OBEYED ORDERS.

Charge Boys, and Give Them What General Cheatham Says.

General Frank Cheatham, who was as daring as he was big-hearted, and was the idol of his entire command, had, as everybody knew, a decided tendency towards the use of language as lurid as it was unrestrained, and was in the habit of "lifting" his men, as Mr. Kipling says, by the inspiration of what might be called his compelling words.

During the terrible battle of Chickamauga, when victory wavered in the balance and the gray lines seemed faltering in their dreadful advance, General Cheatham began shouting his far-famed battle rally, "Charge 'em, boys, charge 'em, and give 'em hell!" At which, General Polk, the soldier-bishop, seeing that his own men had needed also to be rallied and being debarred by his priestly calling from what seemed the most effective battle cry, began shouting too, "Charge 'em, boys, charge 'em, and give 'em, and give 'em—what General Cheatham says!"

TAKING NO CHANCES.

"Ain't you rather young to be left in charge of a drug store?" "Perhaps; what can I do for you?" "Do your employers know it's dangerous to leave a mere boy like you in charge of such a place?" "I am competent to serve you madam."

"Don't you know you might poison someone?" "There is no danger of that, madam. What can I do for you?" "Think I had better go to the store down the street." "I can serve you just as well as they can and as cheaply." "Well, you may give me a two-cent stamp, but it doesn't look right."—Toronto Mail and Empire.

A SKEPTIC.

An esteemed citizen was rambling along when he met a friend wearing a rather doubtful cast of countenance. "Say, Jim," remarked the friend, "I want to ask you about Dr. Syrup. Do you really think his medicines are helpful?"

"No," was the prompt rejoinder of Jim, "nor unless you closely follow his invariable directions." "His invariable directions?" returned the other, wondering. "What are they?" "You will find them on every bottle," smiled the merry James. "Keep the bottle tightly corked."

ME TOO.

"Prosperity has ruined many a man," declared the moralizer. "Well," rejoined the demoralizer, "if I was going to be ruined at all, I'd prefer prosperity to do it."

There is always a woman in the case when a female lawyer is employed.

HAVE YOU A CHILD?

Many women long for children, but because of some curable physical derangement are deprived of the greatest of all blessings. The women whose names follow were restored to normal health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write and ask them about it.

"I took your Compound and have a fine, strong baby."—Mrs. JOHN MITCHELL, Massena, N. Y.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine for expectant mothers."—Mrs. A. M. MYERS, Gordonville, Mo.

"I highly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before child-birth, it has done so much for me."—Mrs. E. M. DOHERTY, R. R. 1, Conshohocken, Pa.

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build up my system and have the dearest baby girl in the world."—Mrs. MOSE BLAKELEY, Coalport, Pa.

"I praise the Compound whenever I have a chance. It did so much for me before my little girl was born."—Mrs. E. W. SANDERS, Rowlesburg, W. Va.

"I took your Compound before baby was born and feel I owe my life to it."—Mrs. WINNIE TILLES, Winter Haven, Florida.

THE CHRISTIAN'S COMMISSION.

BY W. L. McLEOD.

Lines suggested by the declaration of a minister that the best way to enjoy religion was to endeavor each day to put more of heaven into some other heart.

"Put more of heaven into some other heart,"
As you journey along life's way,
Then the forest of glory will enter your own
And abide with you day by day.

"Put more of heaven into some other heart,"
As taught by the Master Divine,
And then unto you there surely will come
A sense of the feeling benign.

Put more of heaven into some other heart,
To do this may we all be inspired,
And daily minister to "one of the least"
Of His who are weary and tired.

There are many despondent in life's busy mart,
You meet with them day by day;
Won't you "put more of heaven into some other heart"
As they travel life's weary highway?

A word or a smile, as we journey along,
These in life play a wonderful part,
And are potent and powerful factors to "put
More of heaven into some other heart."

"Put more of heaven into some other heart,"
And what is the guerdon, pray?
"You shall be of Mine," the Master hath said,
"When I make up My jewels that day."

"Put more of heaven into some other heart,"
And the blessing will come to thee;
For Christ says, "As ye did it to one of Mine
Ye did it unto Me."

O Jesus, Beloved, dear Master and Friend,
Our guide and exemplar Thou art,
We pray Thee to help us each day that we live
To "put more of heaven into some other heart."

THE OLD FAMILIAR FACES.

I have had playmates, I have had companions,
In my days of childhood, in my joyful school days—
All, all are gone, the old familiar faces.

I have been laughing, I have been carousing,
Drinking late, sitting late, with my my bosom cronies—
All, all are gone, the old familiar faces.

I loved a love once, fairest among women;
Closed are her doors on me, I must not see her—
All, all are gone, the old familiar faces.

I have a friend, a kinder friend has no man:
Like an ingrate, I left my friend abruptly;
Left him, to muse on the old familiar faces.

Ghost-like, I paced round the haunts of my childhood,
Earth seemed a desert I was bound to traverse,
Seeking to find the old familiar faces.

Friend of my bosom, thou more than a brother,
Why wert not thou born in my father's dwelling?
So might we talk of the old familiar faces—

How some they died, and some they have left me,
And some are taken from me; all are departed,
All, all are gone, the old familiar faces.

—Charles Lamb.

RELUCTANT AWAKENING.

The attorneys for the prosecution and defense had been allowed fifteen minutes each to argue the case. The attorney for the defense had commenced his argument with an allusion to the old swimming-hole of his boyhood days. He told in flowery oratory of the joy of youth, the delights of the cool water—

And in the midst of it he was interrupted by the drawing voice of the judge.

"Come out, Chauncey," he said, "and put on your clothes. Your fifteen minutes are up."

OUT OF HAM AGAIN.

The late "Bob" Taylor, who was called the "Pardoning Governor," told the following story of an old "auntie" who came to him while Governor of Tennessee, and said:

"Marse Governeh, I want my Sam pardoned."

"Where is he auntie?"

"In the penitentiary."

"What for?"

"Stealin' a ham."

"Did he steal it?"

"Yes, sah, he suah did."

"Is he a good nigger, auntie?"

"Lawsy, no, sah! He's a powerful worlless nigger."

"Then why do you want him pardoned?"

"Cause, your honoh, we's plum out of ham ag'n."

NO EVIDENCE OF IT.

"Does your daughter play the piano by ear?"

"No, she uses both hands and both feet, but I don't think she has learned to use her ears."

Sometimes two women can stop talking about each other long enough to swap kisses.

ACCORDING TO BILLY SUNDAY.

Evangelist Hits From the Shoulder and Utters a Truth.

We are not an especial admirer of Billy Sunday, but we are willing to admit that he says some good things, of which the following are samples:

A PLEA FOR WIVES.

"Boys, don't take a girl just because of her looks when she's all fussed up. Go call on her. Stay till about 10 o'clock. Go home, but leave your glove or something and go back the next morning, early. If she meets you with her hair in curl-papers, a shoe on one foot and a slipper on the other, take to the woods and don't wait for the glove. If she is in a neat working dress, with her sleeves rolled and a ribbon or thing-um-ma-jig in her hair, grab her quick."

"And you married men! Brag on your wives while you've got 'em. Give them flowers and candy once in a while; tell 'em you are glad to have them around. And you'll see that old bent back—bent in mending your socks and getting your meals—straighten up on the installment plan. Try it."

"Don't wait until they're six feet underground and then offer them flowers and say, 'Here, smell these.' It's too late then. A whole lot of money is spent for fine caskets that should have been spent for a hired girl. The only reason some men spend money on their wife's funeral is to try to pull the wool over another woman's eyes. I know a man who explained his selection of a wife on the ground that she bore the reputation of being the best worker in the neighborhood. I know another man who bought a mule on the same recommendation. Think of the mockery of a tombstone inscription, 'At Rest,' over the body of a woman who has worked herself to death for some mean, stingy hatcher-faced husband."

THE HOME AND THE MOTHER.

If it had not been for the expositulations and the pleadings of his mother George Washington would have become a midshipman in the British navy and the name of that capital yonder would have been some other. John Randolph said in the house of representatives, "if it had not been for my godly mother, I, John Randolph, would have been an infidel." Gray, who wrote the 'Elegy in a Country Churchyard,' said he was one of a large family of children that had the misfortune to survive their mother.

"The training of a Martin Luther or a John Bunyan is greater than the training of a Caesar or an Alexander the Great. To launch a boy for Christ is better than launching a battleship or a cruiser. "That glittering pillar down there on the banks of the Potomac is George Washington's monument, but it is his mother's monument, too."

"Back in 1850 an American went across the seas, died and was buried in a foreign land. Who was it sleeping in that coffin which was brought back on the deck of an ocean liner plowing the seas? What battles had he fought? None. What statue had he carved? None. What great oration had he delivered? None. He had simply written a little song. John Howard Payne had written, 'Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.'"

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Beware of Substitutes.

In these days of keen competition it is important that the public should see that they get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and not take substitutes sold for the sake of extra profit. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has stood the test and been approved for more than forty years. Obtainable everywhere.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Beware of Substitutes.

This is a medicine intended especially for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation. It is meeting with much success and rapidly gaining in favor and popularity. Obtainable everywhere.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Beware of Substitutes.

A man who is completely wrapped up in himself is a bundle of conceit.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Beware of Substitutes.

It is well enough to give credit where credit is due, but it is better to be paid in cash.

"Bob—this is SOME thirst-quencher"

Some thirst-quencher is right! The most tring games are well worth the energy if followed by a cool glass of Pepsi-Cola.

Not only delicious and wholesome, but invigorating at all times—after contests of brain or brawn. And in the home it has the same appetizing and comfort-giving effects. You can get it at the fountain—or carbonated in bottles, at your grocer's.
