Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. WANTED--A WIFE.

One Who Can Live On Husband's Income Without Complaint.

Wanted, by men in every State, county, city and village in America, a wife.

Wanted, by millions of bachelors in the United States, a wife who can live on her husband's income and not complain, who can save a penny and not be ashamed.

Wanted, a wife who aims in life is not dress, motor cars, card parties, dinners, society; who will not neglect her husband, who lives at home.

Wanted, a wife who wants children.

Wanted, a wife who knows a baseball score and a batting average; who is not bored when her husband talks business; who will not laugh at a husband's ambitions.

Wanted, a wife who will not be a dressed up doll or a household drudge; who will not limit her life to the four walls of her house; who knows the need of self-improvement, self-enlargement; who can continue to grow; who loves progress, refinement, culture.

Wanted, a wife who loves the stimulus of victory; who will not lose ambition with one defeat; who cannot be fatigued by climbing; who is willing to pay the price of success.

Wanted, a wife who can share adversity and not lose her love, who can share prosperity and not be jealous.

Wanted, a wife who does not nag, who can be a companion, an inspiration; whose love can lighten the shadows of failure; who can keep her faith even though all men fall to doubting.

Wanted, a wife who can love, love on through the years—in prosperity, in hardships, in adversity, in sorrow.

A woman who can meet these wants will find millions of men in America, ready to go down on their knees and pray God for the privilege of giving her a home and making her happy. —Milwaukee Journal

WHAT AILED SMITH

A plainly dressed man, who introduced himself as Mr. John Smith, walked into a doctor's office in a Texas town, and, having explained his symptoms, asked the doctor how long it would take to cure him. The doctor, who had treated the visitor with every possible courtesy, replied:

"You will require careful treatment under my personal supervision for about two months before you are able to resume your labors in the bank."

"Doctor, you are fooling yourself. I am not Smith the banker, but Smith, the street car driver."

"Is that so? Well, my good fellow, I don't see what you came to see me for."

AN OPERATION AVERTED

Philadelphia, Pa.—"One year ago I was very sick and I suffered with pains in my side and back until I nearly went crazy. I went to different doctors and they all said I had female trouble and would not get any relief until I would be operated on. I had suffered for four years before this time, but I kept getting worse the more medicine I took. Every month since I was a young girl I had suffered with cramps in my sides at periods and was never regular. I saw your advertisement in the newspaper and the picture of a woman who had been saved from an operation on my mind. The doctor had given me only two more days to make up my mind so I sent my husband to the drug store at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and believe me, I soon noticed a change and when I had finished the third bottle I was cured and never felt better. I grant you the privilege to publish my letter and am only too glad to let other women know of my cure."—Mrs. Thos. McDONALD, 3422 Hartwell St., Phila., Pa.

NUT BREAD

3 cups Graham flour
1 level teaspoon Royal Baking Powder
1/2 cup milk and water
1 cup sugar or corn syrup
1 cup chopped nuts (not too fine or 1 cup raisins, washed and soaked)

Mix together flour, baking powder and salt; add milk and water, sugar or corn syrup and nutmeat or raisins. Put into greased loaf pan, allow to stand 30 minutes in warm place. Bake in moderate oven 40 to 45 minutes.

THE SCOFFER.

If I had lived in Franklin's time I'm most afraid that I, Beholding him out in the rain, a kite about to fly, And noticing upon its tail the barn door's rusty key Would, with the scoffers on the street, have chorled in my glee And with a sneer upon my lips I would have said of Ben, "His belly must be full of bats. He's raving, boys, again."

I'm glad I didn't live on earth when Fulton had his dream And told his neighbors marvelous tales of what he'd do with steam, For I'm not sure I'd not have been a member of the throng That couldn't see how paddle wheel could shove a boat along. At Fulton's folly, I'd have sneered as thousands did back then And called the Clermont's architect the nuttiest of men.

Yet Franklin gave us wonders great and Fulton did the same And many "boobs" have left behind an averlasting fame, And dead are all the scoffers now and all their sneers forgot And scarce a nickel's worth of good was brought here by the lot, I shudder when I stop to think, had I been living then, I might have been a scoffer, too, and jered at Bob and Ben.

I'm afraid today to sneer at any fellow's dream, Time was I thought men could not fly or sail beneath the stream, I never call a man a boob who toils throughout the night On visions that I cannot see, because he may be right. I always think of Franklin's trick, which brought the jeers of men And to myself I say: "Who knows but here's another Ben?"

HARVEST TIME.

The scarlet leaves of the woodbine blaze And a flame at the edge of the meadow ways, Russet and gold are the fields with sheaves, And under the fall of the crisping leaves A little brown mother seeks her food, And plaintively calls to her vanished brood.

The mellow disk of the harvest moon Lightens the dusk to a silver moon. For 'tis autumn-time in the meadow ways, And over the fields is the autumn haze, And see, where the tall stalks cut the air, The gold of the corn gleams softly fair.

The lattice swings in the cool night breeze: And the twisted net of the whispering trees Has caught the moon in its spreading snare, The harvest moon, with its yellow flare, And 'tis harvest-time where we two alone Rock on the edge of the sleepy zone.

Kisses from red lips, soft and sweet; Cuddlings warm of two little feet, Clinging arms and a lisped love-word, Sweetest that ever a mother heard; Motherhood harvest! the half not told; But my heart is rich with its gathered gold!

NO FAULT OF THE CHICKENS.

Uncle Josh was comfortably lighting his pipe in the living room room one evening when Aunt Maria glanced up from her knitting.

"Josh," she remarked, "do you know that next Sunday will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of our wedding?"

"You don't say so, Maria!" responded Uncle Josh, pulling vigorously on his corncob pipe. "What about it?"

"Nothing," answered Aunt Maria, "only I thought maybe we ought to kill them two Rhode Island Red chickens."

"But, Maria," demanded Uncle Josh, "how can you blame them two Rhode Island Reds for what happened 25 years ago?"

WHY THEY CHEERED.

As the regiment was leaving and a crowd cheering, a recruit asked: "Who are all those people who are cheering?"

"They," replied the veteran, "are the people who are not going."

DIAMOND ENGLISH.

In the National league was an umpire who was a stickler for correct department on the diamond. In a game he umpired, some Boston players, sitting on their bench, began to guy the man at the bat.

In an instant the umpire was rushing toward them, calling out: "Cut out them personalities! Cut out them personalities!"

As he turned away, a high-pitched voice from the grandstand greeted him: "Cut out them grammar! Cut out them grammar!"

Mrs. Smith Recommends Chamberlain's Tablets

"I have had more or less stomach trouble for eight or ten years," writes Mrs. G. H. Smith, Brewster, N. Y. "When suffering from attacks of indigestion and heaviness after eating, one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets have always relieved me. I have also found them a pleasant laxative. These tablets tone up the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you are troubled with indigestion give them a trial, get well and stay well."

A RELIEF.

"The war is going to make many women here widows."

"Well, perhaps, some of the women will be very glad there is a way to do it legally."

WHY HUSBANDS LEAVE HOME.

Enumerated By Judge Stelk.

1. Because they marry young and have not had the proper home training.

2. Too much mother-in-law and father-in-law.

3. Because they want to sport around after marriage and do such things as going to dances nearly every day in the week and keeping late hours.

4. Because they marry without sufficient money for furniture and unexpected home expenses.

5. Because girls have no home training in workshops or department stores, refuse to do household work and are extravagant in amusement and dress.

6. Because girls are permitted to remain out late and become lax in their morals due to failure of the parents to provide chaperons.

7. Because women spend most of their time in shopping and card parties.

8. Henpecked, arguments as to who is boss in the house, refusal to show how salary has been expended.

9. Bestowing more attention on the children than husband, want of pleasant greetings and affinity.

10. Husbands discarded when children grow up and refuse to obey, mother siding with the children.

BEEN CONJURED.

"Mars John," excitedly exclaimed Aunt Tildy, as she pantingly rushed into the fire-engine house, "please, suh, phonograph to de car-cleaners' semporium an' notify Dan'l to emigrate home dirgerently, kase Jeems Henry sho' done bin conjured! Doctor Cooter done already distracted two blood-vultures from his 'pendercins, an' I left him now prezaminatin' de chille's ante-bellum fur de germans ob de neuro-plutonium, which ef he's disinfected wid de gouter 'noculate him wid the ice-goldladed quarantine—but I believes it's conjuration!"

WISHED LESS APPETITE.

Miss Edna G. Henry, social service worker, tells a story of the unusual ailment of a negro woman she once met in a local hospital. The woman, one of unusually large proportions, was seated on a frail little bench outside her ward and her face bore only too plainly the marks of evident distress.

"What's the matter?" she was asked.

"Law, Miss, the doctor didn't leave me any medicine," was the reply.

"Didn't leave you any medicine?"

"Well, yes; but I want some for my appetite."

"Isn't your appetite all right?"

"Law, yes," came the answer. "It's too good. I want some medicine to cut it down. I can't afford such an appetite with the price of food so high."—Indianapolis News.
