chinese exclusion law. Can they not realize that all the President has done is to insist that the law be enforced precisely as its framers intended that it should be? Is there any possible reason why a man whose duty it is to exclude a Chinaman should use harsh and brutal methods instead of positive and polite ones?

WEDDING AT ENFIELD.

MISS FERDINAND CLARK THE LOVELY BRIDE OF MR. WM. E. BEAVANS

Wednesday morning, July 26th, at Enfield, in the Methodist Episcopal church, Mr. William Eugene Beavans and Miss Ferdinand Clark were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The artistic hands of an army of decorators had transformed the church into a woodland of beauty, and through the medium of potted plants, palms, and southern smilax the altar was one of transplanted nature. With Miss Ruby Whitaker skillfully rendering the wedding march, the bride party entered in single file down the right and left sides, crossing in front of the altar, and taking their stand on either side of the chancel; then came the ring-bearer, little Miss Carrie Clark, a picture of perfect beauty, in white silk, down the left aisle, followed by the bride, attired in a going-away gown of tan cloth and carrying a bouquet of bride's roses, leaning on the arm of her maid of honor, Miss Bessie Lucas, in white rich mull and carrying carnations, while down the right side came the groom with his best man, Mr. Cary Beavans, of Greensboro. Meeting at the altar, in the solemn and impressive ceremony of the Methodist church, Rev. H. B. Anderson performed the ceremony, while "Meditation" was being softly played by the organist. Then, to the strains of the March from Lobengrin, the party left the church in the following order: The bride and groom down the left aisle, the ring-bearer, Miss Carrie Clark, down the right aisle, and, alternatingly down the left and right, Miss Bessie Lucas with Mr. Cary Beavans, Miss Stella Phippen in white china silk and carrying white carnations, with Mr. Raymond Dunn, Mr. David Clark of Chabourns, N. C., with Mr. W. T. Clement and then the ushers, Mr. Beavans Whitaker with Mr. Walter Beavans of Weldon.

Mr. and Mrs. Beavans left on the morning train for an extended tour of the northern cities and Canada, after which they will be at home at Enfield. The large number of handsome and costly presents, of which they were the recipients, goes to attest the universal popularity of the bride and groom, and the esteem in which they are held. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, and for a number of years has taught in the graded schools, where her sweetness of disposition and nobility of character have endeared her to parents and children alike, while her personal beauty and attractiveness have always rendered her extremely popular in social circles. The groom is the son of Mr. John Beavans of this place, and is the owner and proprietor of an enterprising and successful drug business. He is genial and affable in his business dealings, lofty in his aims and purposes, a good citizen, and without a stain upon his character or reputation for many qualities.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

NATURE'S HOME TREATMENT.

Dr. J. S. Pugh's Home Treatment has been greatly revised after many years hard study and practice in chronic diseases among men, women and children. After studying all the Home Treatments in print up to date, he is conscious of having the combination of methods and instructions that come closer to nature for curing diseases than any known to-day. Therefore, he appeals to the good judgment of those who have failed to be cured by all other methods not to lose hope but give his method a trial and be convinced that they can be cured. Among his methods are: The Biochemical salts, which are nature's remedy and an ideal home treatment. These new treatments for disease are based upon Biochemistry and are without a doubt the greatest discoveries of the age. Instructions in exercise, baths internal and external, what and when to eat, deep breathing, kinds and quantities of water to be taken daily are also given. This combination gives more information as to how to live than you can get from any other source. It tells you how to continue well after you are cured.

Write to-day and get his pamphlet free, which explains his method of treatment. ROOMS 209-10 & 11 COCKELL BLDG. Dallas, Texas.
