A THANKSHIVING SERMON.

It Was a Wine Provision of the Pilgrims when They Set Apart One Day in the Year in which to Count Their Plessings.

We mark November upon the calendar because it is the month of Thanks giving The H was a wise. provision of the Pilgrims when they see an art one day in the year, inwhich to turn their thoughts on Gamely, and count their blessines. We are his not aprin forger rows; hor even to the lives of the most limitle it is probable that the former outputiber the latter two to me, and it is a good thing to cultivate the habit of looking for than. When Diogenes took the lantern to look for an honest man. he implied preny plainly that he that not expect to find one. Diogenes was a grambler. If he had gone out with a smile and more confidence in his fellows, he would every corner. It is the same way with blessings. Whoever sus down with a scowl on his face and meanness in his heart, will find this world a cloudy place. But let hint take for his limtern a smile, a little faith in humankind and in God, and the world will blossom abundantly.

A man's blossings are all in his own heart. If he keeps that pure and open and cheerful, the world will appear so. He may not be rich in a material way, but it is not of the great mangs that life is made up. It is of the little things. To see the blue of the sky, and many green trees; to talk for a while with a good friend, to read some spirited piece of verse, or some helpful book; to strdown to a dinner, however simple, with a healthy appetite; to be able to do some favor for a friend which will bring a things, but they are the blessings which make life worth while. If you stop to count, you will find that you have a good many more of such than you had imagined. You can easily add to what you have. Begin this year, then, at Thanksgiving and look for blessings with a smile. Do it not only on Thanksgiving Day, do it every month, do it once a week. You vill be suprised to find how well off you are. Woman's Home Companion.

STOP GREMBLING

Get up two hours earlier in the morning and do something out of your regular profession. Mind your own business and with all your might let other people's alone. Live within your means. Give away or sell your dog. Go to bed early. Talk less of your own peculiar gifts and xirtues and more of those of your friends and neighbors. Ise cheerful. Fulfill your promises. Pay your debts. Be yourself all you would see in others. Be a good man and stop grumbling
