TIME'S MONEY.

Major George W. Teideman, of Savannah, Ga., tells the following about the old-time Georgia editor who was usually mayor, justice of the peace and real estate agent, as well.

Upon one occasion one of these editors was busy writing an editorial on the tariff when a Georgia couple came in to be married. Without looking up, without once slacking his pen, the editor said: "Time's money; want her?" "Yes," said the youth. "Want him?" the editor nodded toward the girl. "Yes," she replied. "Man and wife," pronounced the editor, his pen still writing rapidly. "One dollar. Bring a load of wood for it. One-third pine; balance oak."

JOHNNY ON THE SPOT.

A youngster went into a merchant's office and not getting immediate attention he approached the boss and said: "Excuse me, sir, but I want a job, and I'm in a hurry." "You do, eh?" said the merchant. "And why are you in such a hurry?" "Got to hurry," replied the youngster. "Left school yesterday and haven't struck anything yet. I can't waste time and if you've got nothing I'll be moving on. The only place I can stop long is where they pay me for it." "When can you come?" asked the surprised merchant. "Don't have to come," was the quick reply. "I'm here now and would have been to work before this if you'd said so."—Boston Transcript.

HER NEGLECTFUL PARENTS.

She was young, very pretty, and had been engaged less than forty-eight hours. "Mamma," she said, softly. "Harry is—is just perfectly wonderful!" "Yes," Muriel, replied her mother understandingly. "Yes, he is! Why you and papa have known me—known me all my life and never noticed it." "Never noticed what, dear?" "Why, Harry kept looking into my eyes last evening, and every time he looked into them he whispered to me that each one was just a little bit bluer than the other."—Judge.

SELF-PRESERVATION.

My old friend Hiram was a pretty wise farmer. One day I found him packing a trunk. He put in a nightgown. It wasn't a man's night gown. "Look here, Hiram," says I, "what's the idea of a woman's night gown in your baggage?" "Hiram looked at me as if I ought to know better, and said: "I'm going to cross the ocean, and I want to be ready if the boat sinks. Remember the motto, 'Women and children first.'"—Ex.

"Here's your pill," said Mrs. John to her husband, who was suffering from grip. "All right," said John, winking from a doze. "I'll go you one more game, but this is positively the last."—Life.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness after eating and from pain in the stomach," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Fort Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.

TOMORROW.

He was going to be all that a mortal should be. Tomorrow; No one should be kinder or braver than he Tomorrow.

A friend who was troubled and weary he knew, Who'd be glad of a lift and who needed it, too; On him he would call and see what he could do Tomorrow.

Each morning he stacked up the letters he'd write Tomorrow; And thought of the folks he would fill with delight Tomorrow.

It was too bad, indeed, he was busy today, And hadn't a minute to stop on his way; More time I will have to give others, he'd say, Tomorrow.

The greatest of workers this man would have been Tomorrow; The world would have known him had he ever seen Tomorrow.

But the fact is he died and he faded from view, And all that he left here when living was through Was a mountain of things he intended to do Tomorrow.

TO THOSE WHO WALK ALONE.

Women there are on earth, most sweet and high, Who lose their own, and walk bereft and lonely, Loving that one lost until they die, Loving it only.

And so they never see beside them grow Children whose coming is like breath of flowers; Consoled by subtler loves the angels know Through childless hours.

Good deeds they do; they comfort and they bless In duties others put off till the morrow; Their look is balm, their touch is tenderness To all in sorrow.

Betimes the world smiles at them, as 'twere shame, This maiden guise, long after youth's departed; But in God's Book they bear another name—"The faithful-hearted."

Faithful in life, and faithful unto death, Such souls, in sooth, illumine with luster splendid That glimpsed, glad land wherein, the vision saith, Faith's wrongs are ended.

AUNT JEMIMY'S MAXIMS. By Cally Ryland.

Dem folks whar neveh makes a mistake is all done moved out yon-duh to the cemetery.

Folks whar a'ways sez what dey thinks mout not be pop'lar, but dey is suney a heap mo' intrustin' den de folks whar a'ways tellin' you whar othuh people thinks.

I knows a mighty tall man whar is a'ways short when he's axed fuh money.

Nobody is gwine ter ovuh-value de man whar is a'ways unduh-valuing hisself.

Ev'ry 'oman kin keep a secret when hits a good joke on huhsself.

Hit ain't of'n dat a man is driven to drink. He jes' natchelly walks up to it.

THE COMING OF RELIGION.

Rev. William Milton Hess, Ph.D., Pastor Trinity Congregational Church, New York, in New York Herald.

Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets.—St. Matt. vii:12.

We today see the breaking up of creeds, because we are at last realizing that they are mere human statements.

Idle tradition is no longer allowed to hold sway. Precedents are without authority unless they can justify themselves. Only as past tradition or precedent has intrinsic value today can it live.

Only now here and there is humanity preparing to welcome the new-old religion of Jesus and the prophets. This religion of deed, of righteousness, of character, of the twentieth century electric light type of religion. We have passed through the candle light and gas light stage of the Christian religion. The pressure today is toward the electric light or the light of the noonday sun.

A glorious day is ahead for real religion—the religion of deed rather than of creed; the religion of moral character rather than of dogma. Religion is a living force, not a dead principle. It is something for seven days in the week, and something that affects human conduct every hour of the day. This, we today believe, is the religion Jesus stood for—a religion that is fundamental and non-sectarian—and this is just the religion that the really civilized and progressive world is looking for.

Men and women have been crying for bread—the bread of religion. Humanity is today hungering and thirsting after God.

A great controlling move today is fear. This plays the largest part in the determination of the conduct of men and women. The love of pleasure and ease and comfort is a great human weakness that produces no stability of character. The love of money or aversion is widely prevailing sin, but the most widely prevailing weakness is moral cowardice, due to fear.

Men and women fear because they have no practical faith in God. He is the great reality in religion and in life.

What we need today is a great compelling sense of the reality and nearness of God. Jesus had a wonderful sense of the reality of God, and Jesus knew no fear. Moral cowardice was not in his make-up.

What is left in the great modern transition from theology to religion? God is left, Jesus is left, a glorious, rich, full life, here and hereafter, is left. Everything of value is left. The Golden Rule, above all, is left, and the Golden Rule is Jesus' summary of the very essence of religion. This sun's up man's duty to God and man. This is the law and the prophets.

When men really live this principle as their religion, then man's relation to man will be ideal.

Morals are being injected into business and politics and even into religion. Thank God, the day of real justice, of real democracy, is coming apace. The Golden Rule is to replace the rule of gold. "Our God is marching on." "His truth is marching on."

It is only a question of time when ignorance and blindness must pass and we shall have real religion—the religion of the Golden Rule, the religion of deed. God speed the day!

FOR BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, COUGHS AND COLDS

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 cents.

If everything was sold in as liberal and fair a manner as the below named drug-gists are selling Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectorant, absolutely no cause for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. These druggists say—"Buy a bottle of this remedy and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Croup or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just the same as we do with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador, if it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy ever used for any of these complaints." Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine, and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the exaggerated claims of the manufacturer or on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?

In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its efficiency from these druggists, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you would in buying most any of the old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonful, whereas 50c worth makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonful) when mixed at the proper strength with one pint of sugar and one quart of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic. It is pleasant and children are fond of it. The sole judge and user of this medicine is authorized to sell the same under the name of "Money Back Remedy" and "Money Back Asthmador" and to run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?
