A HOPELESS CASE.

"Adam, Where Art Thou."

There is a colored preacher in Richmond, Va., says Lippincott's, whose favorite theme has ever been infant baptism. So frequently were his sermons based on this theme that his congregation at last could endure them no longer. Accordingly, a deputation appointed by the flock waited upon the minister, and in plain words advised him that, in the event that he could not find something else to say, that they would call some one who could. The dusky divine promised to meet their wishes, and on the next Sunday announced as his text, "Adam, where art thou?" "This text, brethren," declaimed the minister, "can be divided into four heads. First, every man is somewhere. Secondly, most men are where they ain't got no business to be. Thirdly, you'd better look out or you'll be there yourself. Fourthly, infant baptism. Now, brethren, reckon we might as well pass by the first three heads, and come immediately to the fourth—infant baptism."

SAME ADDRESS.

Two wretched looking cramps were brought up before a justice of the peace. Addressing the worst looking one, the justice said:

"Where do you live?"

"Nowhere."

"And where do you live?"

"I've got the room above him."—New York Globe.

No Alum—No Lime Phosphates

OLD-TIME FIDDLERS.

BY FRANK L. STANTON.

When the spirit moves them fiddlers to play their level best
No use to tell the old chaps to jest set still an' rest,
For it 'fatches' 'em, I tell you—they have another chance,
An' they don't feel out of order when they're up and in the dance!

Though grand old pop'ry music—to them as likes it chimes,
My vote is fer the home kind—the old tunes of old times;
I ain't no more the spry one I wuz so long ago,
But at a jig-tune, honey, I'm a-hittin' heel-an-toe!

The sweethearts of my young days are in the fur away,
But I feel swingin' 'em ag'in when right the fiddlers play.
Hit up the old tunes, fellers! Ef they make me keep my seat
You'll know that I am with you by the patin' of my feet!

THE MONEYLESS MAN.

Is there no secret place on the face of the earth,
Where charity dwelleth, where love has its birth—
Is there no place at all where a knock from the poor
Will bring a kind angel to open the door?
Oh, search the world over, wherever you can,
There's no open door for a "Moneyless Man."

Go look at your Church with its cloud-reaching spire,
Which gives to the sun, its same look of red fire—
Where arches and columns, so gorgeous within
And its walls seems as pure, as a babe without sin,
Walk down the long aisle, see the rich and the great,
In the pomp and the pride of their worldly estate;
Walk down in your pithos, and find if you can,
Who opens the door for the "Moneyless Man."

Then go to your hovel, no raven has fed,
The wife who has waited too long for her bread,
Kneel down by her pallet, and kiss the death frost,
From the lips of the Angel your poverty has lost,
And then in your agony, turn toward God
And bless while it smites thee, the chastening rod,
You will find at the end of Life's little span,
There's a welcome above for the "Moneyless Man."
—T. Couper, Norfolk, Va.

WITH THE WITS.

"They told me to use a live frog for bait," said the stranger, "but I've been here all day and haven't had a bite yet." Georgia darkey.

"De frog hez swimmied ter a log wid yo' hook an' line, an' is settin' cross-leg on de log a-lookin' at you!"

"Oh, Willie! Willie!" exclaimed his mother, shocked and grieved.

"How often have I told you not to play with that naughty Johnson boy?"

"Mamma," said William, who appeared in a regretful state of disorder and with a bruised face, in utter disgust, "do I look as if I had been playing with anybody?"

"What is the speaker's system for bringing up her own children?"

"It's a system she perfected all by herself, and she tells me it works to a charm."

"Tell be about it."

"Why, when she wants them to do a thing she says 'don't,' and when she wants them not to do a thing she says 'do.'"

BEWARE.

Appropos of his policy of silence, Mayor Mitchell, of New York, said at a dinner:

"In silence there is safety. Those who want opinions often get opinions they don't want. Take the young planter's case.

"A young Mississippi planter had a servant—Uncle Jeff—who had cared for him as a child and who was very devoted to him. The young man became engaged to a neighboring beauty who was credited with a very bad temper. Noticing that Uncle Jeff never mentioned his approaching marriage, the young planter said one day: "Jeff, you know I am going to marry Miss Lamar?"

"Yes," was the reply. "I know it."

"I haven't heard you say anything about it," persisted the planter.

"No," Jeff acknowledged. "I ain't for me to say nuffin' about it. I ain't got nuffin' to say."

"But what's your opinion about it?"

"Well, massa," said Jeff, with some hesitation, "you knows one thing—the most pisenest snakes has got the most preniest skins."

A word to the wife is sufficient to start a rough house.

There is usually a way to get around any kind of rule.

It's much easier to borrow trouble than to get rid of it.

It is easier for the average man to stand adversity than prosperity, and much more common.

The girl who cant sing and wont sing is entitled to her choice of husbands.

If a woman marries the wrong man it is because the right one failed to ask her.

But the average man would have no use for mirrors if he could see himself in them as others see him.

Guard Your Children Against Bowel Trouble

Many children at an early age become constipated, and frequently serious consequences result. Not being able to realize his own condition, a child's bowels should be constantly watched, and a gentle laxative given when necessary. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are especially well adapted to women and children. The Sisters of Christian Charity, 531 Charles St., Luzerne, Pa., who attend many cases of sickness say of them:

"Some time ago we began using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and find that we like them very much. Their action is excellent and we are grateful for having been made acquainted with them. We have had good results in every case and the Sisters are very much pleased."

The form and flavor of any medicine is very important, no matter who is to take it. The taste and appearance are especially important when children are concerned. All parents know how hard it is to give the average child "medicine," even though the taste is partially disguised. In using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, however, this difficulty is overcome. The shape of the tablets, their appearance and candy-like taste at once appeal to any child, with the result that they are taken without objection.

The rich chocolate flavor and absence of other taste, make Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets the ideal remedy for children.

If the first box fails to benefit, the price is returned. Ask your druggist. A box of 25 doses costs only 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.
