SOUNDS DEPTHS OF INFAMY.

Negro Preacher Finds a Crime Which He Cannot Forgive.

An old negro preacher of Southern Georgia had been given a fine hat possum by some of his admirers and was keeping it in a barrel feeding it heavily to increase its weight. He had decided to have it killed the next day, when, to his rage, it was stolen in the night.

Shortly after a revival meeting was being held and among those who went up to the mourner's bench was a certain very black Jim and his grief seemed uncontrollable.

"Dat's all right, mah brudder!" the old man shouted. "Don't matter what yo' done, de good Lawd gwine ter furbige you!"

"But Ah's been powerful mean," Jim declared, weeping.

"Is yo' stole chickens?" the old man demanded.

"Oh, wass 'en dat!"

"Good Lawd! He'p dis po' nigger!" the old preacher entreated.

"Is yo' used a razor?"

"Wuss dan dat!"

"Is yo'—yo' ain't done killed anybody?"

"Wuss dan dat!"

"Den hyah's whar we tangle!" the old man shouted, throwing aside his coat. "De good Lawd kin furbige yo' ef he wants ter, but Ah's gwine ter skin you alive! Yo's de varmint dat stole mah possum!"—N. Y. Herald.

WHAT WOMEN WANT IN MEN.

Woman, Normal and Healthy, Does Not Want or Need a Master.

It is so recently that women have been allowed to think, or expected to think, that it is not strange that they have not expressed themselves upon the question of what they want in men. They have been brought up on the philosophy "Be good and you'll be married," and it has not been a question of what they like in men, but what men like in them that counted—or was important.

There are many women, otherwise fairly sensible, who openly say they could not love a man who did not rule them. To say that every man, by virtue of his sex, is meant to be the master of some woman is utterly folly. The need of a master is not a question of sex, but a question of the lack of moral or mental stamina in the individual.

What do women want in men? There are women who prefer a man with the ability to earn a fortune rather than one who has inherited it. Being a good provider will sometimes cover a multitude of petty faults in the eyes of women obliged to account for every penny spent. Nor is generosity with money the only generosity. Women want from men what every normal human being craves—commendation and approval.

Woman, normal and healthy, does not want or need a master. Outside of truthfulness, honor and courage in him, what she prizes above all things from him are kindness, generosity and sympathy.—Belle Squire in May Delineator.

THEY DIDN'T THINK.

"We'll Treat Father Better From Now On." He Shall Have the Sunny Room.

A feeble old man with a sad face tottered up to a deaconess who was waiting on a corner for a car. "Excuse me," he began, "but I've wanted to speak to you for several days. People say that you are kind. I do not need money, but I need kindness. I live with my daughters. They—they would you be willing to come and talk to them? They would be—different."

The deaconess took the address of the old man and called a few days after. "It's so tiresome to have father 'round,'" the daughters said, "he is so old and childish."

With an upward prayer to God for guidance, the deaconess tried to give the young women a new vision of duty. Father had cared for them tenderly, and now that he was old and helpless, he was entitled to their care. After a moment of quiet prayer the deaconess rose to go. The older daughter with tears in her eyes thanked her for her words. "We'll treat father better from this time on," she promised. "He shall have the sunny room."

A few days later, the old man, with an almost beaming face, said to the deaconess: "My daughters are so kind to me now; everything is so different. Why, they are even planning to have a birthday party for me—you know I am almost eighty years old." Then he added with enthusiasm, "you are to be invited to the party."

Not many months later, in a quiet service, the two daughters gave their hearts to Christ. Theirs is now a Christian home, father's sunny room the happiest of all. There he waits patiently the coming of the King.—New England Deaconess.

HIGHER THAN THE LAW.

Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, in an address at Oakland, attacked the trusts.

"What if their sins are legal?" he ended. They are sins, none the less, and I wish when trusts sin legally we could prevent the law from protecting them. I wish in short, we could all act as one of our Oakland farmers did last year. He, one day last year, found a score of men putting up telegraph poles all over his best field. He ordered the men away, but they wouldn't go. They showed him a paper which gave them authority to put up their poles wherever they wished. The old man looked at the paper, saw it was lawful, walked away in silence. He went to the barn and turned a savage red bull into the field. The bull made for the men, the men fled at top speed, and the farmer shouted after them:

"Show him your paper! Show him your paper!"—Washington Star.

WANTED—100,000 BOYS.

WANTED—some bright boys, full of cheer, To stand at my counter as drinkers of beer, To fill up the ranks, without further delay, Of the army of drunkards passing away. A hundred thousand a year will just supply The loss to our trade from the drunkards who die. Send those who can toil, or have wealth to bestow, For profits are small on old drinkers, you know. Let them come from the shop, the school or the home, We'll welcome them all, whoever may come. Let mothers surrender their sons to our cause, And fathers keep voting for good license laws, For if you vote to keep running the mill, You must furnish the grist or the wheels will stand still. —Selected.

IN THE GAME.

Once there was a man who thought Uncle Russell Sage ought to stop work. He spoke to him about it. "Why get together any more money, Mr. Sage? You can't eat it; you can't drink it. What good will it do you?" "Ever play marbles?" Uncle Russell asked. "Yes, when I was a boy." "Couldn't 'em, could you? Couldn't 'em, could you? No use to you, were they? What did you play marbles for?" Harper's Weekly.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliancy vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rarely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic strains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate woman's organs, so surely when these organs are deranged, is being the face aged. It is a well known fact that the fact in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. Made wholly of those native, American, medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. For nursing mothers or for those broken-down in health, by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mothers, to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and almost painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve agent adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments. Dr. Pierce may be consulted by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, "Invalids' Hotel" and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

"ONE OF THE BOYS."

He is 'way beyond fifty, his hair's turning gray But still he can laugh in the jolliest way; He hasn't forgotten the fun in a jest; He tells the old stories with heartiest zest; He knows all the new ones; he likes 'em lots of noise Somehow he has managed to stay with the boys.

Why, he can get up in the gray of the dawn, And be out on the road ere the others have gone, With his pole and his line—and he laughs long and deep At the ones who say morning's the best time to sleep. He is out with the boys, and not one of them peers At the wrinkles and crow's feet that tell of his years.

He is ready to romp, or to bant, or to ride— He has never sat silent and moody, and sighed Over vanishing youth or the days of his past. For he says that the days of the boyhood can last Just as long as we will, that we never need part With the wonderful thrill that they give to the heart.

He will lie on his back in the shade of the trees And declare that he knows what is sung by the bees, And he mimics the whistles, and calls of the birds, Which, he says, if he likes, he could put into words. He would rather spend hours on banks of the brook Where the berries are red, than be reading a book.

He is 'way beyond fifty, and folks think that he ought To devote lots of time to more serious thought— But they wonder at him, and they envy him, too. For he's living to-day all the days they once knew; He has never lost heart with the chiefest of joys; He has kept a young heart—he is one of the boys.

AN OLD SWEETHEART.

I only ask you to forgive, if I have wronged you so; I only hope you'll ne'er regret the love we used to know; You say I'm not at fault, my dear, I ask you to explain; Your only answer is a sigh, which fills my heart with pain. Perhaps tonight we part for life, forever strangers be, The old love letters that you sent I'll keep for memory. And if we chance to meet some day in some far distant clime, I'll love you then, because you were an old sweetheart of mine. Just because you were an old sweetheart of mine, I will always love you, dear, no matter when the time; When you're feeble, old and gray, I will love you as today; Just because I know you were an old sweetheart of mine. Do you recall the past, my dear, our lives kind naught but bliss. The rose inside the note you sent, with kind regards, a kiss, 'Twas then I learned to love you, and I cared for you through life. And hoped that we would some day be happy man and wife. Deep sorrow adorns your face where once you wore a smile, I fear another's won your heart; you're silent all the while; The merry twinkle in your eyes no more for me will shine, Yet I will ever claim you as an old sweetheart of mine.

AN ADAMLESS EDEN.

Perhaps the queerest city in the world is that of Nang Harm, the home of the royal family of Siam.

This city's peculiarity lies in the fact that it is composed of women and children alone. It is in the centre of Bangkok, has high walls around it and its population of 9,000 there is not a single man, though the King occasionally pays a visit. The name Nang Harm means "veiled women."

There are shops, markets, temples, theatres, streets and avenues, parks, lakes, trees and flower gardens; a hall of justice, judges, executioner, police, generals and soldiers; all the positions, official and otherwise, being filled by women. The only man in all Siam who can enter this city is the King. It is the home of his family and of the family of the King before him. The ruler of Siam may have as many wives as he pleases. Each wife has her own children and slaves—therefore a small city is needed to provide accommodations for them all.

Helpfulness is love in action.

GOOD HUMOR.

Good Humor Rises to the Occasion and Meets Misfortune With a Smile.

There is but little doubt that good humor is a priceless boon. It is the oil that smooths many a rough place in life which otherwise would be very hard sledding. A man who can smile at misfortune and the mistakes he has made in life, and has the courage to correct them and work manfully to make amends, has that in him which deserves success in the end. Ill humor sulks in its tent. The sun shines bright enough to drive away the clouds of gloom which continually surround it. It has a snap and a snarl for any who may attempt to point out a better way or offer a crumb of comfort in case of real need. Good humor rises to the occasion and meets misfortune with a smile, however much the heart may be pained, forgetting its own heart pains by lending a helping hand to those less fortunate. Good humor is a fortress, a strong tower, where the possessor may flee to gather strength for a renewed battle with difficulty and danger. Good humor is simply invincible. A man who laughs at misfortune and sets his face bravely to do the right as God has given him to see it is worth more to the world by far than the snarler who sets down amid a broken fortune to bewail his fate and make life a wilderness of woe for every one within hailing distance.
