ONLY A DOG.

That Heroic Terrier is More Worthy of Immortality Than Some Human Beings.

He was a "mere dog." Yet they gave him a "Christian" burial.

Whereat the owner, a New York man, was subjected to unpleasant criticism.

Read the story and draw your conclusions.

The owner with his pet, a handsome fox terrier, in leash, was out for a walk. Suddenly, with a strange cry, the dog gave a great spring, releasing himself from the leading string of his master.

This was the cause: A little boy who had been playing in the street had fallen in front of a rapidly approaching automobile.

The driver was unable to stop the machine. The death of the boy seemed certain.

The terrier was at the boy's side in an instant. In a twinkling he had pushed the boy away from where he lay. The onrushing auto missed the little fellow by the fraction of an inch.

The boy was saved. Quickly he was caught up by a bystander and placed in the arms of his despairing mother.

And the dog? The heavy, crunching wheels of the big machine passed over the body of the poor terrier and crushed out his life.

He was only a dog. And yet—if it is true that "greater love hath no man shown than that he lay down his life for a friend," what shall be said of a dog that laid down his life for a stranger?

Only a dog. But—He won the supreme praise of Holy Writ—and more. The boy was not his friend, not even an acquaintance, and yet the dog loved him to the death.

Was that dog not a hero—and a martyr? Certainly he was entitled to decent burial. And if a hymn was sung and a brief sermon made by the dog's sorrowing yet proud owner who is found to sneeze? Could the dog's surviving friend do less over the remains of such a hero?

"Lo, the poor Indian," fondly believes that in the happy hunting grounds his faithful dog shall bear him company.

Well, that heroic terrier is more worthy of immortality than some humans I know. Is there a hereafter for such a dog?

TOO MUCH FOR RELIGION.

The finding of an old document suggests a famous anecdote of the late Admiral Evans, which ran something in this fashion:

The Admiral one Sunday went to church in a certain city and sat down in a pew which seemed to him to be in a good strategic position. The owner of the pew, who did not recognize the Admiral, at once wrote on a slip of paper and handed it to him: "My name is —, and I pay $1000 a year for this pew."

Admiral Evans at once wrote on the slip and returned it: "My name is Bob Evans, and I think you pay too much."—New York World

When My Dreams Come True

James Whitcomb Riley

WHEN my dreams come true—when my dreams come true—
I shall lean from out my casement, in the starlight and the dew,
To listen—smile and listen to the tinkle of the strings
Of the sweet guitar my lover's fingers fondle, as he sings?
And as the moon slowly, slowly shoulders into view,
Shall I vanish from his vision—when my dreams come true?

WHEN my dreams come true—shall the simple gown I wear
Be changed to softest satin, and my maiden-braided hair
Be raveled into stony mists of rarest, fairest gold,
To be minted into kisses, more than any heart can hold?
Or "the summer of my tresses" shall my lover liken to
"The fervor of his passion"—when my dreams come true?

THE FOOL.

A fool there was and her heart she gave
(Even as you and I)
To one who was called a heartless knave,
But the fool styled him good, noble and brave.
Never trying herself to save,
(Even as you and I).

Oh! the pain she'd hide, which she denied,
Had ever been caused by the man—
She endured from one who did not care
(And now she knows he never did care)
And did not understand.

A fool there was and her eyes were blind,
(Even as you and I)
To all his faults and ways unkind,
She loved the man and did not mind
And could not see the faults others would find,
Ignoring their warning that meant to be kind,
(Even as you and I).

Oh the love she gave to this so-called knave,
And the suffering she endured—
Was caused by the man who did not know
And now she knows he never could know
And did not understand.

He loved the fool or pretended to
And sought her company for years 'tis true,
And each mail brought her a billetdoux
From the one who now had proven untrue.

But it isn't the ache of the heart nor the pain
That causes this organ to break in twain,
(It's the knowing that she was loving and true,
Shielding him ever as few girls would do—
Always hiding his faults from view—
For the one who had proven untrue.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

And every mother expects to pick a better husband for her daughter than she did for herself.

The easier it is to reform a man the oftener you'll have to do it.

Backache Almost Unbearable
Is an almost certain result of kidney trouble. D. Toomey, 301 E. Olive street, Bloomington, Ill., says: "I suffered with backache and pains in my kidneys which were almost unbearable. I gave Foley Kidney Pills a good trial, and they done wonders for me. Today I can do a hard day's and I feel the effects." E. CLARK.

FLOWERS TO THE LIVING.

A Florist's Window Bears This Legend: "It is Better to Send One Lily to a Live Friend than Ten to a Corpse."

This card is said to be a very effective salesman, too, if one does not pause to reflect upon the point where sentiment and commercialism meet.

We cannot, of course, know how much good the flowers that are sent to a corpse do. But, we have an idea that the sentiment to him who but recently inhabited that tenement of clay is little concerned about such things.

But we all know what messages, that cannot be voiced, they bear to the living, the rose in its grandeur, the lily in its purity, the violet in its incomparable sweetness.

"There's something, that's for remembrance," and there is something, that's for thoughts.

"Flowers," says Emerson, "are a proud assertion that a ray of beauty out values all the utilities of the world."

And who gives beauty—such beauty—gives a real gift. An enemy may give honied greetings. The gift of flattery may poison while it pleases. There may be a humiliating assertion of superiority in the gifts of the rich and powerful.

There is a gradation, too, often unconscious, but nevertheless accurate, in the many conventional greetings we give to men and women every day. But every greeting may have the force and efficiency, somewhat, of a flower. This is a grudging world. Did you ever have a word of praise in season? Then you know its worth, when the heart is heavy and the way seems dark. There is in all probability someone you will meet when you set forth this morning to whom a word of cheer, of real solicitude, of genuine sympathy—thought-ful from soul to soul—will be a blessing.

Every day last week your path crossed that of someone in need of something you could give. Some are struggling with temptation. Some are confronted with discouragement. Some are bereaved. Some are suffering from injustice. Some have hearts sickened with hope deferred.

To these the right word of comfort and of cheer would have been more precious than gold.—Greensboro News.

Glorious News
comes from Dr. J. T. Curtis, Dwight, Kan. He writes: "I not only have cured bad cases of eczema in my patients with Electric Bitters, but also cured myself by them of the same disease. I feel sure they will benefit any case of eczema." This shows that thousands have proved that Electric Bitters is a most effective blood purifier. Its an excellent remedy for eczema, ringworm, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Price 60c. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

A man without convictions is as uninteresting as a man with them is insufferable.

To Mothers—and Others.

WORK.

All Manly Men Work.

Work, my son, never did kill any one.

You need not be afraid that you may overwork yourself. People may die because they work all day and drink or dissipate or gamble most of the night, but they do not die of work, my son—not of work.

Work is good for you.

Good, honest, healthful labor will make you sleep soundly, eat heartily and digest easily. It will make Sunday a welcome day and a holiday worth while.

Work makes men.

Did you ever think, my son, that the men who least need to work are the men who work the hardest? Why? Because it is a pleasure to work. One is happiest when employed. To be compelled to loaf is to a real man a heavy punishment.

If you would be a man work. You cannot show me anywhere a lazy boy or man whom anybody respects or who amounts to anything.

Work.
Find out what you best like to do and then roll up your sleeves and work at it with all your might and main. It doesn't matter much what the work may be so it is honest and suits you.

Work at your work.
Whether you use a pen to write or a shovel to throw yellow clay out of a ditch, whether you preach or pray or paint a house or paddle a boat or run a peanut stand, you must work.

Work hard.
The busier you are about your work the less mischief you will do, the happier you will be, the more dollars you will make and the more good you will do in the world.

Do not shirk.
When you play you should work at your play, but you should never play at your work. Work while you work; play while you play.

All manly men work.
Look about you. Note the men whom you respect. Note those the world is proud of. What sort of men are they? Tell me.

Workers—every one!
There is nothing finer in all the world than the joy a man may find in the work of his hands or of his brain. He is doing what he was intended to do.

Work!
Nineteen Miles a Second

without a jar, shock or disturbance, is the awful speed of our earth through space. We wonder at such a case of nature's movement, and so do those who take Dr. King's New Life Pills. No griping, no distress, just thorough work that brings good health and fine feelings to all druggists.

Heroes seem able to yell the loudest of all over a stomach ache.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

"I was Crippled, could hardly walk and had to crawl down stairs at times on my hands and knees. My doctor told me I had an acute attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I was in the hospital for weeks, but was scarcely able to walk when I left it. I read about Dr. Miles' Nerveine bought a bottle and began to get better from the start, and for the past six months I have had scarcely any pain and am able to walk as well as ever." J. H. SANDERS, P. O. box 5, Rockaway, N. J. Few medicines are of any benefit for rheumatism, but Mr. Sanders tells plainly what Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveine did for it. One ounce of salicylate of soda added to one bottle of Nerveine makes an excellent remedy for rheumatism, which is now known to be a nervous disease and therefore subject to the influence of a medicine that acts through the nerves, as does Dr. Miles' Nerveine

Sufferers from rheumatism seldom fail to find relief in the use of Dr. Miles' Nerveine, with salicylate of soda.
Sold under a guarantee that assures the return of the price of the first bottle if it fails to benefit. At all Druggists.

WHERE DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Green's Health—Her Own Statement.

Covington, Mo.—"Your medicine has done me more good than all the doctor's medicines. At every monthly period I had to stay in bed four days because of hemorrhages, and my back was so weak I could hardly walk. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I can stay up and do my work. I think it is the best medicine on earth for women."
—Mrs. MRS. CLINE AVOIDING OPERATION.

Brownsville, Ind.—"I can say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else. One doctor said I must be operated upon for a serious female trouble and that nothing could help me but an operation.

"I had hemorrhages and at times could not get any medicine to stop them. I got in such a weak condition that I would have died if I had not got relief soon.

"Several women who had taken your Compound, told me to try it and I did and found it to be the right medicine to build up the system and overcome female troubles.

"I am now in great deal better health than I ever expected to be, so I think I ought to thank you for it."
