ABOUT GIRLS.

Every Girl Should Have Some Useful Vocation or Avocation.

What fond affections cluster around the truly innocent girl—the girl whose purity glistens like the snow in the frosty moonlight! Nothing in all this world is quite so charming as girlish innocence. And how can any girl be really happy unless she is pure and innocent, sweet and wholesome?

The French have a pretty proverb, "La beauté sans vertu est une fleur sans parfum" (Beauty without virtue is like a flower without perfume.) Every genuinely pretty girl in the world is as pure as the pearl. The loveliest and best "movie" actresses are those whose days are spent in goodness.

For generations Priscilla, the Puritan maiden, principal historic figure of Longfellow's immortal poem "The Courtship of Miles Standish," has been regarded by the English-speaking world as an ideal type of guileless girlhood, of maidenly modesty.

"There is no land so sacred, no air so pure and so wholesome as the air she breathes, and the soil that is pressed by her footsteps."

There is doubtless many a modern Priscilla. Lack of space forbids me to speak in detail of the character of Evangeline, "the pride of the village of Grand Pre," as delineated in Longfellow's exquisitely beautiful poem of that name.

Every girl should have some vocation or avocation. Idleness is a prolific source of vice, sin, misery and unhappiness. The girl in good health ought to be willing to do her share of the world's work. The young woman who goes forth in the morning to earn her daily bread, to "breathe the blows of circumstance," to wage the battle of life alone, determined to maintain her purity and her innocence at all hazards, is beyond all praise. Honest, conscientious work is good for both soul and body. We cannot always choose our own work. "Let us to Providence trust, and abide and work in our stations." The girl without tuition and training cannot expect to fill any of the more important positions.

The humblest girl can have a little library of choice books which will be all her own. Many of the most popular books in our public libraries are among the most worthless. An inspiring book for girls is "Fairest Girlhood," by Margaret E. Sangster. Another noble book by the same author, is "Winsome Womanhood." Still another great and inspiring book is "The Pleasures of Life," by Lord Avebury, better known as Sir John Lubbock. I wish I could place a copy of each of these three beloved volumes in the hands of every girl in America.

Of course the Bible is the greatest of all books. Two noble girls (or women) of the Old Testament are Esther and Ruth, whose characters any girl can study with profit. Henry Ward Beecher once said that books are not furniture, but that there is nothing which so completely furnishes a house as books. Any private library, however small, should include copies of Shakespeare, Milton and the Bible. Blessed is that girl whose thirst for useful knowledge is insatiable.

The girl who would make the most of life, who would avoid the many pitfalls, snares and allurements which meet the young on every hand, must give diligent heed unto the advice, admonition and instructions of her parents. For, in the words of King Lear, "How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child."

THE OLD ROCKING CHAIR.

You may talk of the joy of a swift-gliding keel, And the pleasure you find in an automobile, The delight of a trotter and a rubber-tired rig, Or a sleigh when King Winter puts on his white wig; Or canter away over fences and rocks, Or a tall bony hunter pursuing the fox; You may also go up for a spin in the air, But give me the ease of the old rocking-chair.

The rose-flowered cretonne is faded and torn, The back has been mended, the varnish is worn, But when rain on the pane drums a dreary refrain, And sorrowful memories haunt me again, Or the day has been long, and I'm weary and sad, Or my spirits are low, or the kiddies are bad, How sweet to forget all my trouble and care In the kindly embrace of the old rocking-chair!

A mother reclined in its roominess deep To sing to her babies and rock them to sleep; A father found rest at the close of the day Leaning back on its cushions so soft and so gay; And flaxen-haired tots made believe 'twas a boat In which to far countries they journeyed afloat, So the throne of a monarch can never compare In value to me with the old rocking-chair.

Apart of each dear one who loved it so well Seems yet in the battered old rocker to dwell, It is hallowed by hands that are under the mold, And here with the new chairs, all satin and gold, On the Axminster rug it shall still to the end, A shabby but honored, reliable friend, The rest to the attic in time we may bear, But I'll never abandon the old rocking-chair.

Freatly Benefited by Chamberlain's Liniment

"I have used Chamberlain's Liniment for sprains, bruises and rheumatic pains and the great benefit I have received justifies my recommending it in the highest terms," writes Mrs. Florence Sibley, Wabash, Ind. "If you are troubled with rheumatic pains you will certainly be pleased with the prompt relief which Chamberlain's Liniment affords."

A man without a collar button is almost as helpless as a woman without a hairpin.

Marriage isn't necessarily a failure, but it's seldom what it ought to be.

You're not the only one; there are others who talk too much.

Does Sloan's Liniment Help Rheumatism?

Ask the man who knows it, he knows. "To think I suffered all these years when one 2-cent bottle of Sloan's Liniment cured me," writes one grateful user. It warms and soothes the sore, stiff, painful places and you feel so much better. Buy it today, it's only 2c."

One of the ambitions of the average man is to do those he has been done by.

THE MYSTERY OF DREAMS.

Even the Longest Dream is Said to Last But a Second.

Just as sleep is a natural phenomenon of life, so dreams are a natural phenomenon of sleep. Doctors say that the longest dream we ever have—even the dream that seems to carry us through several days—perhaps occupies no more than a single second.

Some authorities maintain that if any one of our dreams were to last longer than a single second we should die. Other authorities are convinced that we do not dream at all when we are asleep, but only in the fraction of time when we are as Shakespeare has expressed it "twixt sleep and waking."

It is also argued that dreams are nothing but distorted ideas and images passing through the drowsy mind, and being no more than extraordinary variations of things that have happened, or of things that we have thought, or read in our waking moments, they can have no possible association with our future. But, on the other hand, dreams have been credited with prophetic meanings since the days when the world was young, and dream books are still published and purchased and consulted.

ON THE OLD FARM.

An official of the Department of Agriculture said at a dinner in Washington:

"The farm, with its automobile and phonograph and telephone, is gay enough now. The dull and even dreary farm life of the past has disappeared."

"The farm life of the past!"

"One divine spring morning in the past a farm boy rushed to his farmer daddy and said:

"Oh, pop, the circus comes to town today! Will ye gimme a dime to go to see her?"

"Certainly not!" roared the farmer. "A dime to go to see the circus, when only last winter I let you go up to the top of Jones's hill to see the eclipse of the moon! Do you think, you young dog, that life is one perpetual round of pleasure?"

"HEART IN HIS MOUTH.

An Irishman, applying for a pension at Washington, insisted upon the justice of his claim owing to the fact that he was wounded while in the service of his country.

"How and where were you wounded?" one of the committee inquired. Placing his hand over his heart, he said:

"I was shot in the breast on a retreat from Bull Run, yer honor."

"Shot through the breast on a retreat?" said the committee. "How could you be shot through the breast on a retreat?"

"I had the indiscretion to turn and look back, yer honor."

"But if you were shot in the breast in the place you indicate the ball would have gone through your heart. How is that?"

"Me heart was in me mouth at the time, yer honor"—Fun and Frolic.

Every time two women go to a matinee together they call it a theater party.

FOR BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, COUGHS AND COLDS

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 cents.

If everything was sold in as liberal and fair a manner as the below named drug-gists are selling Schillmann's New Concentrated Expectoran, absolutely no cause for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. These druggists say—"Buy a bottle of this remedy and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Croup or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just the same as we do with Schillmann's famous Asthmalin, if it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy ever used for any of these complaints." Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine, and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?

In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its effectiveness from these druggists, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you could in buying most any of our best imported, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonful, because the worth makes a whole part (128 teaspoonful) when mixed at home, with simply one part of sugar and one-half part of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. You will be the sole judge, and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. Druggists everywhere are authorized to sell it under the same guarantee as Schillmann's famous Asthmalin of "Money Back" if not perfectly satisfactory. R. J. Schillmann, Proprietor, Saint Paul, Minn.
