Cherryville, N. C.
OPENING HIS EYES.

He Had Tried to Play the "Distinguished Christian Gentleman" and Had Been Worthless in the Kingdom.

A certain young minister, serving his first charge, was hard pressed to find teachers enough for the Sabbath school. So he went over the list of church members until he came to the name of Judge Andrews, who, he had been told, was considered the most learned lawyer in the State.

After some days of timid self-questioning, the minister took courage to call upon the judge.

"I have come to see you," he said, "about a class of boys in the Sabbath school. They have recently lost their teacher, and I wish you would take them."

"What! I take a class of boys in the Sabbath school?"
"Yes, sir. You could hold the boys. They all respect you greatly. You have no idea what a hero you are to them."

"But—but I teach a class of boys? No, no, I could not. It's a very busy term in court."
"But it's the busy people judge, who do the best work, and we need a splendid teacher for that class.
Won't you try it?"

"Couldn't I think of it, No, no, I couldn't possibly."
And the judge closed the interview rather abruptly.

But Sabbath morning the minister was surprised to receive a call from Judge Andrews. He began with strange hesitation: "I have called to say that I would try that class. I thought it all out after you left. It was sheer pride that made me refuse. I thought I was too great a man to teach a class of boys I tell you, sir, I am a hypocrite. I have tried to play the 'distinguished Christian gentleman,' and I have been worthless in the Kingdom. Put me to work. I do not know how to teach boys; I am too ignorant. But I mean to learn."

At the close of the first year in the Sabbath school Judge Andrews said to the minister: "Teaching that class has been the greatest thing that ever happened to me. I never had any definition of service before. I shall never cease to thank God for opening my eyes to see myself as I really was."
How do you feel about it?
—Adult Bible Class Monthly.

HOW DID HE DO IT.

A politician who was seeking the votes of a certain community in Ohio, to the end that he might be sent to Congress, thought it worth while to make mention of his humble origin and early struggles.

"I got a start in life by serving in a grocery store at $3 a week, and yet I have managed to save,"
he announced.

Whereupon a voice from the audience queried:

"Was that before invention of cash registers?"—Philadelphia Examiner.

PLAYING SAFE.

"You seem to be rather busy."
"Yes. I'm writing a love letter.
I've been working on it for more than an hour."

"Why take such pains?"
"I want to feel sure that if this letter is ever read in court it won't make me look like a fool."

ANGEL AT THE GATE.

In a vision of the sunset, in its glorious golden tide, Once I saw a wall of jasper; saw the gates were open wide,
And my soul rejoiced with singing, for o'er earthly bolts and bars Sped my spirit's lonely yearning to the welcome of the stars,
And I saw the long procession winding home o'er hill and plain;
They, the loved, the lost, the loving, welcoming their own again, Heard the music and the feasting when our Father's house is filled;
When the Master heads the table and the fatted calf is killed,
Then I clasped the Book of Promise to my heart as treasure rare, Well I knew the gems within it, yet I traced again with care, Yes, the gates are always open, and set on every side;
Open eastward, northward, southward, to the westward, welcome wide,
But He knows the way is weary, and His friends are faint to fear;
So He set the fairest angels at each pearly gateway near,
Just to welcome you, beloved, take this word where'er you roam,
Just to welcome in His loved ones, as we, one by one come home.

REASSURANCE.

Pulse of My Heart, consider love like ours!
Faced by it—see, ill-fortune shrinks and cowers, Then flees dismayed, a lesser love to slay
By cruel attacks that drain its strength away, Kingdoms may totter, planets crash and fall—
True love survives, and triumphs over all.

Time cannot steal the magic from Love's kiss—Envy, nor disbelief, disturb Love's bliss; Life's thorny byways wring from Love no moan, Just so he does not tread the path alone!
Love can bear hunger—Love can go unshod;
There is no stronger thing than Love, save God.

Space will not serve to hold us, dear, apart,
My soul shall cleave to thine, where'er thou art.
In pleasant places, on the perfumed air Hear thou Love's message—I have placed it there!
Or in a moment tense with doubt and pain,
Wait for Love's whisper—it will come again!

If Death should one day claim me for his own,
Shed thou no tears; but, when we are alone,
Do then but press thy lips O Love, to mine—
And though my soul hath tasted Life Divine, Thy dear caress shall stir my pulse anew—
I will come back—I will come back to you!

THE SOUTH.

THE SOUTH is a land that has known sorrows; it is a land that has broken the ashen crust and moistened it with tears; a land scarred and riven by the plowshare of war and billowed with the graves of her dead; but a land of legend, a land of song, a land of hallowed and heroic memories.

To that land every drop of my blood, every fiber of my being, every pulsation of my heart, is consecrated forever. I was born of her womb; I was nurtured at her breast, and when my last hour shall come, I pray God that I may be pillowed upon her bosom and rocked to sleep within her tender and encircling arms.—The late Senator E. W. Carmack, of Tennessee.

When it comes to shovelling snow a man always tries to follow the straight and narrow path.

for trouble are never satisfied when they find it.

Lexington, N. C.
HEARD AT THE CLUB.

"See that chap sitting over by the bay window?"

"Yes, I've been noticing him.
Looks pretty disconsolate, doesn't he?"

"Always does! That's Blinks, one of our wealthy members. A couple of years ago he met a very pretty, vivacious young woman, fond of a constant good time, and fell in love with her. She received his attentions with encouragement and they became engaged—"

"And then I suppose she jilted him—and that's the cause of his constant appearance of dejection?"
"No—he married her."

AN OBSTACLE.

Dinah Snow was a colored cook in the home of the Smiths. One morning on going to the kitchen, Mrs. Smith observed that Dinah looked as if she had been tangled up with a road roller.

"Why, Dinah," exclaimed she,
"what in the world has happened to you?"
"Was me husband," explained Dinah. "He done went an' beat me ag'in, an' jes' fo' nothin', too!"

"Again!" cried Mrs. Smith, with increasing wonder. "Is he in the habit of beating you? Why don't you have him arrested?"

"Been thinkin' ob it several times, missy," but I hain't nebah had no money to pay his fine."—Atlanta Journal.

FATHER'S FIRST THOUGHT.

Mother—I'm afraid our daughter has lost her head completely over that young man.
Father—Then of course she won't need that new hat you were going to get her.

It's easy for the average woman to keep a secret—going.

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP.

To Remove "Far Rent" Signs.
By E. T. TOBIAS,
President Real Estate Bureau,
Little Rock, Ark.

It is not surprising that houses which are for rent should be without tenants, because in most cases such houses are unpainted, the steps are rickety and the porches not in repair.

The number of vacant houses in any city is largely due to the negligence of the landlord himself. I recently took two ladies out, trying to find for them a desirable six or seven room house to rent. I was unable to find anything to suit them, either on my own list or on the lists of other real estate firms, and these ladies were not exacting in their wants. They were shown a few houses of the desired size, but the houses were not in good condition. It is true that some of the landlords say they are willing to make certain repairs for a good tenant, but it has been my experience after years in the business that it is best to put your house in attractive shape first and you will quickly get a tenant.

Houses that are kept repaired and painted not only rent better, but they greatly improve the looks of the city.
