DON'T WORRY.

The following bulletin against worry has been issued by the Public Health Service of the United States with a view to the elimination of certain causes of nervous diseases: "So far as known, no bird ever tried to build more nests than its neighbor; no fox ever fretted because he had only one hole in which to hide; no squirrel ever died of anxiety lest he should not lay by enough nuts for two winters instead of for one, and no dog ever lost any sleep over the fact that he did not have enough bones laid aside for his declining years."

SOMETHING SOOTHING.

Waiter! called the customer in a restaurant where an orchestra was playing.

Yes, sir.

Kindly tell the leader of the orchestra to play something sad and low while I dine. I want to see if it will have a softening influence on steak.

OH, THOSE HUSBANDS.

Wife—I won't stand your staying out so late nights.

Hub—Really, my dear, you are reasonable. You know very well I acquired the habit while courting you.

A LEOPARD CANNOT CHANGE ITS SPOTS

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Tells the Treachery of Calomel.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quick-silver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not savorate.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

A CROWN OF WILD ROSES.

BY JOHN JORDAN DOUGLASS.

A crown of wild roses for thy brow—
O Princess of golden dreams,
No costlier gift will love allow;
'Twas plucked by the crystal streams.

For thy face is as red as the new pressed wine,
And thy lips a rosebud rare;
With a ripple of brooks in thy eyes divine:
A glint of gold in thy hair.

A crown of roses a-glitter with dew;
(Ah, I see thee smile with teeth of pearl)
For a lovelier crown a queen ne'er knew,
My bonny, blue-eyed girl.

Mayhap I could bring thee gifts from the sea,
And the jewels of many a mine;
But naught could out-er my love for thee
Like roses fresh from the vine.

Within them the gold of the sunlight gleams.
And the silver of April rain.
Their petals palace a princess' dreams;
But they vie with thy beauty in vain.

For thy eyes are the blue of the arching sky,
The rose of dawn is thy face;
The swan that swims on the lake nearby
Hath naught to rival thy grace.

A crown of wild roses modest and sweet,
With the breath of the woodland so wild:
Where the brown doe hastens with velvet feet
And a man hath the heart of a child.

Though wealth could wreath thee a garland of gold,
Thou art tired of it long ago.
For love with such bubbles e'er groweth cold
Like a violet covered with snow.

So thus I would crown thee, my queen of the May,
As it were in the olden time;
Whilst Pan with his music pipes sorrow away,
And the rivulets ripple a rhyme.

And we'll dance like dryads neath murmuring trees,
As the South Wind croons so low,
And the West Wind touches the magic keys
Whence Love's soft zephyrs flow.

O Queen of the roses, I bow to the crown;
The woodland is bending, too;
For Queen Guinevere of the ancient renown
Was never so bonny and true.

The violets are smiling, the daisies are glad;
The buttercups hold thee a draught of the dawn;
I drink to thy beauty with eyes of a lad,
Ere the vision of youth is gone.

And then we will hasten down to the sea,
Where the angel of dawn with a shell
Sounds the morn of melody
Like a far-toned silver bell.

Where sea builds castles of sand and foam,
And the gray gulls whirl and dip;
And beside it there we'll make our home,
Till we beckon the golden ship:

The ship with billowing purple sail,
With roses climbing the mast,
With jeweled prow abreast of the gale,
Her decks with pearls o'er-cast.

For that is the ship for a rose-crowned queen;
It sails for the Isles of Rest.
Where ever the woodland's tender green,
Far out from the golden west.

And humming-birds drink the wine of the rose
While the dolphins pilot the way;
The lotus scents every zephyr that blows—
Ah, me, I was dreaming—'tis day!

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA FIFTY-FIFTY.

"Hear you've cut out gambling here," said the traveler to Arizona Pete. "Reform wave hit you too?"

"Sort of, but mostly because everybody's plumb disgusted with the cheatin' that's been going on," returned Pete. "While ago a slick Easterner comes down here with a crooked deck and cleans everybody up. That disgusts all the natives. Then the Easterner discovers he ain't won nothing except counterfeit money. That disgusts him. So we decided to reform."

Why Suffer?

Cardui "Did Wonders for Me," Declares This Lady.

"I suffered for a long time with womanly weakness," says Mrs. J. R. Simpson, of 57 Spruce St., Asheville, N. C. "I finally got to the place where it was an effort for me to go. I would have bearing-down pains in my side and back—especially severe across my back, and down in my side there was a great deal of soreness. I was nervous and easily upset."
