

The Song of the Hair

There are four verses. Verse 1. Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair. Verse 2. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. Verse 3. Ayer's Hair Vigor cures dandruff. Verse 4. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the scalp healthy, and keeps it so. It is a regular hair-food; this is the real secret of its wonderful success.

The judge at an Asbury Park baby show dropped dead just before rendering his decision.

GOVERNORS are so thick at the Exposition that people hardly have time to see other attractions.

The new $10 bill is very pretty indeed. The last one we saw looked like a streak of yellow gold.

MAYOR TUNE, of Tennessee, wishes that the paragraph people would stop making a play on his name.

A man has bought a photograph and 10,000 records. No, he is not coming next door to you, he is in San Francisco.

A flash of lightning is reported to have peeled a sack of onions. The lightning has always been noted for its eccentricities.

The Chattanooga Star of Saturday last had a long editorial on "imitating hell." City politicians are rather strenuous in Chattanooga.

A Chicago man has created a $50,000 monument to a horse, and thus is the adage reversed that "money makes the mare go."

"CAN Bryan be elected?" asks an exchange. How many more times will the country have to vote before this question is finally answered?

CHANCELLOR DAY, of Syracuse University, is decidedly against the third-term proposition. That will undoubtedly tend to keep up the third term talk.

"THERE are canals on Mars," says a scientist, dogmatically. Oh, well, suppose there are; the one we've almost here in this country is sufficient worry.

TOM WATSON says, in his Jeffersonian weekly, that Congressman "Lon" Livingstone is the limit. Will Tom kindly specify what there is beyond.

MR. BRYAN is to speak at the Richmond fair next month, and while his appearance at State fairs is no novelty it is a better drawing card than most of the time honored exhibits.

The work down on the isthmus is too important to be hampered by any red tape. Let the dirt fly! We have a surplus. Spend it! Spend all that is needed to build the canal.

PRINCE WILHELM confesses that he is surprised by much that he has seen over here. But this is the land of the unexpected. Even its oldest inhabitants never get through being surprised.

GOVERNOR Vardaman is said to have declined the offer of $7,500 to become editor of a Mississippi newspaper. He probably feared that he would have taken too much of it in cord wood and vegetables.

THERE is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH CURE, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure.

In reply to an enquiry the Philadelphia Press published a complete list of White House weddings as follows:

The first White House wedding occurred during the administration of President Madison. Mrs. Madison's youngest sister, Lucy Payne Washington, widow of a nephew of President Washington, was married March 11, 1811. The second White House wedding was that of Miss Anna Todd, cousin of Mrs. Madison, to John G. Jackson, Maria Hester Monroe, daughter of President Monroe, was married in the famous mansion March 9, 1820. The next was the marriage of John Adams, to his cousin, Miss May Helen, February 10, 1828. During the administration of President Jackson the marriages of Miss Della Lewis to Goer Pageant, secretary of the French Legation, Miss Mary Easton, niece of Mrs. Jackson, to Lucien B. Polk, and of Miss Emily Marnon, a relative of the President's family, to Lewis Randolph took place. Elizabeth Tyler, daughter of President Tyler, was married to William Walker, January 31, 1842, and Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant was married to Algernon Sartons, May 21, 1874. This was followed by the marriage of Miss Emily Platt, niece of President Hayes, to General Russell Hastings, June, 1878, the wedding of President Cleveland to Miss Frances Folsom, June 2, 1886, and finally that of Miss Roosevelt, to Hon. Nicholas Longworth, February 17, 1906.

In the Superior court at Barksville Judge Peebles rendered a sweeping decision in favor of the South & Western Railroad against the Southern Railway, the two roads have been building over a mountain gorge, on the decision the South & Western is awarded $100,000 worth of grading done by the Southern.

Capt. J. W. Joyner, conductor of a freight train between Winston and Charlotte, was killed instantly at Mooresville the 11th. He was swinging to a car when the train entered the Mooresville yard. His head struck a telephone or telegraph pole, and Captain Joyner was thrown under the train, his body being horribly mangled.

Before going on his run he left a letter for his wife, who is 12 years his senior, telling her that he would not live with her any longer.

ROSEMARY ITEMS.

News Notes Gathered at the Busy Manufacturing Town.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wyche have gone on a pleasure trip to Canada, covering ten days or more. They will visit Niagara Falls, Toronto, Montreal, Quebec and the Thousand Islands before returning home. Mr. Wyche is bookkeeper for the Rosemary Manufacturing Company and is quite popular.

Saturday night last George Glasgow while coming from Weldon fell off the train and broke his arm. He is fireman for the mill company here.

Rosemary continues to grow. 14 more houses will soon be completed.

The new brick warehouse is rapidly approaching completion.

Protracted meeting mentioned in my last communication, conducted by Rev. J. T. Draper, has been postponed till 1st Sunday in October.

Mr. D. B. Zollicoffer, Jr., expects to locate at Roanoke Rapids for the practice of his profession, law. The people of Rosemary and Roanoke Rapids will gladly welcome him. J. T. BISHOP.

The Hughes baby just arrived in the Governor's Mansion, New York, is named Elizabeth and there are some who are hoping that she will be the virgin queen of the White House.

A BEVY OF BEARS.

Real "Yarns" and not Teddy Bears—They Disturb the Camp of a Fishing and Hunting Party and Send the Hunters Home Hungry.

The following item from the Denver, Col. Post will be read with interest by the many friends of Dr. Johnston, in Halifax county.

Dr. Johnston was born near Weldon, and spent his boyhood days hunting and fishing for such game as abound in this section, and the playmates of his early days will be frank with envy when they read the following and learn that he has been having experience with the real, wild animals of the west, the ones they used to read about in the school books, in the old time Halifax county school houses. Dr. Johnston has a large number of relatives and friends in old Halifax and throughout the State.

But here is what the Denver Post says of the hunt:

"When Dr. W. A. Johnston, cashier of the American Smelting and Refining Company, and Frederick Latcham, of the Martin, Benight & Latham Carpet Company, went on a fishing and hunting trip three weeks ago they little thought they would be driven home from camp by hunger and a bear.

But the bear came and hunger followed. "Back to Home and Mother," sang Mr. Latcham, the lone watcher by the camp fireside, as he climbed the topmost limb of a poplar, while his companion fished up stream in utter oblivion, and a bear ate up the latter, all but three lemons and a jar of pickles.

And even as he sang he saw not only one, but a bevy of bears, so to speak, surround the tent and do a bear dance before the fire. The bevy consisted of mother bear and a family of bears, all weaned and equal to the act of masticating bread in loaves, sides of bacon and butter in any quantity.

Mr. Latcham, who was hunting grouse, had nothing but bird shot with which to defend himself. Hence his migration to the poplar for he knew the adage about discretion being the better part of valor.

The return of Dr. Johnston put another in the tree top in a jiffy, for, as Dr. Johnston says, he could make a 100-yard dash in a second with a bear to spur him on.

But the noisy dash of the doctor seemed to disturb the family of bears and, after licking up the crumbs of the feast, they ambled off to the mountains.

Cautiously the hunter and the fisherman approached the earth and then, the tent, after allowing the bears a reasonable time to beat a retreat.

Then they took an inventory of their supplies for the inner man. They consisted of the three lemons and a jar of pickles aforementioned, three crackers unearthed from the pockets of Dr. Johnston, and fish, fish, fish. For Dr. Johnston knows how to fish if he can't kill bears.

A consultation was held and it was moved and seconded that supper consist of the articles of food above named, that the two should take turns sleeping an eye open for bear, and that the morning should find them breaking camp.

Accordingly, full of pickles and resolutions to get back to civilization, they set out before sun-up for Steamboat Springs and Denver.

"The next time we go fishing and hunting," says Mr. Latcham, "we go armed to the teeth and carrying a safety deposit vault with a combination defying man and beast."

THE Macon Telegraph—a contemporary ordinarily of undoubted character and conspicuous ability—is yelling lustily for "refarm" in Georgia. Somehow the Telegraph's refarmed spelling rather leads us to think it is not as "cinere" as it might be.

Bank of Halifax,

After one hundred and fifty years of corporate existence without banking facilities, the Bank of Halifax, N. C., was organized on the 15th day of July, 1906, when the people of Halifax have taken on a new lease of life with a charter from the State as an accomplished fact. Its doors are open for the transaction of business. The Bank has two departments:

A COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT—whose general banking, exchange and jobbing business is conducted, and a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT—whose business is to accumulate and invest the savings of the public and to provide for the future of the individual.

Wm. H. S. Burgwyn, President. E. L. Travis, Vice-President. F. H. Gregory, Cashier.

A BUSINESS LUXURY

A CHECKING ACCOUNT is indeed a business necessity; and he who tries to get along without one is at a great disadvantage. It is not required that a person should have a large bulk of business in order to open an account.

Professional men, farmers, and many women, are running checking accounts. If you have never done business in this way, and are not familiar with the plan come to us and we will get you started. We pay 4 per cent. in our Savings Department.
