POPULAR IDEA OF MARRIAGE.

Make The Home Attractive and He Will Seldom Leave You Alone.

It is certain that the society man of today marries a woman who makes his home a restful place from which he is seldom tempted to wander. Why should he? The sunniest, brightest room in the house is his sanctum; here are his favorite books, pictures he likes, the latest magazines with leaves cut and no end of pipes. When the train whistles into the depot, in which is this fortunate man, a fire is started on the low hearth to make the room cheerful, although the warmth is not needed. To this room he brings his friends and here husband and wife sit when alone. Everything that will help the wife to make a home a means of grace she reads, on her table are always to be found books and magazines that talk of the higher life of the home. We mean good cooking when we say higher life, a hitherto much neglected part of religion. This man formerly out every evening, rarely goes to the theater or opera, or ball, because his home has greater attraction and he is really now so sensible, well-informed, and amounting to something that his friends are rejoiced that the seemingly incongruous marriage came about.

JUST GUESSED.

"Mrs. Wadsworth, I am very glad, indeed, to meet you. But haven't I had the honor of being introduced to you before? What was your name formerly, if I may ask?"

"My maiden name?"

"No, your name before you were divorced?"

"How did you know I had been divorced?"

"Why, hasn't everybody?"

GIRLS

THAT ARE IN DEMAND.

ANONYMOUS.

THE girls that are wanted are good girls— Good from the heart to the lips; Pure as the lily is white and pure, From its heart to its sweet leaf tips. The girls that are wanted are home girls— Girls that are mother's right hand, That fathers and brothers can trust to, And the little ones understand.

Girls that are fair on the hearthstone, And pleasant when nobody sees; Kind and sweet to their own folks, Ready and anxious to please. The girls that are wanted are wise girls, That know what to do and to say; That drive with a smile and a soft word The wrath of the household away.

The girls that are wanted are girls of sense, Whom fashion can never deceive; Who can follow whatever is pretty, And dare what is silly to leave. The girls that are wanted are careful girls, Who count what a thing will cost, Who use with a prudent generous hand, But see that nothing is lost.

The girls that are wanted are girls with hearts: They are wanted for mothers and wives, Wanted to cradle in loving arms The strongest and frailest lives. The clever, the witty, the brilliant girl, There are few who can understand, But, oh! for the wise, loving home girls There's a constant steady demand.

OLD LOVERS.

Dim eyes peer out from golden casements where Flaunts frequently a strand of silver hair; Bright shines the sun and sweet the meadows spread, And fair the sky that smiles above her head.

There, by the stream where bend the willows low, We started life—and 'twas not long ago; Ah! then the sun seemed harbored in her eyes, Amid their blue and tear-swept mysteries!

Her hands, like soft magnolia petals were; Her breath like zephyrs half afraid to stir; Her lips with honey dropt; the jonquil's grace Was in her form and love shone in her face.

She cried and trembled as I told her then I wanted her for wife (my sweet!) and when I kissed her and she kissed me, Heaven seemed To lavish joys of paradise undreamed.

Heaven! They say we near it, for we're old; Her soft, magnolia hand still wears the gold That pledged us through the paradise begun And knows no ending with the setting sun.

The violet depth has shallowed in her eye, The roses in her cheeks, perhaps a sigh Of mild regret has wilted, but her grace Of mind and soul illumine her dear face.

The meadows sweet and green turn brown and sere, Change and decay, life, death spread everywhere Save in the souls where secretly is laid The echoes of a lover's serenade.

WANTED PARTICULARS.

He was a drummer, and he was facetious. He didn't know whether the man sharing his seat in the smoking car was facetious or not and so he tried him with:

"You know what the governor of South Carolina said to the governor of North Carolina, don't you?"

"No, sir," was the reply.

"Why, he said it was a long time between drinks."

"When did he say it?"

"Why, I don't exactly know."

"What was the name of the governor of South Carolina?"

"I don't think I ever heard."

"And of North Carolina?"

"You've got me."

"And what was the reply of the latter?"

"I don't know as he made any reply."

"Between what kind of drinks did he refer to?"

"Whiskey, I suppose."

"But you don't know?"

"No."

"Young man, you have made a statement here that you can't prove. I am not one to be gulled! If, in the course of half an hour, you do not come to me with all the facts in the case, I shall—"

But the drummer was making a sneak for the coach behind.—Exchange.

Men are so untrustworthy they ought not to trust themselves.

Not Sorry for Blunder.

"If my friends hadn't blundered in thinking I was a doomed victim of consumption, I might not be alive now," writes Dr. T. Stammers, of Harrodsburg, Ky., "but for years they saw every attempt to cure a lung racking cough fail. At last I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The cough and I am now in better health than I have had for years. This wonderful life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for coughs, colds, hayfever, asthma, croup, hemorrhages, whooping cough, and weak lungs. 50c, $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists."

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvellous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this marvellous medicine completely cured him. Its positively guaranteed for Stomach, Liver or Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50c at all druggists.

When two women kiss it doesn't mean any more than when two men shake hands.

LEFT TO A WORSE FATE.

Dynamiter, Himself a Married Man, Knew What Awaited Forgetful Husband.

The business man was sitting in his office, thinking of starting for home, when a suspicious looking person came in with a leather bag in his hand.

"If you don't give me $25," said the visitor, coming at once to the point.

"I will drop this on the floor," said the business man was cool.

"What is in it?" he asked.

"Dynamite," was the brief reply.

"What will it do if you drop it?"

"Blow you."

"Drop it!" was the instant command. "My wife told me when I left home this morning to be sure and send up a bag of flour, and I forgot it. I guess it will take just about as much dynamite as you have here to prepare me for the blowing up I'll get when she sees me!"

He threw himself back in his chair and waited for the explosion, but it did not come.

"I'm a married man myself," said the dynamiter, and quietly slipped out.—Illustrated Bits.

CHILDLIKE IGNORANCE.

Laura Jean Libbey, discussing in Brooklyn her successful appearance on the stage, said: "I talk in my monologue about love, marriage and the other interests of the heart. On these subjects women, especially young women, are strangely ignorant. They really make me think, you know, of the little girl who was asked by her teacher: "What can you tell us about Solomon?" "Solomon," replied the little girl, "was very fond of animals." "And how, my dear," said the teacher, "do you make that out?" "Because," answered the little girl, "the Bible says he had 500 porcupines."

Imagination can achieve most anything but paying the household bills. Some men quarrel with their friends, but most of them with their wives. In the dark ages men were tortured on the rack. The music rack is still with us. Many an alleged blessing in disguise wouldn't be a blessing but for the disguise.
