SIMPLY TRUE TO INSTINCT.

Bulls Realized To Whom They Had To Do and Took Action Accordingly.

When the conversation led up to the wonderful instinct of some animals, Elias M. Ammons, governor of Colorado, came across with a story about two metropolitan brokers.

The brokers were having an afternoon luncheon smoke one afternoon and one of them became reminiscent.

"How well do I remember when I was a barefoot lad," observed the broker. "In those days the most of my time was spent in looking after the stock on father's farm. I'll never forget the day that father roped a couple of bulls and told me to hold them while he went into the barn for a moment."

"What did they do to you?" asked the second broker.

"They didn't do a thing to me," answered the first. "They scorched my hands with the rope, they upset me, they mauled me and they walked all over me."

"I don't doubt it in the least," returned the second. "Unruly dispositions, I suppose?"

"No, it wasn't that," replied the first. "It was a case of wonderful instinct. They sized me up at a glance as a small stockholder and knew what is generally done to small stockholders."

LAST WORD IN PRECAUTION.

Two friends boarded a great trans-Atlantic liner and set sail for Cherbourg. One was a good fellow. The other was a niggardly man. The first night out they went to their stateroom.

"Say Bob," said the niggardly man, "I wish you'd step out on deck while I undress."

"That's a remarkable request," objected the good fellow. "Why have you developed this streak of hushfulness at this late day I never saw any signs of it before."

"Never mind about that," said the niggardly man. "You get out!"

After a long and acrimonious argument the good fellow went out on deck and stayed half an hour. When he returned to the stateroom the niggardly man was stretched out in the upper berth. Moreover, he was dressed up like a Christmas tree in a beribboned nightgown and a woman's boudoir cap.

"Say!" exclaimed the good fellow. "What in thunder is the matter? Why have you got that make-up on?"

"Look at me and be wise," said the niggardly man. "Remember the Titanic. In case of a wreck, women and children first."—Popular Magazine.

SHE FILLED THE BILL.

John Sloan, the painter, was lecturing on "Models" before an art class in New York.

"Then there is the frivolous model," said Mr. Sloan. "She, unless very beautiful, is to be avoided."

"A frivolous model besought a friend of mine to employ her."

"No, no," he said. "I only do still life—flowers and fruit."

"Well," said the model, looking up at him, reproachfully out of limpid blue eyes, "well, ain't I a peach?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

KEEP ON.

If the day looks kinder gloomy,
An' your chances kinder slim,
If the situation's puzzlin'
An' the prospect's awful grim,
An' perplexities keep pressin'
'Til all hope is nearly gone,
Just bristle up and grit your teeth,
An' keep on keepin' on.

Fumin' never wins a fight,
An' frettin' never pays;
There ain't no good of broodin' in
These pessimistic ways—
Smile just kinder cheerfully
When hope is nearly gone,
And bristle up and grit your teeth,
An' keep on keepin' on.

There ain't no use in growlin'
An' grumblin' all the time
When music's ringin' everywhere
An' everything's a rhyme—
Just keep on smilin' cheerfully
If hope is nearly gone,
An' bristle up and grit your teeth,
An' keep on keepin' on.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

INGERSOLL'S VISION OF WAR. A Beautiful, Clearcut Word Picture of War Preparation.

The following is an extract from "The Vision of War," forming a part of a speech delivered in 1876 by the late Col. Robert G. Ingersoll at Indianapolis, Ind., to the veteran soldiers of the civil war:

"The past rises before me like a dream. Again we are in the great struggle for national life. We hear the sounds of preparation, the music of boisterous drums, the silver voices of heroic bugles. We see thousands of assemblages and hear the appeals of orators. We see pale cheeks of women and flushed faces of men, and in those assemblages we see all the dead whose dust we have covered with flowers. We lose sight of them no more. We are with them when they enlist in the great army of freedom. We see them part with those they love. Some are walking for the last time in quiet, woody places with the maidens they adore. We hear the whisperings and the sweet vows of eternal love as they lingeringly part forever. Others are bending over cradles, kissing babies that are asleep. Some are receiving the blessings of old men. Some are parting with mothers who hold them and press them to their hearts again and again and say nothing. Kisses and tears, tears and kisses—divine mingling of agony and love! And some are talking with wives and endeavoring with brave words, spoken in the old tones, to drive from their hearts the awful fear. We see them part. We see the wife standing in the door with the babe in her arms—standing in the sunlight sobbing. At the turn in the road a hand waves—she answers by holding high, in her arms the child. He is gone, and forever.

"We see them as they march proudly away under the flaunting flags keeping time to the grand, wild music of war—marching down the streets of the great cities, through the towns and across the prairies, down to the fields of glory, to do and to die for the eternal right.

"We go with them, one and all. We are by their side on all the gray fields, in all the hospitals of pain, on all the weary marches. We stand guard with them in the wild storms and under the quiet stars. We are with them in the ravines running with blood, in the furrows of old fields. We are with them between contending hosts, unable to move, wild with thirst, the life ebbing slowly away among the withered leaves. We see them pierced by balls and torn with shells in the trenches by the forts, and in the whirlwind of the charge, where men become iron, with nerves of steel.

"We are with them in prisons of hatred and famine, but human speech can never tell what they endured.

"We are at home when the news comes that they are dead. We see the maiden in the shadow of her first sorrow. We see the silvered head of the old man bowed with his last grief.

"They sleep under the solemn pines, the sad hemlock, the tearful willows and the embracing vines. They sleep beneath the shadows of the clouds, careless alike of sunshine or of storm, each in the windowless Palace of Rest. Earth may run red with other wars; they are at peace. In the midst of battle, in the roar of conflict, they found the serenity of death.

"A vision of the future arises:
"I see our country filled with happy homes, with firesides of content.

"I see a world where thrones have crumbled and kings are dust. The aristocracy of idleness has perished from the earth.

"I see a world without a slave. Man at last is free. Nature's forces have by science been enslaved. Lightning and light, wind and wave, frost and flame, and all the secret subtle powers of earth and air are the tireless toilers for the human race.

"I see a world at peace, adorned with every form of art, with music's myriad voices thrilled, white lips are rich with words of love and truth; a world in which no exile sighs, no prisoner mourns, a world on which the biggest shadow does not fall; a world where labor reaps its full reward, where work and worth go hand in hand, where the poor girl trying to win bread with the needle—the needle that has been called the 'asp for the breast of the poor'—is not driven to the desperate choice of crime or death, of suicide or shame.

"I see a world without the world's outstretched palm, the miser's heartless, stony stare, the piteous wail of want, the livid lips of lies, the cruel eyes of scorn.

"I see a race without disease of flesh or of brain—shapely and fair—the marred harmony of form and function—and as I look, life lengthens, joy deepens, love canopies the earth; and over all, in the great dome, shines the eternal star of human hope."

INVESTIGATED BEFORE THE RESCUE.

"Is she going to marry the young man who saved her from drowning?"

"I think so."

"But is she sure that he is able to support her in the style to which she has been accustomed?"

"Yes, she looked him up in Bradstreet's before she fell in."—Bradstreet Post.

THE AGE OF DRESS.

The Man Sees the Real Woman and Not Her Clothes.

Under the above heading the Iowa State Journal very truthfully remarks that the world is all running to clothes. We are made to believe that the great thing about a woman is her clothes. But this is for the women. Men don't care a snap about what the women wear, so it is decent. The masculine eye has not been gifted with those powers that can discern the grace and delicate intricacy in the lines and folds of a gown. The man sees the woman and not the clothes and don't you forget it—the brightness of mind, the gentility of temper, the unselfishness of life, and the cordial good will he sees thru the dress and under the millinery.

The dress may be costly and beautiful but it does not impress him if the wearer is full of conceit and vanity. Sorry, indeed, will be the day when a man makes his estimate of a woman from the clothes she has on, and fails to see those immortal qualities of mind and heart which constitute the true woman. The mere expression of vanity in a woman is not hopeful, is not prophetic of happy homes or a noble citizenship.

ANENT AN ACTOR MAN.

Dan Daly once essayed the legitimate. It was in his early days. All he had to do was to come to the centre of stage at a critical moment and shout:

"The king is dead, long live the king!"

When the time came Mr. Daly promptly assumed the correct dramatic pose, but for a moment was so agitated that words failed him. Then he belloped at the top of his voice:

"Long live the king—he's dead!"

5 Women Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

1. HONOLULU, Me.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—Mrs. HAZARD, SOWARD, Honolulu, Me.

2. CHARLOTTE, N. C.—"I was in bad health for two years, with pains in both sides and was very nervous. I had a growth which the doctor said was a tumor, and I never would get well until I had an operation. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I gladly say that I am now enjoying fine health."—Mrs. ROSA STUBBS, 16 WILSON ST., CHARLOTTE, N. C.

3. HANOVER, Pa.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new woman and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—Mrs. ANNA WELLS, 190 STOCK ST., HANOVER, Pa.

4. DECATUR, Ill.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians and I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LUCIA A. GRIEWOHL, 2500 Bk. East WILSON STREET, DECATUR, Ill.

5. CLEVELAND, Ohio.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GERRITT, 7305 Madison Av., CLEVELAND, O.

HERE is no occupation for a young woman that is more pleasant or congenial, more suited to her ability and nature, none that can give her more personal satisfaction, and if she be a thoroughly trained professional one that offers bigger rewards than that of music teaching.
