OTHERS IN THE FIELD.

School Superintendent Learned
That He Was Not Alone in His
Devotions to Fair One.

The Superintendent of schools in a small Indiana town recently persuaded the school board to revoke its ruling to employ only single women as teachers in the school. At the first school at which he called he tried to joke the young teachers. "Now you'll all be getting married," he laughed. Have any of you been getting any proposals since the ruling was passed? Accidentally his eyes happened to meet those of the young teacher in whom every one knew he was interested. She thought the question was addressed to her and blushing answered, "Just three others besides yours."

MORE VALUABLE THAN GOLD.

A good disposition is more valuable than gold; for the latter is the gift of fortune, but the former is the dower of nature.

WEAK, NERVOUS, ALL RUN-DOWN

Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Result
Was Surprising."—Got Along
Fine, Became Normal
and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. I saw after taking some Cardui that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person."

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me. My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments.

Good News For Women

Money back if first package fails to relieve.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS

WHEN I BAR THE DOORS AT NIGHT.

"Once, in the days of long ago,
Days of my whole life the best,
When the time for sleep had come,
And the house was hushed to rest,
It was such a happy thought,
Used to make my heart so light,
We were all beneath one roof
When I barred the doors at night.

"Let the wind moan as it would,
Let the rain-drops patter fast,
They were near me, nestled warm,
From the midnight and the blast,
Not one lingering out of reach,
Not one banished far aloof—
It's a woman's Heaven to have
All she loves beneath one roof.

"Now tonight the autumn wind
Through the keyhole whistles shrill;
It must roar amongst the firs
In that graveyard on the hill.
Dying leaves are whirled aloft,
Swaying branches knock the pane,
In the pauses of the wind
Listen! Oh, the rain, the rain!

"Now, when bed-time comes at length
To me, sitting here alone,
And the ticking of the clock
Tells how still the house has grown,
Oh, how heavy is the heart
That was once so light of yore,
Now—I seem to bar them out
When at night I bar the door.

"But our Father surely needs
All His dear ones near Him still;
Are we not at home with Him,
In the house or on the hill?
So I fill my empty heart
With the thought that far above,
Over them as over me,
Spreads one roof of Heavenly Love.

"So I can go up to bed,
Pass the door where once I heard
Gentle breathing, as I crept
Softly by, without a word;
Though the house is silent now,
Though they wish me no good-night—
We are still beneath one roof—
When I bar the doors at night."

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

After The Honey Moon.

Gone are the good old days when John and Mary went bravely to the altar and pledged their troth in the face of the fact that their sole capital consisted of a few silver dollars, two strong bodies, four willing hands and two hearts that beat as one.

In the little hut by the side of the road were a rude table, two chairs, a stove, a bed and a few stone china dishes.

That was all, except the abounding joy of their young hearts, which made the hut a palace and John and Mary king and queen of their sacred domain.

They expect to share each other's burdens, and they did. They expected hardships, and they had them. They expected joy, and they found it. They expected success, and it came.

And with success came a looking back to the old days of mutual toil and sacrifice as the happiest days of their lives.

Now all this is changed. John must have a car and Mary must wear a 13.8 carat solitaire. The hut by the side of the road must be a modern bungalow with rugs, china and up-to-date period furniture.

Then, too, the strain of keeping up with the procession often robs life of its simple joys. Mary's demands irritate John. John's inability to meet them irritates Mary. Clashes become more and more frequent until by and by their love dream becomes a painful tragedy.

In this complex age it would be difficult to go back to the old ways of simplicity and honest content. But an emulation of the spirit of simplicity that characterized the old days would work wonders toward restoring life to a more normal plane.—Seattle Star.

OH, COME, COME.

There had been a quarrel over the back yard fence.

"You're no lady!" screamed one participant.

"Say," shrieked back the other; "if it wasn't that I was a lady maybe I'd be able to tell you the kind of a lady you ain't."

FAVORITISM.

A Jewish soldier was taken to a hospital. The diagnosis showed him to be suffering from a bad case of influenza.

"Send for the priest," Isidor moaned.

"The priest?" queried the doctor. "You mean the rabbi, don't you?"

"No!" yelled Isidor. "Do you think I should want to give the flu to the rabbi?"

PRAYERS IN STOCK.

Auntie was putting Amy to bed, and she was just about to fall asleep.

"Don't forget to say your prayers, first," gently reminded auntie.

"It's all right, auntie," drowsily replied Amy. "I often skip a night and say two prayers next time instead when I aren't so awfully sleepy."

C. O. D.

An old darkey visited a doctor and received instructions as to what he should do. Shaking his head, he was about to leave the office, when the doctor called out:

Hey, there, uncle, you forgot to pay me.

Pay you fo' what?
For my advice.
Nossuh, boss. I've complimented it from all angles and decided not to take it.

HORRIBLE.

Are the snakes around here very venomous? asked the timid tourist.

Venomously exclaimed Gila Bill, why, say, partner, only the other day a sidewinder bit Misquite Thompson in his wooden leg and it swelled so hard and so fast that if we hadn't got him to a saw mill right away he'd have turned into a petrified forest.

THE BETTER PART OF VALOR.

He: "Can you do all the new dances?"
The Debutante: "Not to-night, Fred, Mamma is here."
